LOCAL DISTRICT SHOWS TAX GAIN

Los Angeles One of Ten Areas in Revenue Increase

Federal Returns for Entire United States Drop

Figures Prove Good Business Status of Southland

While every internal revenue district in the United States showed, with the exception of the Los Angeles and the Florida districts, substantial losses of from 35 to 17 per cent in revenue receipts for the last fiscal year, as compared with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, the two districts excepted gained 11 per cent and 1 per cent respectively. The 1924 fiscal year was the first in which the internal revenue collections reached the highest point in the history of the Treasury Department. Comparative figures for the two years are disclosed in a resume of the annual report of the Internal Revenue Bureau made public through the office of the Revenue Collector.

The decrease in collections for the United States as a whole, comparing 1924 and 1923, amounted to $3,611,401,000, or 43 per cent. The gain in the Los Angeles district was $5,640,000, and in the Florida district, $196,000. Losses in some of the larger districts were as follows, the report showing: New York, $748,000,000; Pennsylvania, $257,000,000; Illinois, $313,000,000; Massachusetts $313,000,000; $218,000,000; Connecticut, $90,000; Texas, $43,000,000; San Francisco, $55,000,000.

Percentages of gains and losses in the various districts, shown as follows, are vivid proof of the healthy business conditions which have kept Los Angeles classed as a white spot on the industrial map of the United States. Director Goodcell pointed out:

| PER CENT GAIN | | PER CENT LOSS | |
| Los Angeles district | 11 | New York | 43 |
| Florida | 1 | Hawaii | 1 |
| | | Idaho | 1 |
| | | Illinois | 30 |
| New Mexico | 17 | Wyoming | 31 |
| South Dakota | 16 | Vermont | 32 |

| Connecticut | 15 | Delaware | 33 |
| Texas | 15 | Arkansas | 34 |
| Oregon | 14 | Oklahoma | 34 |

| Washington | 11 | Michigan | 39 |
| Rhode Island | 11 | North Carolina | 39 |
| Missouri | 10 | U. S. as a district | 43 |

The gain in the Los Angeles district was made despite a loss of $15,000,000, due to the tax reductions allowed by the 1924 Revenue Act, the collector explained.

FAR AHEAD IN AVIATION

Action Leads Say Navy Chiefs

Navy's Air Forces Best in All Other Respects House Body Hears

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—In equipment, both superior and general efficiency distinguishes the American service as compared with those of other countries, Secretary Wilbur and Rear-Admiral Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the special House air-investigating committee, told the committee today.

"But we are not behind," the admiral testified, "as far as the navy is concerned, the condition is good except that we need more planes. I believe that no other country has anything better than we have."

Admiral Moffett was of the same opinion, saying "nobody is ahead of us in fact, we are leading."

"We are so far ahead of anybody else in naval aviation," he declared, "that it will take them a long time to catch up."

PLANES GROW OBSOLETE

Although constantly existed, Admiral Moffett said, despite that only 224 of the 800 planes of all kinds belonging to the navy would be regarded as satisfactory operating in war conditions. Most of the planes were built during the last three years and already are going to be obsolescent, he told the committee, because new types being designed are the superior ones in the world.

Secretary Wilbur and Admiral Moffett disagreed with suggestions that the next war will be fought entirely in the air, asserting that the necessity for landing fields and relatively limited range of planes will always subordinate the importance to floating bases.

ADMIRAL'S NEW ARM

Secretary Wilbur said that apart from their scouting activities, which are a "drifting" addition to the navy, Admiral Moffett declared that he is merely a new arm and will not displace any of the others. Both also opposed the

SHAW TALKS MORE WAR

Imperialistic Policies Are Leading Powers into Conflict, He Says

Predicts United States and Canada United; Fears Clash With France

This is the last of a series of discussions of world imperialism, England's policy in Egypt, the imminence of new wars and allied subjects, from a Fabian Society lecture delivered at Kingsway Hall, London, by George Bernard Shaw.

Having got the Sudan, we have got the Nile, and the space inclosed where its splits into two rivers, the Blue Nile and the White Nile, is called the Gezira. We have made the discovery—we common people never having heard of it before—that there is a great cotton industry going to grow up in that particular place. We have learned that the Egyptians were very anxious about this, because they said, "If you take water enough out of the Nile there to irrigate the Gezira and grow unlimited cotton, we shall be left high and dry and Egypt will perish." They had apparently got us to the point of saying that we would only take enough water to irrigate 300,000 feddans. How much a feddan is I don't know; it sounds a very nice name. At any rate, there was a definite limit: there was an arrangement made between the two nations which limited the use of the Nile. Just as we have said: "The condominium be damned!" we have now said: "300,000 feddans be damned! We will take as much water as we like." And so we are back right at brute force again.

I do not know how far the Blue Nile and the White Nile go but there might come a time when we can see no outcome except war. If we take unlimited water from the Nile, and if the result practically is that Egypt is perishing she will have to make the most desperate efforts, if she is not strong enough to fight us single-handed, to make an alliance and get a combination strong enough to fight. It may possibly be that there are some of the powers who are very much alarmed, as they all confessedly are, by this move we have just made. Just read the French papers and the German papers, and even read the English papers and note in even the conservative papers the rather shaky tone

COOLIDGE'S INAUGURAL PLANS LAID

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22. — Official phases of the inauguration of President Coolidge next March 4 as tentatively agreed upon at a conference today between Mr. Coolidge and the Congressional Inaugural Committee provide for the ceremonies at the Capitol similar to those that attended the induction into office of President Harding.

The ceremonies, like those of four years ago, will be open to the public without restriction. The only stand to be erected on the east plaza at the Capitol, where the ceremonies are to be held, will be a platform from which the inaugural address will be delivered after administration of the oath of office.

The development of the radio will be recognized and arrangements will be made for broadcasting the ceremonies if possible over the entire area of the nation.

Members of the Congressional committee, which has charge only of the official ceremonies, said the expense would amount to not more than $35,000. Mr. Coolidge has not expressed himself definitely regarding the unofficial features that usually attend on inauguration such as the parade and ball.

SOUTHLAND TO MISS DELUGE

Showers to Continue Today, But Disturbance Which Swept North Has Spent its Force

Rain began falling here yesterday afternoon and Weather Bureau officials declared last night that showers will continue today. It was stated, however, that there was no indication that Los Angeles and Southern California will receive any such deluge as visited San Francisco Sunday. The storm, which swept Northern California, lost its force before reaching the southern end of the State, according to Col. Hersey in charge of the Weather Bureau here.

A measurement taken last night showed that yesterday's contribution totaled .07 of an inch of rain up to 9 p.m. This brought the seasonal total to 2.89 inches, as against .76 of an inch up to this date last year.

The rain here began at 12:20 p.m. with a very faint precipitation which increased as the afternoon wore on and ceased late last night.

BELOW NORMAL

The total seasonal rainfall is still well below the normal, however, according to the bureau's records, which is 4.13 inches.

A light rain commenced falling at Santa Barbara yesterday morning and showers continued at intervals throughout the day. Oxnard also received its share of moisture and a drizzle continued there until late last night.

While there was a rise in the minimum temperature since Saturday at Porterville, gentle rains totaled .15 of an inch there up to last night. Fog and drizzle indicated a continuation of the wet weather for today.

RAIN IN ANAHEIM

Anaheim had .12 of an inch of rain up to last night, while Inglegood received .09 of an inch.

From Riverside came reports that rain was general over the western end of Riverside county last night. The precipitation began at Riverside late yesterday.

In none of the reports received from other California cities, even those in the north, did the storm cause downpours as was the case in San Francisco.

Threatening rain clouds hovered over Bakersfield all day yesterday, according to reports received, but

SOVIETS PREPARE FOR WAR

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 22.—The Red army is hurriedly being made ready for some big effort in the near future.

The soviet government bought 15,000 tons of flour in New York Saturday through Constantinople agents for immediate delivery to the Red army and it is negotiating for 200,000 tons more for immediate delivery. It is buying gold and silver in London and New York to pay the Red army and is hastily taking many other measures to put the army in a good mood as well as good fighting condition.

Some foreign military observers believe the soviets fear widespread disorders this winter and others expect that the Red army will be flung into the Balkans this spring in a final fight for Bolshevism.

The great famine in Russia, the quarrel between Leon Trotzky and the big three, the widespread revolt of the peasants, the collapse of industry, the vast unemployment, and the new invisible blockade by Europe is rocking the soviet regime to its foundation. The Communist Internationale and the soviet government are continually intensifying their revolutionary propaganda in Austria, Bulgaria and Jugo-Slavia and there are many other indications that the soviet chiefs are thinking of hurling the Red army into Bessarabia and the Balkans in several months with the double objective of setting up a soviet republic there and distracting attention in Russia from the failure of Communism.

The revolution in Albania which was financed by Communist Internationale agents in Greece was to have been part of the Balkan invasion plan.

FRANCE WILL PAY DEBT

Jusserand Seeks Moratorium

Ambassador Reveals Tenor of Refund Parley With Secretary Mellon

American Participation in Reparation Payments is Still at Issue

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—France will pay its $4,000,000,000 war debt to the United States, Jules Jusserand, the retiring French Ambassador, asserted today, breaking his silence for the first time since the debt-funding conversations with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. He was addressing a current events study class of women.

The Ambassador revealed the two major proposals he made to Mr. Mellon: that France be accorded more favorable terms than other debtors and that a moratorium be granted. Great Britain has become greatly excited over the move made by France to pay the United States without, at the same time, offering to pay England, and over the French suggestion of easier terms than the United States accorded England. The British attitude is widely believed to have furnished an embarrassing obstacle for the time being at least, to a settlement with France.

GIVES REASONS

In setting forth his reasons for asking more favorable terms for France than were given Great Britain and other debtors, Ambassador Jusserand said:

"France suffered the gravest loss in life. Our relative national wealth considered, we suffered the heaviest loss in fortune. And finally, France was the battlefield."

"What we need," the Ambassador continued, "is a certain moratorium—a breathing time. That is why I have had some talks here with the Secretary of the Treasury. Various versions of those talks have gained currency. Sometimes they have been called conversations, and sometimes negotiations. But the upshot of it all is that we mean to pay. We have always paid. We are one of the nations that mean to settle with you. We want to pay. We paid our enemies after 1871. The more we are determined to pay our friends.

SEEKS MORATORIUM

"I am confident our particular conditions will be taken into account. We are not hoping for a different settlement, but rather for equitable terms. It is simply fair terms that we seek—fair in sense of terms that take our situation into consideration. A moratorium is one of the things that we need, which the others do not need. We supplied more blood to the common cause than any one. We supplied more money than any other nation, based on our national wealth. We supplied the battlefields. If the war had taken place in the United States, over an area stretching from South Carolina to Maine, or in England, over a territory reaching from Dover to York, France would have paid her debts already."

As time passes it becomes increasingly evident that the war claims dispute between the United States and Great Britain over the question of American participation in the proceeds of the Dawes reparation plan will not be settled by an exchange of diplomatic notes, but will be one of the main points discussed when the Finance Ministers confer in Paris next month.

There is no doubt as to America's intention to attend this conference. Dispatches from London quoting Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Minister as stating that it is his understanding that the United States will not attend this conference unless her right to share in the proceeds of the Dawes award is recognized by all the Allied powers including Great Britain were declared to be without foundation by State Department officials today.

UNITED STATES FIRM

It is the understanding here that the United States has not the slightest idea of waiving the amount of the war claims adjudicated by the mixed-claims commission and will attend the conference at Paris regardless of what action Great Britain takes in the meantime.

State Department officials feel that we had as much right to make a treaty with Germany as the Allies had and that the mere fact we did not ratify the Versailles Treaty does not, as Great Britain argues, nullify our right to collect from Germany under the Dawes plan. In this connection Great Britain is asked in our recent note if she had objected to the Versailles Treaty would she have tolerated the idea that France, and the other signatories of the treaty should take all the proceeds and leave Great Britain out in the cold.

BERLIN ASKS LEAGUE PLACE WITH NEUTRALITY RIGHT

Avers Lack of Armaments Would Bar Her From Taking Part in Military Sanctions

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Dec. 22.—Opening up the whole problem of German armaments, Germany has sent a note to the League of Nations touching the question of Germany's joining the League. In the note, the Berlin government declares its view that if international conflicts arise, Germany should remain absolutely free under the League Covenant to determine how far she would take an active part in such conflicts.

The text of the note, which is published by the League secretariat tonight, shows that Germany desires an exceptional position as a member of the League because of her lack of armed strength, though she denies any intention of asking for special privileges. Germany maintains that if she should be obliged to participate in all of the League military sanctions, she would be compelled to waive her right to neutrality—the "last defense of a disarmed people." The reaction in League circles to the German note, which the Berlin government also transmitted to all the governments represented in the Council, is that it will be certain to necessitate lengthy negotiations with the powers and presumably delay the date when Germany will formally apply for admission to the League, if ever. It inevitably links the League question with the general problem of inter-Allied control and future investigations of German armaments, which may be carried on by the League, the nature of which the Council now is endeavoring to define.

STRESEMANN NOTE

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the Foreign Minister, himself penned the note given out tonight which forms the second chapter of the negotiations inaugurated when Germany dispatched her first communications on the same subject direct to all the powers having seats in the Council.

Dr. Stresemann began by saying that the German government is of the opinion that political developments during the last year have rendered it possible for Germany to join the League. He then gave an outline of the first note to the powers and explained that its object was to ascertain the attitude of the powers with regard to Germany's becoming a member of the League Council and also with reference to Germany's participations in sanctions provided for by Article XVI of the Covenant.

The Foreign Minister remarked that the replies received justified the conclusion that Germany's wish to have a seat in the Council was being favorably considered, but that the replies concerning the operation of Article 16 of the covenant had not yet led to a satisfactory conclusion. Germany was desirous of finding a way out of the difficulty in which, on account of her peculiar territorial situation she might become involved by the application of this article.

POSITION OUTLINED

Dr. Stresemann declared in the note that Germany's apprehensions seemed to be not sufficiently appreciated by the powers; hence, Germany had no other alternative than to submit the problem to the League itself in the hope that the League would arrange immediately for a discussion of the subject.

The German position is outlined in the note which says that Article 16, regulating the procedure to be adopted against a covenant-breaking state in the event of violation of peace binds the League members to economic and military measures such as in general have heretofore implied a state of war. States participating in such measures must expect to be created as belligerents by the state affected, and the success of the sanctions might be jeopardized when they were directed against countries having at their disposal "as is

MAIL PILOT IS KILLED

Dies in Jump as Plane Falls

Parachute Tears on Tail of Ship Allowing Body to Drop Like Plummet

First Death in Night Service; Wife Awaiting Aviator's Christmas Visit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 22. — Charles Gilbert, flying the night mail to Omaha through a blinding snowstorm, plunged to earth at Knoxville, Ill., last night when first his plane and then his parachute failed.

He had been nosing into the zero air for twenty minutes when his engine failed. He dipped toward the earth, apparently hoping to see one of the beacon-lit emergency fields that line the night flying route. Through the snow he couldn't see the flares at McGirr, Ill., a few miles farther on. It was jump or crash.

He jumped out into the dark, with the snow beating in his face. Then, as airmen reconstructed the story today, he pulled the release string of his parachute, failing to take the slow, cautionary count of one—two—three. The silk parachute snapped out of its wrappings before the careening plane had passed Gilbert in falling. Stabilizers on the tail caught the parachut and tore it to bits. Gilbert plunged down.

AIR MAIL GOES ON

His body and the wrecked plane were found half a mile apart in fields a little north of Kaneville, fifty miles from Chicago, this morning by searchers out all night. The plane had landed upside down a complete wreck.

It was the first fatality since night flying began on the flare-lit airplane route between Chicago and Omaha. Gilbert and his comrades in the air-mail service had piled up 1,200,000 miles of safe flying as their answer to skeptics who said the night flying would be too dangerous. The snow and the bitter cold probably are to blame for Gilbert's death last night, airmen said.

The smashed airplane was found before searchers came upon the body. It is characteristic of the morale of the air mail corps that another pilot was winging on toward Omaha with Gilbert's mail sacks a few minutes later, while rescue crews were still hunting through the near-by fields in hope of finding the lost flyer alive.

Searchers' hopes were high in that short interval. They had come upon the wrecked plane after frantic searching since early

HIGHT CASE TO JURY TODAY

Doctor Closes Defense Evidence Testifying That Pastor is Legally, Not Medically, Sane

BY ORVILLE DWYER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MT. VERNON (Ill.) Dec. 22.—Elsie Sweetin and her former pastor, Lawrence M. Hight, charged with poisoning her coal-miner husband, Wilford, and the pastor's wife, Anna, to death in midsummer love madness, late tomorrow may know their fate at the hands of the jury.

The defense closed late today with testimony showing that the former clergyman has been suffering for years from various forms of insanity, which included opinions from medical experts that he is anything from an epileptic to a mild paranoias or a moron with the intelligence of a child of 10 years.

Some rebuttal testimony and arguments of the attorneys to the jury are all that remain before the sensational case that has stirred the country intensely goes to the jury that is to return its judgment of guilt or innocence.

The principal witness today for the defense of the minister was Dr. Charles H. Anderson, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane at Anna, Ill., who has twice given the minister exhaustive mental and physical examinations and who last Friday conducted the scientific Simon Binet intellect test on Hight.

DOCTOR'S TESTS

Dr. Anderson's tests would tend to show, according to his testimony, that this former clergyman, for thirteen years in charge of a score of churches in Southern Illinois, a man with 100 souls a month saved to his credit is not a man at all, but a prattling boy of 10 years and 3 months.

If Dr. Anderson's testimony is to be believed, Prosecutor Thompson suggests that Elsie Sweetin, the comely woman, 32 years of age, who has been flirting with the jury that holds her fate, is on trial for the wrong offense. Instead of being on trial for murder the prosecutor says she should be on trial for contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

Dr. Anderson testified that he has observed approximately 10,000 insane cases during his experience, including seven years at the hospital at Anna and seven more as head of the asylum for the criminal insane at Chester.

LEGALLY SANE

"I found him suffering from many hallucinations," Dr. Anderson said under questioning by Hight's attorney. "He told me he had many visions, had seen God and the angels; had seen a dead sister and daughter, that he had heard his father's voice.

"He told me he had always stood near the throne of God and had carried out God's wishes always."

The long involved hypothetical question that enters into all insanity defenses and embraces all the testimony was put to the physician. "I hold," the alienist answered, "that Dr. Hight is legally sane, but medically insane — that is, of unsound mind, the medical term not being insanity but psychosis."

British Empire Air Routes Are Seen by Expert

BY JOHN STEELE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—A British Empire wherein every far-flung outpost will be able to be reached in twenty-four hours from London by airplane is the prophecy for twenty years hence by Commander C. D. Burney, Member of Parliament and one of the leading British aviation experts.

Commander Burney predicts that airplanes will soon attain a speed of from 500 to 600 miles per hour, and it is only a question of time before the remotest parts of the world are joined by air in what now seems an amazingly short time.

"The new airship which I am building I believe will bring India within four days of London," said Commander Burney. "This will be the start and no one who has any imagination can believe the greatest further developments will not follow. The line of technical development that is indicated is a device which will use oxygen in its fuel, thereby allowing the machine, totally inclosed, to fly at a height of 100,000 feet. If this is done we will be within sight of our goal—namely, reaching any part of the British Empire within twenty-four hours."

HOOVER PLANS SALES CENSUS

Mercantile Data to Replace Manufacturers' List

Owen D. Young to Supervise Preparatory Work

Co-operation of Distributing Trade is Needed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover will discuss soon with Owen D. Young a plan for inaugurating a mercantile census to supplement the census of manufactures. Mr. Young is the chairman of a committee which will be appointed by the Secretary of Commerce to carry forward the preparatory work. Although the proposal is not new it is still in a tentative form awaiting an opportunity for its serious consideration.

Mr. Young is ready to undertake the proposition whenever Secretary Hoover calls on him to come to Washington. That call is expected in the course of a few weeks. The personnel of the committee then will be selected and will probably include Dean Edwin F. Gay of Harvard University, who has devoted considerable attention to the matter, and F. M. Feiker, a former administrative assistant of Secretary Hoover, who has been an advocate of the plan.

EDUCATE DISTRIBUTORS

Educating the distributing trades—jobbers, wholesalers and retailers—in the value of a census of distribution is regarded as the most important consideration preliminary to actual inauguration of the census as, without their cooperation, it is believed that such a census would be of doubtful value and perhaps an impossible task.

The broad economic advantage to be derived from mercantile census lies in the fact that it will constitute a medium for increasing the stability of business, by checking production against distribution and consumption, it is stated. Business never has had an opportunity to gear one to the other in this fashion with any confidence in the accuracy or the representative character of the statistics available, according to the advocates of the mercantile census.

SALES TERRITORIES

Another advantageous feature of the census will be the disclosure of the distribution and relative density of demand for a multitude of products in the several sections of the country. This will permit proper assignment and spacing of sales territories and the division of sales quotas based on definite knowledge of the demand for the commodity in which the manufacturer or dealer may be interested and the geographical arrangement of the demand.

The census also will provide an accurate enumeration of wholesale dealers and retail stores in the different classes of commodities. To date such information in planning sales quotas and estimating sales poise has been lacking. In a word, the mercantile census may be described as providing the key to the purchasing power of the population.

The movement to supply the void of statistics of distribution is of such great magnitude that it cannot readily be visualized and cannot be carried into operation in a few weeks or even a few months.

PREFERENCE PLAN AT END ON ATLANTIC

Steamship Operators' Decision Blow to Actors and Society Folk

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Leading trans-Atlantic passenger line operators today abolished the preference system whereby socially or professionally prominent people have been able to ride the ocean in first-class accommodations upon payment of steerage rates of fares.

The action was taken by the trans-Atlantic passenger conference, representing the United States Line, the Union American, North German-Lloyd, Cunard, White Star and French Lines.

Officials said that "preference" passengers had come to comprise upward of 50 per cent of all first-class traffic; that abolition of preferences would save the steamship operators hundreds of thousands of dollars each year; and that actors and society folk, who almost invariably rode "preference" because of their publicity value to the lines, would be hardest hit by the new regime.

"It has come to pass that a ship with first-class accommodations for 300 persons had carried from 100 to 135 of this number on third-class fares," explained an official. "The new order means that everyone will pay for the accommodations he or she gets, and there will be no favorites."

World Flight Leader on Way Here in Upper

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—Lieut. Lowell Smith owns keys to most of the world's great cities. They were given him when he flew around the world. He is free to the best most cities have to offer, but last night and the night before the best was a Pullman upper berth.

Sunday night Lieut. Smith wanted to go from Chicago to Los Angeles on the California Limited of the Santa Fe Railroad. The only berth available was an upper. He told his troubles to John Quincy Adams, depot passenger agent.

Adams couldn't find a spare lower, but he did find the limited conductor, Andrew Miller. Miller promised the first lower vacated. But Lieut. Smith rode forth in an upper.

RONDOUT MAIL ROBBER EN ROUTE TO PRISON

LAST MEMBER OF BAND ON WAY TO JOIN SEVEN PALS IN LEAVENWORTH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—Herbert Holliday, sentenced to serve a twenty-five-year term in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., for his share in the Rondout (Ill.) train hold-up of last June, was started for the prison tonight in company with eighteen other offenders sentenced to various terms for counterfeiting, mail thefts and narcotic-law violations. The prisoners traveled in a special car guarded by a dozen deputy United States marshals.

Holliday is the last of the eight men to go to prison for the $2,000,000 mail robbery. He pleaded guilty and when sentenced was reported to have offered to reveal the hiding place of about $100,000 of the plunder if his sentence was reduced. Among those now serving prison sentences for the robbery are William J. Fahy, former postal inspector.

Love

But there is no prejudice against love—the essence of religion.

Love unites men of all faiths and creeds in one group working happily together to help each other, their neighbors, and business in general.

Love banishes fear, suspicion and hatred. It is permeating business. It will eventually weld the human race into one harmonious whole.

Love is what we celebrate on Christmas day and seek to carry on throughout the year.

NEEDS OF RADIO TOLD BY HOOVER

Secretary Asserts Industry Cannot Live on Jazz

Program Improvement is an Urgent Requirement

Idea of Licensing or Taxing Listeners-in Scouted

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—"The radio industry can't live on an endless diet of jazz," Secretary of Commerce Hoover said today in the course of an interview on the future of wireless communication which he is supervising to the extent that national supervision exists at this time.

Improvement of the broadcast programs Mr. Hoover deems more important right now than further regulation until it becomes possible to say what form of regulation is needed. The British licensing system, to cite one regulatory suggestion, would never be tolerated in this country, the Secretary thinks.

"This country would never stand for licensing or taxing radio listeners," Mr. Hoover emphasized. "That idea only works when one company has a monopoly and all the revenue so derived goes into one pool, and we don't like monopoly. And then how are you going to keep the unlicensed folk from listening in? Are you going to have a police force snooping around for illicit aerials and searching people's homes?

"People go into theaters and pay admission and that solves the problem right there for the stage or concert hall, but it is obvious that there is no such way of getting the radio audience to pay for what it gets. So you've got to approach that some other way, leaving out the license-tax scheme.

ONE SUGGESTION

"I've heard only one very reasonable suggestion. That is to fix a certain tax, say 3 per cent for instance—on the sale of radio equipment. One company reports sales running over $32,000,000 in 1923, and that they will be a good deal higher for this year. You could provide enough that way to pay for daily programs of the best skill and talent throughout the year.

"It would perhaps be possible to work it by setting up a general committee which would be charged with the duty of arranging these programs, paying for the services of artists out of this fund. But, of course, as soon as you do that you are likely to get into conflict over what sort of programs to put out. One thing is certain—that radio industry can't live on an endless diet of jazz.

"Radio is becoming more important in the life of the country every day. It is already one of the necessary adjuncts. Right now I think the most important thing is improvement of what is put on the air. It isn't so much a question of growth, in other words, because that takes care of itself as long as the material put out is really worth while. That is the most vital thing of all."

FUNDAMENTAL SERVICE

As Mr. Hoover expresses it, radio must render "fundamental service," and by that he means it must go beyond the ability of local broadcasting directors in scaring up talent for entertainment purposes and must furnish with fixed regularity, day by day, material of national interest and importance in music, religion and public affairs.

"Material available locally is not enough to insure continuing interest," he continued. "It must be subordinated to the transmission of nationally and internationally important material of all kinds. The local broadcasting station must, in other words, make available to the audience the greatest music, entertainment and enlightenment which the nation and the world affords.

"This means organization of a system of national broadcasting, the interconnections of stations, rebroadcasting by one method or another. That this is possible has already been proven. The next step is to make it a daily reality and that step is the one I hope to see taken at the earliest moment possible. Great problems are involved here, but they can be and will be met and overcome, with the same amazing rapidity that has marked the magical growth of the radio art."

proposal for a unified air service, expressing the opinion that naval aircraft should be controlled only by persons thoroughly conversant with naval conditions, and problems.

Talk of the possibility of an invasion of the United States in case of war by means of aircraft alone was described by the admiral as foolish. Such an invasion, he said, could be made only by use of floating bases, such as airplane carriers, or permanent bases on the American continent. The recent world flight, he explained, disclosed that aviation, as an independent force, could not at present act across an ocean.

The committee decided after today's hearing to recess for the Christmas holiday until the 29th inst.

Seeks League Place With Special Right

Note Says Nation Could Not Defend Borders

Germany Compared to France in Veiled Manner

still the case," an unlimited and powerful war equipment.

It is argued by Dr. Stresemann that nearly all the League members run a certain risk. He insists, however, that the risk becomes unbearable in the case of a country like Germany, "which is centrally located and completely disarmed." He then draws a comparison between the German military situation and those of her neighbors, including France, although he does not specifically designate that country.

Germany, with more than 60,000,000 inhabitants and a frontier of nearly 3500 miles and an extensive coast line, he points out, has an army of only 100,000 effectives, all told. He pictures Germany as a country where universal compulsory military service has been abolished, with no reserves in training, and maintains that, quite apart from their numerical inferiority, the German troops cannot in any way be compared with the armies of other countries because they possess no heavy artillery, no aircraft and no tanks. The fortresses on the western front have been razed and the few fortresses elsewhere he considers wholly antiquated.

LACK MUNITIONS

In the west, Stresemann says, more than 20,000 square miles of German territory has been demilitarized, though solely to the advantage of Germany's neighbors. There are no State munition factories and the capacity of the existing factories—"the number and special nature of which have been accurately determined" — merely suffices to satisfy current peacetime demands.

"The strength of the navy," continues the note, "is far below the armament limits fixed in the Washington agreement of February 6, 1922. On the other hand, apart from their navies, the armament possibilities of other European nations are entirely ultimated and their output of modern war material is subject to no restriction. Some states adjoining Germany possess, even according to their peace-time status, 5000 tanks, 1500 military airplanes and 350 batteries of heavy artillery.

"All these states have at their disposal large reserves of war material in the event of war. One such neighboring state — a state with fewer than 8,000,000 inhabitants—has a standing army of 80,000 men; another with fewer than 14,000,000 inhabitants, has a standing army of over 150,000 man. A third, with fewer than 30,000,000 inhabitants, has a standing army of 275,000, and a fourth, with fewer than 40,000,000 inhabitants, has a standing army of over 700,000. All these armies are based on a system of universal compulsory military service, which in the event of war insures the utilization of the entire strength of the nation."

"GERMANY IMPOTENT"

The note declares that for these reasons Germany is quite impotent from a military standpoint, and continues:

"Should the measures provided for in Article 16 lead to hostilities, Germany is incapable of effectively protecting her territory against military invasion; she would be completely dependent upon the members of the League for Military Protection without there existing any power to compel these members to afford that protection. In a majority of conceivable cases, Germany would be, so to speak, predestined as the scene of future league wars. Even if the covenant-breaking State should not be an immediate neighbor of Germany, it is to be feared that unfavorable developments in military operations might carry the war into her unprotected territory.

"Even assuming loyal fulfillment of their obligations under the covenant one must bear in mind that the league's non-German troops would never defend German soil with the same devotion they would show in the case of their own country. That German troops, in view of their small numbers and lack of modern means of warfare could play only an insignificant part in such wars needs no further proof.

"All this is a necessary consequence of the fact that the entire organization of the League of Nations as a whole is hardly compatible with the military preponderence of individual states whether they are members of the league or not."

Dr. Stresemann contends that the organization of the League presupposes that armaments of the various states have been fixed for them approximately on the basis of their geographical and territorial situations, but that this condition so far as Germany is concerned, will not be fulfilled even when the disarmament of the other states has been effected in accordance with covenant of the League, for a limit is set to the reduction which does not prejudice either the requirements of national safety or the enforcement of international obligations.

"Even then," he insists, "the general standard would be far higher than the German standard."

ONLY SOLUTION

The Minister affirms that the only solution to the difficulty is to give Germany liberty to say how far she would go in participating in sanctions when international wars break out, and he asks that her situation be taken into consideration when her League obligations are being fixed.

Dr. Stresemann emphasizes that the protocol for the pacific settlement of international disputes provides that the geographical and military situation of individual member states shall be taken into account regarding participation in sanctions; yet all the signatories must take part in blockade measures and permit the passage of forces through their territory. These would deprive all of the possibility of remaining neutral and Germany, even after the coming into force of the protocol still would be faced with danger.

In conclusion the Minister expressed the hope that the League will discover a means to remove German apprehensions and the opinion that this can be done without violence to the organization of the League.

SHAW PREDICTS ENDLESS WARS

Warns England Crisis Nears Over Imperialism

Predicts United States and Canada United

Sees Clash Ahead if British Continue Policies

at the back. The fact is that they are evidently alarmed. In that state of mind, almost any combination may arise in order to try again to settle this matter by brute force. And so you have this unlimited prospect of war, war, war, and war again; and we shall not be able to stop. You see what it comes to.

We have now finally taken a great step in partition by brute force, and, until we come up against the frontier of another civilized power, it is very difficult to stop a partition that is conducted by raids, by successive conquests.

What I want to impress upon you is that these powers must finally in spite of themselves protest against the extension of empire by people who seem to be bound by their destiny to go on and on until they come face to face with one another, and then who knows what may happen? What is to be the partition of regions like Africa and certain parts of Asia? Is it to be absolute brute force? Is there to be no other method? I suggest that if there is no other method than that, inevitably civilization come to smash, because these modern powers will destroy one another. Of late, whenever it has been possible for one of them to obtain a success over the other, it has not been a military success, it has always been a success of blockade.

Do not imagine for a moment that you beat the Germans in military success in the late war. You did not. There was no military success. There was tremendous advance, and they very nearly got there, but they never got there; and then there was an advance the other way, and they very nearly got there, but they never got there. If it had not been for the blockade, if it had not been for starving out our opponents, the war would have been going on still, and probably would have gone on for the next thirty years.

You see what it is leading up to. We so far have put the extension of empire, the partition of Africa, and everything else, on a brute-force basis; and it seems to us who must look a little ahead that that must lead to destructive warfare. But what else is there, unless you have some supernational body, some international tribunal? It has got to be solved not by nationalism but by internationalism. Nobody now dreams after what has happened there is any further talk for the moment about the League of Nations being of any use, or anybody paying the least respect to it.

SUPERNATIONAL BODY

But in the long run the powers, if they are not to face destruction, will be compelled to set up an international or more properly a supernational legislature and tribunal. And what is more, they must set it up in earnest, not merely make speeches about it, and then take no notice of it, which is what has been done hitherto. But they must set up a legislature and tribunal, and they must set the example and convince the world, and create confidence throughout the world that the decisions of that tribunal will be accepted by the great powers and its laws will be obeyed by them. That is the inevitable and final solution if there is to be any solution at all, because, if you leave matters as they are, the next thing that may happen is that the Egyptian, purely to spite us, may blow up the Suez Canal. It will be a very large matter to police the Suez Canal right from one end to the other, so as to make that impossible. And we, on the other hand, may dry up the Nile.

But what I want to consider is what prospect is there of our being able to hold down the whole world, if even for a time. What is our blockade power, which is really the final and decisive power? Our center of empire is an insignificant little island off the extreme west coast of Europe, which is rather a queer state of things. As the pressure on us gets greater possibly we may have to shift the center. There was a time when the Roman Empire never dreamed that it would be possible to shift the center of empire but they did—they had to go further east.

NEW IMPERIAL CITY

I do not know where we will go; we might settle in Constantinople, but I am not sure that we may not have to settle in Australia, or that we might not have to settle in the Sudan; because, at any rate, if we could get there, on that east side of Africa, then we would be where we really are at home, where we have some right to be, in those gigantic territories, instead of sticking to this little hole, which is neither here nor there, which probably some day we will make a present of to some foreign power if we want to keep quiet.

What are the possible combinations against us? Our scattered position leaves us rather vulnerable to some particular sorts of attack. Our nearest rival in the way of population is China; that is, if the population attributed to China really is there. However, it is said to be there. If you take China and Russia together, including Siberia, consider their population and consider how they are all together and how they are proof against blockade; how they have not developed the capitalist system to that wonderful extent that they have developed it in Germany; that is to say, that Germany and Austria have taken together the whole of the center of Europe and have been so developed by capitalism that they are not able to feed themselves. Russia and China, being comparatively savage countries, can feed themselves, and therefore apparently cannot be blockaded. And if you consider the way they lie together, with just one break, one sort of jaw between them, in which India is—and they might close their jaws on India, or at any rate they might suddenly turn friendly to India at a time when India was against us—well, there is a combination which has not been much thought of or written about. I suggest it has interesting possibilities.

Then you have the possibility also that we might get into trouble with France. France is very powerful and France is also in Africa. One of the reasons why I have been harping on Africa is that Africa contains an enormous reservoir of black soldiers. France can command about 15,000,000 black soldiers, adult men, young adult men; and the very serious thing about those men is that, although they used to be rather crude idolators, I am sorry that many of them have been turned into primitive Christians; that is to say, they have been turned into potential crusaders against the infidelity of Europe.

It would not be nice to have armies of that kind let loose on us. Yet in the last war France did let those men loose on Germany, and put her black soldiers, by a stroke of refined military humor, into Goethe's house in Frankfort. There was something symbolical about it; it was extraordinarily important, giving us a hint in Europe of what we might expect if we got to loggerheads with France. But we also have reserves of black soldiers, and when you come to think of the possibilities of that, of the sort of fighting that might go on—I won't attempt to paint it. I have not got the descriptive literary power that is necessary for the description of any large use of negro soldiers. There would be that use if there were difficulties between us and France. That would produce a very bad impression on America, and it would not produce a very good impression on India. It might hasten the day, which I think is bound to come, when the United States and Canada, if they do not absolutely politically coalesce, will have such relations between them that, unless we left Canada out of any transactions that we had further east, we would compel Canada to break off from us. We should not be so strong; then for the first time America would be able really to carry out, as far as North America was concerned, the Monroe Doctrine; that is to say, to keep European powers out.

EUROPE'S POLICY

There is nothing extraordinary in the Monroe Doctrine. We have always had a Monroe Doctrine with regard to the Low Countries—Belgium and all around there. We fought the Spaniards over it; we fought Louis XIV., we fought the French Revolution and Napoleon over it, and the other day we fought the Germans over it. It was all because one of our traditions was a Monroe Doctrine that no power of the first magnitude should get on the shores of the North Sea, that we made the last war. The consequence is, of course, that, instead of achieving what we wanted, we find a combination of France and Belgium are in possession of the other shores of the North Sea, bound by a treaty the particulars of which have not been disclosed to us; and therefore for the first time on that point we are inclined to think that secret treaties are extremely wicked things.

[The only explorer who ever crossed the Sahara Desert on a velocipede; owner of Inez, the famous pet elan; leader of the Los Angeles Times expedition to Santa Claus Land. By Courier Duck to The Times.]

[Copyright, 1924, in United States, Canada and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.]

DOG BISCUIT BAY (Santa Claus Land) Dec. 22.—Suddenly I knew! It was Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs! The dwarfs acted out part of the story, as Snow White told it, and the Brownie put down what they did. Although they all seemed real, they were in a kind of frame, like the border of a page, and slowly the page began to turn.

First, I saw a funny little old Swiss music box, which began to tinkle a tune my grandmother used to sing. And then there came a most remarkable procession, passing along the border of the page and turning across in front of us. At the head, arm in arm, marched two men in silk knee breeches, long-tailed coats and white wigs. They each carried a long gold-headed cane and took pinches of snuff. Any one would know the people who followed them. There was Mother Goose and Georgie Porgie, and Little Jack Horner, and Little Miss Moffet and Old Mother Hubbard and her dog, and the cow that jumped over the moon, and all the rest.

"Capt. Squint," he said, "allow me to present to you Monsieurs Charles Perrault and Jean Le Fontaine who first persuaded Mother Goose and her friends to march through the pages of a book."

The two men with the wigs made most sweeping bows, each stepping sideways and backward together and finishing with the grandest kind of a flourish you can think of. I tried to do it the way they did, but it was so complicated my wooden leg came unscrewed and I fell down. We all laughed till we were sick.

A Brownie reporter came up to interview Mother Goose. He took notes on the back of an unpaid gas bill which he fished out of his pockets.

"Yes," said Mother Goose, "we are rehearsing a new book, but I do not wish anything said about it at present. But if you are determined to print something, I've some recent photographs—"

Just then, Spud, who had come with us, got to fighting with Mother Hubbard's dog, and Santa Claus shouted, "Turn the page!"

We stepped out of the book and Santa Claus and the Toymaker of Nuremberg led the way to a great windmill, whose red sails were slowly turning. Every once in a while a little door under the windmill would spring open, like the door of a cuckoo clock and a Brownie would shove in a bundle of notes, or another Brownie would come running with pieces of toys and shove them in. From the other side of the mill came a steady stream of beautiful books and toys. Santa Claus told me about it.

"This mill is driven by the winds of fancy from all over the world," he said. "All the beautiful day-dreams, all the little truant playful thoughts, all the joyous little whimsies—they all help to make the sails go round. Even the rainbow soap bubbles which the children blow are not lost when they go 'pop.' The little pop make the sails go around. Even the soap bubbles which the grown-ups blow—and they also burst—help to turn the mill which makes the dreams come true. There was a time a few years ago, when the mills almost stopped. But it is going better now."

But we had to hurry on. Santa Claus showed me the reindeer, who were having their hoofs polished and being made ready for the Christmas trip. A Brownie was sprinkling talcum powder on them. Santa Claus explained that a reindeer liked nothing so well as to be curried with a piece of rough orange peel, with a sprinkling of talcum powder afterward. Streams of Brownies were carrying boxes and bundles from the red windmill to the end of the rainbow bridge, which crossed the gulf to Santa Claus Land. Here the sleighs were waiting.

"Why so many sleighs?" I asked.

"Oh, I make many trips," he said. "On Christmas Eve the clocks in my palaces all slow down, so a second is like an hour, so I can make a trip in the twinkling of an eye. That's how I manage to get around to everybody."

We went back to the Clock Palace and sat in the old rocking chairs. Santa Claus lit his pipe.

"I guess I'd better dictate a special duckgram to the children," he said.

He put his hands in his hip pockets, so that his coat tails stuck out, as he walked back and forth. A Brownie stenographer took it down. The children will have the message in The Times tomorrow.

MINISTERS ARE HELD ON RUM CHARGE

Pair Conducting Revival Arrested as Moonshiners; Outfit Seized

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BRISTOL (Tenn.) Dec. 22.—Word reached here today of the arrest yesterday about sixty miles north of here of two preachers, Rev. Floyd Cantrell and Rev. Medford Lane, on charges of making moonshine whisky.

The ministers were at a still, it is asserted, when taken in custody by Prohibition Officers Mullins and Fleming. Their still, a fifty-gallon outfit, was seized, the officers reported. The two men complained on the grounds that they would not be able to conduct services that night if taken to jail. They were conducting a revival at a little mountain church near where the arrests occurred. Lane had a Bible in his possession when arrested.

The two will be tried at the next session of the Wise County Circuit Court, it is said.

SOVIET STRIKES ACROSS BORDER

Elaborate Embassy to Mexico Campaign Move

Would Infect United States With Red Virus

Mexican Government Cold to Communist Theories

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 22.—A flamboyant Red soviet diplomat now is fully established in Mexico for Europe, the back door into the United States.

The importance to the United States of the arrival here of Estanislao Petzkoesky, Russian Minister, with a complete staff of secretaries and assistants can hardly be overestimated. There are some 300 Russians in Mexico, of whom half can hold no relationship with their diplomatic representative, for they belong to the old regime of the czars. The interests of the rest of them could be looked after with a much smaller diplomatic staff than the Moscow government has sent.

However, the soviets picked a man of highest standing in the Bolshevik government service, a costly man and a real Red, and ardent adherent and promulgator of soviet ideas. He is the first diplomat from Russia to reach Mexico in an open and official capacity since the monarchy of the old Russian regime fell and diplomatic relations between Mexico and Russia were severed in March, 1917.

AMERICA OBJECTIVE

To cast off the mantle of diplomacy, Minister Petzkoesky, a diplomat to all outward appearances, must be looked upon through American eyes as a Bolshevik propagandist ready to spread Lenine and Trotzky views—not so much in Mexico, but north of the Rio Grande, and the Mexico City postoffice offers a base of this campaign.

Petzkoesky lost no time upon his arrival on Mexico soil in sowing the seeds of his Bolshevism. Hardly was he off the steamer at Vera Cruz when he told newspaper men, "I have been a convinced Bolshevist for the past twenty years, and I have always worked in favor of the revolution and of these doctrines in the various countries in which I have traveled."

He started working in favor of these ideals almost at once, and a few days after his arrival and presentation to the President, Petzkoesky addressed Mexican workers and peasants through El Machete, (The Cutlass,) a glaring Communist organ, on the occasion of the anniversary of the establishment of the soviet. He left nothing unsaid about the Moscow plan of action, went into details on the birth of Bolshevism, with all the anticapital arguments common to supporters of the soviet doctrines. His action was that of a totor—a propagandist—certainly not of a diplomat.

The Red element in Mexico, which was unmercifully attacked during the fourth Pan-American Labor Congress here recently by both Samuel Gompers and Luis N. Morones, Mexico's labor leader, Minister of Industry, Commerce and Labor, and chief of the "yellow," or milder, laborists of the country, has received Petzkoesky with a fraternal Latin embrace, El Machete between its glaring headlines refers to him as "our comrade ambassador."

SUBSIDIZES PRESS

His efforts toward spreading Bolshevik propaganda through Mexico toward and undoubtedly across the border into the United States are evident. One leading daily here already, by some unknown means, has been induced to publish a series of procoviet articles, in which the cause of the Moscow government is favorably expounded.

The anti-Communist sentiments Morones expressed serve to indicate that the Mexican labor government of Calles is certainly not affiliated with the Reds, to the contrary, neither Calles, Obregon, Gompers or Morones have ever indicated any sympathy toward Communists, although signs that this party now has more liberal action and a better field here are evident, but this is explained by the general tendencies of the revolutionary spirit born from the revolution in Mexico to permit more freedom to all thoughts, beliefs and actions than previously existed. Porfirio Diaz must turn in his grave sometimes. The aristocracy of a decade ago in Mexico is in Paris in much similar state to the aristocracy of St. Petersburg.

The soviet envoy comes equipped with a competent staff, speaking Spanish, English and other languages fluently. American Ambassador James R. Sheffield has, of course, no diplomatic official or social intercourse with the Russian envoy, although if they meet at the home of a third person, unavoidably on the steps of the Foreign Relations Building, or are thrown in contact with each other, the American Ambassador is governed by "those usual courtesies extended under the circumstances."

COUNT SALM HAS YEAR OF 'PROBATION'

Money Settlement Plan Failing, Mrs. Rogers Gets Daughter Home

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—If at the end of a year Count Salm Von Hoogenstraeten and his young wife, the former Millicent Rogers, daughter of H. H. Rogers, the millionaire, still are as much in love as they now profess to be, no further opposition is to be made to the alliance, according to reports in society circles today.

Although Mrs. Rogers, Millicent's mother, smiled aside all questions as to the Count when she returned to America Saturday, it was reported today that she acted as the intermediary in effecting the probationary arrangement while she was abroad.

It was understood that efforts of the Rogers family to make a money settlement with Count Salm were unavailing. He insisted he wanted Millicent, not a part of the oil magnate's millions. As a last resort it is stated Mrs. Rogers persuaded the Austrian nobleman to let Millicent remain at home with her parents for a year. If he remains loyal to the American heiress during the period and she continues to love him all parental objections are to be withdrawn.

Easy Victory Almost Costs Drinker's Life

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—A contest to determine who could dispose of the most drinks within a given time is said to have led to the removal, unconscious, to North Hudson Hospital of Frank Cersitiano, 18 years of age, of North Bergen. Half an hour's work with a stomach pump restored him to consciousness, when his first inquiry was "Did I win?"

Police who investigated said Cersitiano took part in a drinking contest in a North Bergen dance hall. It lasted twenty minutes, as far as Cersitiano was concerned. The police said the other competitors withdrew after Cersitiano reached his tenth highball in as many minutes, and that he had reached his fifteenth before he fell by the way.

Firemen Hold Hose Fight as House Blazes

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EUGENE (Or.) Dec. 22.—Angered because a stream of water from a fire hose was accidentally turned upon them, volunteer firemen at Reedsport, Or., engaged in a free-for-all water fight, while an apartment-house was burning Sunday, according to word received here.

While the fire raged, vandals broke into the apartments and made away with clothing and jewelry.

W.C.T.U. Board Against Darwin Theory Teaching

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 22. — The executive board of the Riverside county Women's Christian Temperance Union is one of the latest organizations to go on record against the teaching of the theory of evolution in the public schools of California.

In a letter received here today by Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the board protests "against evolution being taught in schools supported wholly or in part by public money."

Wood said he would refer the letter to the State Board of Education for consideration at its next quarterly meeting here next month.

It is anticipated that more than 500 members of the association and their guests will attend the unique affair, at which will be present many prominent government officers and naval officers.

WORKER PERISHES IN FURNACE AT SMELTER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HAYDEN (Ariz.) Dec. 22.—Agustin de la Cruz, a Mexican employee of the local smelter, met death when he fell through the top of a brick flue-dust chamber into the flaming heat and choking dust of the furnace discharge. A fellow workman, Jose Urias, saw the fall and rushed to toss down the end of a rope. A single tug was felt, but the man below must have died within a couple of minutes. The body was recovered by being raked through a hole that was broken through the side of the dust chamber.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION IS APPOINTED

SETH STRELLINGER NAMED ON BOARD PICKED BY GOVERNOR

William Hanlon of Sacramento and Louis Almgren of San Diego Complete State Triumvirate; Open Ten-Round Boxing Next Month

Capt. Seth W. B. Strelinger of Los Angeles, Louis Almgren of San Diego and William Hanlon of Sacramento make up California's pugilistic triumverate following their appointment yesterday for the State Boxing Commission by Gov. Richardson. The appointments were made to carry out the provisions of the amendment to the State constitution which passed by a majority vote last month.

Capt. Strelinger is an active member of the Hollywood Post of the American Legion, and has been keenly interested in boxing for several years. Mr. Hanlon is a business man of Sacramento, where he owns one of the principal hotels, while Almgren is Fire Chief of San Diego.

In appointing the men to the commission the Governor issued the following statement:

"I have appointed Capt. Strelinger as athletic commissioner upon the recommendation of members and officials of the Legion, and have drafted Louis Almgren and William Hanlon. Capt. Strelinger has a fine military record of patriotic service. He has been active in Legion affairs and has conducted the Legion stadium of Los Angeles above reproach. He will keep boxing upon a high plane and will not permit California to become a dumping ground for undesirable prize fighters and their retinues.

"Louis Almgren, as fire chief of San Diego, has been actively interested in clean athletics, and will do his part to keep prize fighting as clean as possible. He has been drafted on account of his worth. William Hanlon, a prominent Sacramento hotel man, has also been drafted for the place because he stands for square boxing and athletic events, and has the knowledge and fairness to cope with those who may attempt to subvert the law.

"In these three men I have selected a commission which will maintain the new law in spirit and letter, and will keep the alleged fighting game on as high a plane as is humanly possible. If there is a failure the people can blame the law and repeal it, but they cannot blame the commission appointed to carry out the will of the people as expressed at the polls. I am not in favor of commercialized prize a failure the people can blame the fighting, but am bowing to the voice of the people. I have no objection to amateur boxing and wrestling, and have an active interest in all clean sports.

"If the three men I have named cannot make the law workable, then no one can. Their commissions will be issued today and then all boxing and fighting in California must cease until the commission grants permits.

"This statement is official."

According to a ruling from the office of the Attorney-General all boxing in California must cease until the new commission is ready to take over the supervision of the sport.

The appointment of the commission today will enable the new law to start functioning shortly after the new year, it is believed.

STRELINGER GETS SHORTEST TERM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 22.—Gov. Richardson tonight announced the following terms for the athletic commissioners, who will guide the destinies of boxing and wrestling in California:

Capt. Seth W. P. Strelinger of Los Angeles, until January 1, 1926; William T. Hanlon of Sacramento, until January 1, 1927, and Louis Almgren of San Diego, until January 1, 1928.

The successors will receive appointments of three years each, which provides for a new commissioner each year.

ALMGREN EXPRESSES HIS SURPRISE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 22.—Louis Almgren, one of the three appointees of Gov. Richardson for the State Boxing Commission, is chief of the San Diego fire department, and for years has been interested in athletics of all kinds, being identified particularly with boxing, rowing and baseball.

Almgren was unaware that he

WHAT FIGHT MEN THINK OF BOARD

JACK DOYLE, Vernon promoter: I think we are all pleased at Gov. Richardson's choice of men. I am sure they will serve both the public and the boxing interests in a capable way.

SI MASTERS, Hollywood Legion: From personal experience I know that Gov. Richardson could not have selected a man more fair and square in his dealings than Capt. Strelinger. I do not know Mr. Hanlon or Mr. Almgren personally, but their reputation among sporting men is exceedingly high.

GEORGE V. BLAKE, popular referee and the man who developed Fidel La Barba, Jackie Fields, Joe Salas and other fistic stars: The selection of Gov. Richardson is a very wise one. Capt. Strelinger is one of the finest men I know. Although I am not personally acquainted with the other two men, if they serve as ably as I know Capt. Strelinger will there can be no doubt as to the capability of the commission to serve the public in a satisfactory manner.

CHARLIE KEPPEN, Los Angeles Athletic Club: Gov. Richardson's selection is O.K. The men should keep the boxing game in California on a high plane.

BILLY COE, veteran timekeeper: I think every man who follows boxing in Los Angeles is pleased at the appointment of Capt. Strelinger. The other two men are square-shooters in their respective communities, and I am sure the commission will be a good one.

WALTER ECKERSALL ARRIVES FOR GAMES

Walter Eckersall, former All-American quarterback and football expert for the Chicago Tribune, arrived here yesterday from the Windy City. Eckersall will be one of the officials at both the U.S.C.-Missouri and Stanford-Notre Dame clashes. He is stopping at the Maryland in Pasadena.

FANS GETTING EXCITED

Missouri-U.S.C. Tilt in Coliseum Christmas Day Warms Up Rooters in Spite of Winter Weather

Los Angeles is beginning to warm up to Missouri and to the football game between Coach Gwinn Henry's Tigers and the U.S.C. Trojans in the Coliseum on Christmas Day.

This is indicated by the sudden change in betting odds that finds the Trojans barely hanging onto a 5-to-4 margin, where early last week they had been heavy favorites to roll up scores of from three to four touchdowns on the Show Me's.

Large blocks of tickets are going on sale today at all sporting goods stores, and with the football public awakening to the fact that Missouri is nobody's doll baby after all, the chances of a complete sell-out are on the increase. Gwinn Wilson and Zack Farmer are making no secret of the fact that this game will determine in a large degree whether or not Los Angeles wants Christmas Day football.

Missouri arrives in town some time today, the exact hour depending on how well they can make headway against the blizzards and snowbanks that beset their westward way. Once here, they intend to spend a couple of days in thawing out and on Christmas Day they hope to show the Trojans that Missouri is spelled with a capital M.

Those who know football know this—that the Middle West turns out some pretty good football teams, and that with the exception of Notre Dame, Missouri has the best claim to the championship of the Middle West. The Tigers won a clear right to this honor when they defeated Chicago 3 to 0. They did not realize the fact then, but subsequent events proved it. Chicago proceeded to win the championship of the Big Ten, and Missouri copped the Missouri Valley Conference title. That left the sectional championship (Notre Dame always excepted) in the hands of the champions of the two conferences, and the better of the two of course should get the honors. Missouri's victory over Chicago clinched matters.

There may be a few teams in the Middle West that could beat Missouri. Chicago might do it if

HOLLYWOOD BOUTS OFF

Complying with the request of Gov. Friend W. Richardson, the regular Friday night's boxing show at the American Legion Hollywood Stadium have been discontinued. The announcement was made last night by Si Masters, manager of the arena. Boxing will not be resumed at the war veterans' stadium until a license is granted by the new boxing commission, which was appointed yesterday. The future policy of the Legion stadium has not as yet been decided upon, so it may be that the card arranged by Matchmaker Tom Kennedy for next Friday night may not be held over.

ANDY SMITH DRILLS MEN FOR BATTLE

California Eleven Busy Preparing for Game With Penn New Year's

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERKELEY, Dec. 22.—Although the bad weather of the past three days has hindered the Bears somewhat Coach Andy Smith has been busy drilling his charges in preparation for the New Year's Day game between California and Pennsylvania. Right now Andy has a hunch that the encounter may be played in the rain and with recollections of the California-W. and J. clash at Pasadena still in his mind the famous Bear mentor is laying plans to offset the advantage which a wet field would give the bulky Quakers. It poured at Pasadena two years ago and Andy's aerial attack was of little use.

Should the weather be heavy January 1 there seems to be little doubt but that Earl Jabbs, Young, Carlson and perhaps Griffin will make up the backfield formation. Tut Imlay and Jimmy Dixon, who are flashes on a dry field, would probably rest on the bench until an opportune moment arrives and then be thrust into the fray. Imlay, captain-elect, is sure to start if the field is not wet and the same goes for Dixon, but Smith wants to be prepared for all kinds of ...rgencies.

CARDS CINDER MEN SEEK MEET

That Stanford University would like to meet some southern conference institution in a track meet in Los Angeles next spring was learned here today. As the University of California will meet the all-southern conference team in Berkeley this year, instead of Stanford, latter university is anxious to appear in the Southland.

Although Southern Branch might schedule a meet with the Cardinals it is unlikely that they will tackle the strong Templeton-coached outfit alone. Occidental's crack team might be added to the Grizzly forces, making the affair a triangle meet.

FORWARDS ARE MEN OF POWER

Showing During Late Games is Big Surprise

Paper-Weight Guards Exhibit Defensive Strength

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NOTRE DAME (Ind.) Dec. 22. Notre Dame's success in this year's campaign has hinged upon that part of Coach Rockne's team most generally forgotten in the elaborate reports of the squad's accomplishments—namely, the line.

The surprise as well as much of the success of the club rests within the seven links of the forward line, which has gradually lifted itself from that lowly position into which it was forced early in the fall, taking a prominent place in football circles and eventually gaining the prestige it justly deserves.

Scorned when the season began and regarded as a flaw in Rockne's great machine, the line has swung forward mightily, turning back the Army, annihilating Princeton, stopping the great Wycoff and literally tearing the Badgers limb for limb. When these feats had been complete it swept aside the powerful Nebraska line, a set of forwards that successfuly curbed the activities of Grange.

It surprised Rockne, the general public—and possibly itself—with its brittle center, watch-charm guards, pigmy tackles and "weak" ends. It has forged ahead in a convincing manner, establishing itself with the best in the country. At New York the seven links looked weak against the powerful assault of the mighty Woods, Wilson and Yeomans trio during the early part of the game, but on the third down it tightened—and loved the sight of itself taut so well that the memory lingered on.

ARE TESTED

Against Princeton the chain was tempered and against Georgia Tech it was tested by the mighty Wycoff, who plunged and crashed with the speed of a dart and charge of a steed, only to meet reverses in the battle-drawn ranks of the Rockne forwards.

One of the distinctive features of the Rockne line is its paperweight guards. Noble Kizer and John Weibel, each weighting 167 pounds, compose the regular guard unit. Unthinkable as it may seem, these men have been able to withstand the bitter assaults of such backs as Hewitt, the Army's 220-pound fullback; Wycoff, Georgia Tech's 195-pound star, and the Harmon brothers at Wisconsin, two bulky backs of conference renown. Kizer and Weibel have starred long after such great backs as these have been stopped. The only explanation necessary reflects back to Rockne's contention that mentality is the outstanding qualification in football. These men have a superior knowledge of the game and are prompted by an undeniable spirit.

Between these two guards Rockne plays his captain and leader, the brilliant Adam Walsh. Walsh is big, rugged, determined and well fortified with all knowledge one could gain on the pivot post. His leadership on the field and on the campus is a thing of beauty. Time and again during the memorable Army conflict of this season the great throng at the Polo Grounds buzzed with an outward manifestation of its approval when Walsh rallied his men in a manner typical of a Joan of Arc and a Washington.

MANY TACKLES

Tackles had been plentiful at Notre Dame for years, but when Rockne assembled his hopefuls early in September there were only a few men who could be developed into real linesmen. Bach took up his job on the port side of the ball and Rip Miller, who relieved Oberst last year, moved into line on the other side. Bach needs no introduction to the grid world. He was a sensation at the Army in 1923 and has been even better this fall. Miller is the kingpin on de fense and offense on his side of the line by virtue of his showing against the Cadets at New York, where he played sixty minutes without relief in the first big assignment of his career.

Collins at left end is one of the outstanding wingmen in the country. He plays the game in a manner most convincing and in every department of end play he is schooled to a perfection. He can catch passes as well as the best in Rockne's squad and is a deadly tackler. He has speed, endurance, and a football will. Huntsinger at the other end plays ball in a plausible fashion, holding up his side of the formation with an efficiency that makes his side of the line as strong as that protected by Collins.

IMPORTANT COG

The substitutes, who have been an important factor in this year's activities, are in many cases practically as good as the men on Rockne's favorite combination. Many are sophomores, but a few will complete their careers with the varsity line at Pasadena in two weeks.

The weak sister has become a big brother. No backfield can operate successfully unless its line has moved efficiently first. Passers and kickers need time; the line must give them that time or the day is lost. Rockne has been fortunate enough this year to have a set of men free of mind and limb in which he could manifest his unusual knowledge and develop remarkable ability to that point where his wonder backfield could act with the greatest amount of effectiveness. Nine mighty foes have been accounted for. The tenth comes next month and it will probably be accounted for in the same fashion if Capt. Walsh can rally his men as he had before.

McTIGUE-MARULLO BOUT IS POSTPONED

REVIEW OF 1924

BY FEG MURRAY

GOLF—WOMEN'S

"Old Man Dope" took a couple of wallops on the chin when the Women's golf championship of 1924 ended. Favorites had fallen right and left by the wayside, and a girl who had previously given champion Helen Wills the hardest battle of any one in the national tennis tournament disposed of former Champion Glenna Collett and lost only in the finals of the golf championship! And who beat this astonishing Miss Browne? Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd beat her, and Mrs. Hurd, away back in 1909 and 1910, was the queen of American golf as Dorothy Campbell. Truly, Dope, the old man who said "one could never reach the top in two sports" and that "they never come back," had to admit that "the female of the species is more deadly than the male."

Miss Joyce Wethered easily won the British title, defeating Miss Cantley in the final round, while France hailed the rise of a new find in Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume. Miss Glenna Collett won her third consecutive title in the Woman's North and South championships at Pinehurst and also repeated in the Canadian women's championship. Edith Cummings, former national women's champion, beat Miriam Burns in the finals of the women's western tournament. Miriam, in turn, put Edith out of the national tournament, only to fall before the onward rush of Mary Browne.

STRELLINGER ON COMMISSION

had been considered for the commission.

"Word that I have been appointed a member of the State Boxing Commission comes as a complete surprise," he said this afternoon. "I will do all within my power to put boxing on a clean level and keep it there."

In his younger days Almgren was a boxer of some ability. Since he has been head of the fire department and has encouraged athletics among fire fighters and the firemen's baseball team ranks among the leading semipro outfits here.

HANLON WANTS TO ELEVATE GAME

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 22.—"In the words of the fight fans, there will be no 'set ups' with me," was the comment of William H. Hanlon, Sacramento hotel man, when notified today that Gov. Richardson had selected him as a member of the newly provided-for boxing commission. Hanlon, who is well known throughout the State, declared it would be his object to carry out the provisions of the new law as he believed that boxing was one of the best forms of sport in which the public is interested. He said he believed in the elevation of "the game."

CAPT. STRELINGER FOR CLEAN SPORT

Capt. Seth W. B. Strelinger hopes to keep the ten-round game as clean as the four-round amateur boxing has been in the past, he declared last night. "While I was taken unawares when Gov. Richardson selected me for the State Boxing Commission," added Strelinger, "I hope my part in supervising the sport will be such as to keep boxing in California entirely on the square. The citizens of California may count on me to do my utmost in this respect."

CLUBMEN WIN OVER GRIFFIN QUINTET

The Hollywood Athletic Club basketball team won its second straight A.A.U. game last night, defeating the Griffin and McGary five by a 37-to-20 score at Hollywood. During the first half, the game was close and hard-fought, but the Hollywood cagers ran away in the second period and had a long lead when the last whistle blew. Redd, forward, and Yardley, former baseball star, did the heavy work for the Movie City team, scoring ten and eight points, respectively. Moore starred for the losers. The line-ups: Hollywood: De Grasse (4) f.; Reed (10) f.; Yardley (8) c.; McFadden (2) g.; Kearney (6) g.; McWilliams (7.)

Griffin and McGary: Moore (10) f.; Cox (7) f.; Greenfield c.; Harris (2) g.; Brown (1) g. Referee, Cox.

BILLIARDIST CAN'T STAND CUE BEATINGS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—Edward Ralph Greenleaf, professional pocket-billiard champion, today was granted a divorce from his wife, Beatrice Greenleaf, on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

Testimony given before the master who recommended the divorce to the Common Pleas Court was to the effect that the wife had committed numerous assaults on her husband, sometimes striking him with her fist and at other times using a billiard cue, with the result that his arms were bruised so as to interfere with his following his profession with his best skill in several matches.

FUENTE IS IN MEXICO CITY NOW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Dec. 22.—Tony Fuente, the Phoenix heavyweight, renowned for his six-second knockout in his last California fight, appears to have reached Mexico City safely, crossing the international line at El Paso before the arrival of any detention papers that might have been contemplated at Los Angeles.

From the Mexican capital has come a letter written by Joe Kiser of the Fuente party and bearing news that "Tony could run for president here and be elected the next day. We were given a big ovation all down the line, and in the big towns we had committees waiting for us at the station. You should have seen the reporters and cameramen at the Station when we got to Mexico City. There was a brass band and a crowd that took Tony on their shoulders and carried him around the station. Great crowds follow us all over the streets. We are going to move our training quarters out of the city to a private house, as the mob is always following us around, and it is getting tiresome. The Chief of Police has given us a private guard to watch our house day and night, to keep the mob away and let us work in peace. Max McFarland is down here with us, and he sure is scared, not being used to it. Larry Williams says this is the only country for him."

From the letter's tenor only is there supposition that the fight for which preparations are being made will be that scheduled on New Year's Day with Bartley Madden.

WATTS NINE LEADING IN PACIFIC LEAGUE

The Watts Chamber of Commerce nine, who have been putting out a classy brand of baseball of late, are now topping the Pacific League, a member of the greater association, with six wins and one defeat. Compton and the Fremont W.O.W. are close on their heels, and are making the title race an interesting affair for the chamber nine.

Watts owes its prominent position to the hitting and fielding ability of the squad, no one standing out as a particular star, but the team as a whole playing well together.

AZUSA PILLTOSSERS LEAD BELT CIRCUIT

Arcadia's pilltossers upset the dope Sunday and spilled the fast Glendora squad by a 3-to-1 score, thereby breaking up the tie that has existed in the Orange Belt League. Azusa who won from the Pasadena Paints now has a strangle hold on first place, their claim being menaced by no one at present.

Azusa owes its fine showing to date to the wonderful heaving of Bonnelly, who is a crackerjack. It was the opinion of many that the loss of Awerkamp would weaken Glendora, but the squad is so evenly balanced that his loss has not been felt, and it is thought that the latter team will whip Azusa when they meet them.

Drivers Park in Riverside for Auto Race

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 22.—A majority of the dare-devil racing drivers who are entered in the races to be held here Christmas Day at the Southern California Fair track, arrived in town today with their speedy mounts to begin practice for the coming Yule Day event. After turning a few fast laps on the local oval the drivers returned to various garages in the city, where they at once went about the work of making minor changes which will make their cars suitable for the track.

Arthur Chevrolet, wizard builder of racing motors, who accompanied his two entrants here, pronounced the course as the fastest half-mile track in the West. The entrants include all the favorite dirt-track pilots who are now on the Coast. They are: Ralph Ormsby, George Beck, Floyd Shawhan, "Curley" Young, Jack Thiele, Floyd Roberts, "Pop" Evans, Cliff Bergere, "Fuzzy" Davidson, "Speedy" Cantion, Les Allen, Fred Lecklider, John Vickers, Ed Bermuda and Chance Kingsley.

KANSAS CITY BLUES TO PLAY SEAL NINE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Dec. 22. — Buzzy Wares, former Coast League player and captain of the Hanford Kings, is perfecting arrangements for the coming of the Kansas City Blues of the American League, which will have its spring training camp here. With the Seals of the Pacific Coast League having spring trainining at Fresno, Buzz expects to arrange some high-grade games for the San Joaquin Valley fans in the spring, between these clubs and other Coast clubs. The Blues and accompanying sports reporters will be well received here, where the courtesies of the Kings Country Club will be extended to them, and the Kiwanis Club will give them a banquet.

The advent of the Blues and Seals, it is thought, will do much to liven up baseball in the San Joaquin Valley.

WILLIAMS, MEUSEL GUESTS AT MEETING

"Irish" Meusel, star New York outfielder, and Harry Williams, president of the Pacific Coast League, were the guests of honor at the weekly Managers' Association baseball meeting at the I.O.O.F. Hall last night. Meusel and Williams each gave a short talk.

No More Duck Hunting at Salton Sea

The present season is the last that local hunters will get a chance to hunt in the "toolies" at Salton Sea. Four thousand acres of land, which the overflow of the Alma and New rivers, has made one of the best hunting spots that Southern California has ever known, owing to the rank vegetation therein, are now being reclaimed by the government.

The property had been given to homesteaders, and when it was found that they were not improving, a government investigation was set afoot, with the result that the land was found to be under water. Drainage ditches, down the channel of the Alma are now under construction and all of the water will be drained into Salton basin, thus robbing nimrods of one of the best hunting grounds hereabouts.

PICO CUBS SWAMP THREE STAR NINE

Running wild through their opponents' defense the Pico Cubs baseball team defeated the Los Angeles Three Stars by a 20 to 3 score at Three Star Park Sunday. Yes, it wasn't a football game. The Cubs crashed 22 hits on the attack and held the Stars to four hits on the defense. Every Cub batter got two or more hits while the four Three Star bingles were divided among four batters. Hilyard, Pico pitcher, got a triple and two singles in five times at bat. The score.

WHITE SOX TO PLAY GIANTS IN SERIES

The St. Louis Giants and the L. A. White Sox baseball teams have arranged to play a five-game series, the first to be staged at Goodyear Park on the 25th inst., according to a report received here yesterday. Both nines are made up of professionals and the series is to decide which team is the better. The Giants are slightly favored, but there is much that says the White Sox will take the series.

DUCKS NOW PLENTIFUL SEASON CLOSES SOON

"Get your limit now," is the advice of Pete Peterson of R. H. Dyas. Pete is referring to ducks, which, he states, are now plentiful all over the Southland, if reports emanating with local nimrods, who were shooting over the week-end, are at all authentic.

Duck season closes January 15, and those who expect to eat duck this season are advised to get out and do their shooting while the birds are present, and there is still time.

HILLCREST GETS OPEN TOURNEY

The Southern California open golf championship will be decided on the links of the Hillcrest Country Club early in February, according to an announcement made yesterday by Jack Malley of Annandale, president of the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association. The dates of the annual event will be February 2, 3 and 4 the usual amateur-pro foresomes being held on the opening day of the tournament. Both George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, famous British professionals, have signed up to compete, in addition to the cream of Southern California's amateur and professional talent.

BLUE DIAMOND NINE HEADS PERCENTAGES

Owing to their ability as a hard-slugging outfit and the classy heaving of Johnson, their pitching ace, the Blue Diamond nine is now topping the percentage column in the Northern San Gabriel Valley loop, with five wins and two defeats. Montebello and the Southwest Athletic Club are tied for second with four wins and two losses chalked against them.

The race in this league is one of the most even in any of the circuits entered in the Greater Association, all of the squads having taken at least two beatings. The fact that the nine lowest in the percentage column was able to whip those near the top is a further proof of their evenly matched condition.

MERCURY QUINTET MAY MEET OLYMPIC FIVE

Charlie Keppen who, among other things, manages athletics at the L.A.A.C., is now dickering with the Olympic Club of San Francisco for a basketball game.

Keppen feels that the game would be a big drawing card, inasmuch as the Olympians have a strong aggregation and would furnish the local outfit some real competition. The game if played will be staged some time along in January, and ought to draw a big house, because of the strength both squads have shown and the natural rivalry between the two clubs.

It is also possible that the Mercury men will meet several other big-time clubs if dates can be arranged.

MIDWICK POLOISTS RETURN FROM NORTH

The Midwick Country Club polo team returned from Santa Barbara yesterday and will be ready to start intensive training for the interclub season immediately after Christmas. While in the north the Midwick four was beaten twice by Santa Barbara, Capt. Burke and Teddy Miller, veteran players, starred against the northerners, but failed to receive enough support from C. B. Wrightsman and J. A. Wigmore, playing in their first big-league match. Arthur Perkins, coaching the Midwick juniors, will put them through a hard training siege after the holidays in an effort to be in the best possible shape for the polo season.

HUNTERS BACK FROM IMPERIAL VALLEY

By way of insuring enough food for the Hollywood Athletic Club "tank gang" dinner at the Movie City club tomorrow noon, Bob Howard, boxing and wrestling instructor, Clyde Swendson, head of the aquatic department, and Tom Stradely journeyed down to Salton Sea, Imperial Valley, last Friday, and returned yesterday afternoon with fifteen ducks and eleven geese. The "tank gang" will attempt to eat all the fowl tomorrow, according to Big Splash Thompson, head of the gang.

BUMPER TALK

We Take Off Our Hats

To Father Ricard, the Padre of the rains. Sitting in his observatory of Santa Clara College on November 30th, he stated that Southern California would be visited by rain in the middle of December. His forecasts of future weather seem to be infallible.

His following is growing every day. Many people dig up the old bumbershoot and dust it off just as soon as he issues his first prophecy of rain.

GETTING READY FOR MISSOURI

TROJANS RALLY AT CRITERION

U.S.C. Rooters Prepare for Missouri Game With Peppy Program Tonight

An interesting and peppy program is being rapidly whipped into shape by Hal Williams of the U.S.C. and Managing Director Harold Horne of the Criterion, to be offered among other features at the giant U.S.C.-Missouri rally to be held at the Criterion tonight in honor of the Trojan and Tiger teams, who clash here on Christmas Day. This being the last opportunity for such a rally before the game all the students are making preparations to attend.

A portion of the program will include Gene Johnson's justly famous orchestra, the Trojan Five, that well-known aggregation of singers. Allen Nichols, head debating coach of the U.S.C., will make a short talk and West Woodford and company will offer a comedy skit. The crowning achievement of this notable event is expected when the miniature rooting section, directed by Hank McCann, U.S.C.'s demon of the yell, is presented.

Coach Henderson and his Trojans have been invited, as have the entire Missouri contorie, which arrives this morning.

GOODYEAR FRIARS IN WIN OVER BEACHMEN

The Goodyear Friars basketball team advanced another step in the A.A.U. League last night, defeating the Santa Monica Athletic Club by a 39-to-19 score at Santa Monica. Yeths, forward, and Hawkins, center, robbed Flora, star Goodyear forward, of his usual amount of glory, scoring 13 and 11 points, respectively, to Flora's 6. The Friars outclassed the Beach club five all the way, leading them by a 22-to-12 score at the end of the half and running wild in the second period. Smith and Ogden did most of the work for Santa Monica. The line-ups:

Goodyear Friars: Flora (6) f.; Yeths (13) f.; Hawkins (11) c.; Whitman (4) g.; Gish (2) g.; Marvin (3;) West, Campbell, Townsend.

Santa Monica A. C.: Carpenter (2) f.; Smith (5) f.; Ogden (4) c.; Ryan (1) g.; Duhn (1) g.; Hart (5,) Kurr (1,) Hughes, Thompson. Referee—Davis.

INTERFRAT SPORTS NOW IN LIMELIGHT

Interfraternity sports are holding the spotlight at the Southern Branch, as the fourteen Greek houses are having a merry time in their chase for the leadership and the trophy given to the winners at the end of the season. At present the Delta Rho Omegas are holding a slight lead, due to their copping the tennis tournament, but there are three other houses right behind them.

Bill Ackerman, director of the Interfraternity League, has run off three sports already, namely tennis, basketball and handball, with boxing and wrestling now holding the center of the stage. Each Friday afternoon the fraternity men meet in the gym and renew their old grudges, crossing rights and hooking lefts for two, two-minute rounds. The wrestlers pull and bruise each other for five minutes, and some classy matches have been pulled off.

TIGHT RACE IN LOS ANGELES HARBOR LOOP

Two teams in the Los Angeles Harbor League are still fighting for the top position in the percentage column. The Salt Lake Tigers and Palms are heading the loop, with four and three games won, respectively, and none lost, while the E. K. Wood Lumber nine rank third with one defeat against them, which Palms administered yesterday. Following are the standings:

CHOICE SEATS STILL TO BE HAD FOR GAME

Several blocks of seats for the U.S.C.-Missouri football game at the Coliseum Christmas, were put on sale yesterday at local sporting goods stores. B. H. Dyas, Halbritter's, Cline & Cline, Tufts-Lyon and Spalding's have the tickets. It was stated that the ducats were originally withheld for Trojan alumni, but have not been called for and will be sold to the public at large.

RAIN HALTS STANFORD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 22.—With heavy rains at Palo Alto today Coach Glenn Warner confined Stanford varsity practice to a squad review of movies and slides showing Notre Dame players and plays. The storm tomorrow threatens to interrupt seriously Stanford's preparation for the Irish at the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

Unless the skies clear rapidly tomorrow the fields will become rain-soaked so as to prevent anything but mud workouts, which are not the sort planned by Warner for Coach Knute Rockne.

IN GOOD SHAPE

In spite of several injuries the Cardinals promise to be in as good shape for the East-West clash as training conditions will permit. Capt. Jim Lawson is still troubled somewhat by the arm wrenched severely in the California game, and he has remained out of scrimmage.

But his absence from heavy work is only a precautionary measure. Lawson may be counted on to start at his regular right-end position.

Ernest Nevers's ankles are improving daily, and it appears now that the giant fullback will be half-way in shape for a real game of football. It will be the first time this season. Bill Neill, guard, who was badly crippled in the California game, is also regaining condition.

A cut over his right eye has kept Cuddeback out of hard work for several days, but the "skipper," too, will start at his customary post.

Art Thomas, veteran left end, who has been out of the line-up for more than a month, is recovering only slowly, but it is thought will be ready to work if necessary New Year's Day.

ROCKNE VERSATILE

Coaches Warner, Kerr and Thornhill are planning on meeting no particular type of Rockne attack. The Notre Dame leader is known to be versatile, and to be able to present whatever sort of attack may be best in the face of Stanford's defense. The Stanford effort, therefore, is to strengthen the team at all points possible.

Coach Warner has asked for a slight change in Stanford traveling plans, and it is likely that the Cardinals will leave Palo Alto Sunday to arrive in Pasadena on Monday morning. Originally the schedule called for a shift in the scene of action one day earlier.

Stanford's squad will make headquarters at the Vista Del Arroyo, Pasadena, while the Notre Dame eleven, which will arrive Tuesday, will stay at the Hotel Maryland.

RUSH WORK ON ICE RINK

Palais de Glace Soon to Be Ready for Winter Sports; to Open in January

With the foundation laid, lumber on the grounds for the building and a huge force of workmen on the job, the construction of the Palais de Glace, Los Angeles' ice-skating rink at Melrose and Vermont, is off to a flying start. The Palais De Glace will be completed by the 10th of January and is to be thrown open to the host of eager fans sometime between the 15th and 20th of January.

An idea of the great size of the Palais De Glace can be visualized from the fact that the building will cover an area 140 by 225 feet with a seating capacity for 4500 persons. The skating area will be 70 feet wide by 170 feet deep, one of the largest ice skating surfaces under cover in the country and meeting all requirements for regulation hockey matches.

To freeze this large lake of ice 47,000 feet of welded pipe laid one inch apart are required. The solution tank holds 20,000 gallons of brine which is forced into the pipes, which hold an additional 7000 gallons of brine, by two sets of pumps, control of the freezing surface being had through valves and outlets covering every section of the pipes at frequent intervals. Twenty tons of salt and immense quantities of ammonia are used. This solution will have a temperature of approximately 16 degrees Fahrenheit which insures an evenly frozen ice surface under all weather conditions.

YANKS PLAN EXHIBITIONS

New York American League Team to Play Twenty-five Games on Spring Training Tour

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The Yankee exhibition schedule for the coming spring, which was handed out today by Marcus Aurelius Roth, undersecretary for foreign affairs, contains a list of twenty-five games which the Ruppert Rifles will play between the first call for training at St. Petersburg and the opening of the American League season. The training trip is getting bigger and better every year.

This is probably the most ambitious exhibition schedule the Yanks have ever tackled. When the athletes break camp at St. Petersburg on the evening of March 26, they will see nothing but baseball diamonds and pullman berths for exactly two weeks. This may prove a severe hardship on at least two young men who are fairly prominent among the hired men of Col. Ruppert. Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel are right at home on any baseball diamond, but Pullman berths were never made to fit these boys. Long Bob always has the choice of putting either his head or his feet out in the aisle. As for the Bambino, he always claimed that Pullman berths had the same general defects as the beds in a poor house—the sides were too near the middle.

According to what has now become an annual custom, the Yankees will make their northward jaunt in company with the Round Robins of Squire Ebbets, the Flatbush financier. Seventeen of the twenty-five games on the schedule are listed with the Brooklyn club. The fans in the provinces will have an opportunity to watch the attempts of the Hon. Dazzy Vance, most valuable player in the National League, to fool Mr. G. Herman Ruth, most valuable player in any league at any time.

GREB MAY FACE DELANEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Pete Riley was in conference with Tex Rickard's match-maker, Frank Flournoy, at Madison Square Garden this afternoon; Pete is Jack Delaney's manager and wants to get Harry Greb to step into the ring with his charge. Rickard likes to show Greb in the garden, because the busy little Pittsburger is a good drawing card.

Nothing is official yet about the match, as Greb has not yet signified his willingness to meet Delaney, no date has been set and the whole thing is quite vague.

Mickey Walker declared today that after his bout with Mike McTigue, January 7, at Newark, he will be ready to take on Harry Greb and also Tiger Flowers.

STABLE NOT FOR SALE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—At the office of August Belmont & Co., 45 Cedar street, it was stated today that reports indicating the executors of the will of the late August Belmont had decided to sell the Belmont racing stable were not correct. It was further stated that the executors had not arrived at a decision, and that in view of the value of the property involved a definite decision would not be arrived at for some time.

Al Goullet, veteran six-day bicycle rider, may retire. He has had a brilliant career winning more endurance contests in the last ten years than any other contestant.

OBSERVATIONS

By the INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

Gus Henderson is a worried man. Now it's about that Missouri team and the general belief that prevails around U.S.C. that the Tigers from the Middle West are going to be soft pickings for the Trojans. Gus is afraid first of all that this spirit may get into his gridiron warriors. That would be very painful. Then again he's afraid to have this impression get around for fear of the effect of the result of the game on the public mind. If the good people hold Missouri cheaply, then Gus won't have done anything to brag about if he wins and if he gets licked he'll never hear the last of it. Hence the consternation.

We have no reason to have any better information about Gwynn Henry's eleven than anybody else, but our impression is that the Missourians are a decidedly tough outfit and that they aren't likely to mess up their own chances like Syracuse did. According to those who are acquainted with the Missourians they are a hard-fighting outfit and aren't afraid of anything or anybody.

Indications point to a good crowd at the Christmas Day game. The advance sale has been good and promises to get better—particularly in view of the fact that thousands of people have been disappointed at Pasadena and will want to see a game this holiday season, particularly when they can save a little money by doing so. There ought to be not less than 50,000 spectators at the Missouri game and probably more if the weather doesn't continue to dribble.

Incidentally the wetness seems to be greatly encouraging the backers of the Missouri outfit who seem to think that the Trojans will be handicapped by a wet field. After seeing U.S.C. perform in the slop against Syracuse we're inclined to think that the Trojans can hold up their end on just about any kind of a field, although possibly Missouri will be more accustomed to the slush than our local hopes.

So the Governor has at last made his appointments for the Boxing Commission. That's a good thing and it is interesting to note that he is doing his duty the best he knows how, despite a very decided opposition on his own part to the whole business of fighting. The Governor's nominees seem to be fairly representative and probably are the best available. At any rate he has named them and they have been shoved overboard to either sink or swim—and with them rests the safety of boxing in California.

It is very much to be hoped that inasmuch as they are to license all boxers, managers and promoters that they will take their time about it and prevent the flooding of the State with fly-by-night promoters. Too much boxing would do more harm than good and the public is more interested in getting good fights properly conducted than in seeing any larger number of fistic combats than have been the prevailing thing under the four-round rule.

Mail Last of Grid Tickets by Thursday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PASADENA, Dec. 22.—All 35 tickets available for the Notro Dame-Stanford football game on New Year's Day have been mailed to purchasers, it was stated at Stanford headquarters here this afternoon. It is expected that all pasteboards of all classes will be in the mail by Thursday evening.

In answer to hundreds of telephone and mail inquiries which come into the Stanford office daily, the following announcement was made:

"All tickets are sold as stated in the announcement Friday evening. All the tickets are being mailed to purchasers in order of application. There are no withheld sections. When the last application is filed the remaining orders with checks will be returned to purchasers. Additional applications cannot be received, as they cannot be filled."

GRIZZLY FIVE MEETS SAN DIEGO STATE

San Diego Teachers' College cagers will journey north this Saturday to tackle the fast five of the University of California at Los Angeles. The game will be the first real test that the Grizzly outfit has had this season, for although they have played several games, none of their competition to date has been very strong. The southerners are reputed to have a fast and tricky aggregation of casaba slingers, and they should make the local team extend itself. The game will be played in the Manual Arts pavilion, where the Grizzlies wil lstage all of their games this season. Next Tuesday the U. of C. meets Oregon Aggies' five.

NIXON MAY JOURNEY TO BAJA CALIFORNIA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA COLLEGE (Claremont) Dec. 22.—Eugene W. Nixon, director of Pomona College athletics, may accompany a Pomona college expedition into Lower California when they leave for Mexico and points south of Ensenada next Friday morning. The party is making the trip for research study in botany, geology and zoology. Nixon will make his trip for pleasure more than any other one thing, taking several high-powered shotguns with him in the hope of bagging a few duck and quail.

GRID FANS GET ENTHUSIASTIC

the teams were to meet again. But the fact remains that Chicago did not do it when the opportunity presented itself, and Chicago's record is cleaner than those of other teams that many believe could beat the tigers, so no matter how one figures it, the answer is always Missouri.

Not only this, but the Tigers have made things interesting in every game. Not once have they failed to score. Only two teams have been able to score on them. Nebraska defeated them, 14 to 6, and Kansas City got a touchdown on them. Aside from these two games, they went through without a single point being chalked up against them—a record that looks better than U.S.C.'s. They defeated Oklahoma 10 to 0, after that team had downed Nebraska.

Any team that has as good a record as Missouri's is dangerous, and seems to stand about as good a chance as the next party. This fact is beginning to sink in hereabouts, and as a result the ticket sales are increasing, and a capacity crowd is within reason.

MISSOURI MEN ARRIVE TODAY

will have much more of a break so far as the climate is concerned than they had hoped for. It has been cooler than expected all along the route. At Williams, where it was planned to hold today's workout, the ground was covered with snow and Needles' midsummer temperature also failed to materialize.

The train carrying the Tigers the remainder of the way to Los Angeles was more than an hour late tonight and they are not expected to reach Los Angeles before 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. They will be met at the station and escorted to their hotel by Missouri alumni and tomorrow night will be guests at a dinner at the University Club for which 500 reservations have been made. There will be a workout in the Coliseum at Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon and Wednesday afternoon.

MISSOURI PAPERS ASK ATTENDANCE AT GAME

Telegrams from several Missouri newspapers were received yesterday by Graduate Manager Gwyn Wilson of U.S.C., asking the probable attendance at the Missouri-U.S.C. game Christmas Day. Wilson stated that close to 40,000 will see the game if good weather prevails. Otherwise, the attendance will be close to 40,000. Interest in the game is intense among the Missourians, both in California and in the East. Missouri will be represented at the Coliseum by a giant rooting section of the Missouri alumni and former residents of the Missouri Valley.

Intercollegiate Rugby Football Union will hold its annual meeting in Montreal the 20th inst. Suggestions to Americanize the game will be discussed.

SMALL PROFITS IN LIQUOR SALE

British Columbia Finds its Calculations Off

Most of Whisky Money Goes Outside Province

Government Saloon Revenue Short of Hopes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Dec. 22.—British Columbia electors who thought that their pioneer government liquor control law would reduce taxes and make the consumption of liquor helpful to business, got a rude shock when A. M. Manson, Attorney-General of the province, tabled figures in the Legislative Assembly here showing that about 70 per cent of the money spent in the government liquor stores goes outside the province altogether.

According to Mr. Manson's figures, of the $7,807,265 spent by the government on liquor for resale in the year practically $6,000,000 was absorbed by the manufacturers of liquor outside the province and by Federal government taxes. The manufacturers received $2,886,947 from the provincial government and the Federal government $2,923,720 in import duties, a total of $5,810,667.

Thus, the Attorney-General stated, when a British Columbian buys a $5 bottle whisky at a government store under the impression that he is swelling the revenues of his province quite substantially, he really is contributing $3.32 to the manufacturers and the Federal government. Of the $5, $1.64 goes to the distillers and $1.68 to the Federal government. In other words, 66.4 per cent of the money leaves British Columbia.

Plans for providing easier drinking facilities for thousands of American tourists who come to this province every year are going sadly awry here. That the Legislature will reject by a substantial majority the proposal that beer be sold by the glass in bars instead of being confined to government stores is the confident prediction of prohibition members of the Assembly. A vote on this scheme will be brought on soon.

DEER SITUATION WHERE IT BEGAN

"Wouldn't Herd," is Alibi of Arizona Drivers

Thousands of Dollars Lost in Kaibab "Fiasco"

Plan for Slaughter Also Fails of Solution

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Dec. 22.—The Kaibab deer situation is just about where it started last summer, the main difference being that snows now lie deep over the plateau and the deer thus are enabled to range much farther afield. Until the last week they have been found around the springs, water holes or the few brooks. The absence of grass makes little difference to deer as long as there is brush to nibble.

The much-advertised "deer drive" was a fizzle. Many are the alibis brought back by the sportsmen, cowboys, film men and writers who have been stringing into Flagstaff for several days past, but the chief reason seems to lie in the admission that "deer won't drive." That much had been declared a month ago by State Game Warden Willard, while Gov. Hunt also was dubious, though he had offered $2.50 a head for all the deer that George McCormick might deliver in the forest south of the Grand Canyon.

DEER LEAP CORDON

When the Navajo herders closed in with their cordon, the deer are said to have leaped all obstacles in the fright of their flight and to have disappeared in the snowstorm that came in most opportunely. Very few were "bunched," and it was determined early that the expected 5000 animals would not be gathered—probably could not be. There had been hope that several thousand would be urged into a canyon that leads to the Colorado River and thus would be more readily held.

Weather conditions were the worst known for years in the canyon country. Assertion is made that the range of vision was hardly 100 feet after the lines had been established. The deer bands also had been scattered by the first snow flurry and the animals were to be found mainly in "draws," where they could find shelter from the wind and cold.

FEW ARE KILLED

The drive idea was based upon a declaration by the National Park Service that the Kaibab reserve was overstocked and that the deer were beginning to die of starvation. Cure for this was believed best secured by the slaughter of possibly 10,000 animals. This has been started in the western division of the reserve, but hardly with the enthusiasm anticipated. Reports indicate that hardly more than 1000 deer will be killed in the season that has been left open by the State authorities till January 5. Sportsmen are charged $5 by the park service, $1.25 of the sum going to the State.

Several thousand dollars will be lost by McCormick and his backers and, probably even more by the motion-picture people, with inclusion of Zane Grey, the novelist. The Navajo Indian herders were allowed to leave the reservation only after their agent had assured himself than their pay was on deposit in a Flagstaff bank. Adventurers from all parts of the State joined the drive, only to be stranded a week's ride from the railroad. Happily, food and clothing were not lacking and, with experienced leaders, the expedition is getting back with no record of casualties or accident and with only tales of hardships that came with the snow.

BEAVER DAM CHANGES DIRECTION OF STREAM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LA CROSSE (Wis.) Dec. 22.—A colony of thirty beavers, the first seen around here for more than a half-century, has built a dam in a tributary of Black River north of New Amsterdam, diverting the stream so that it now runs in an easterly direction instead of southerly, as before. Farmers in the vicinity are fearful lest their land become flooded if the animals continue their work, and have applied to the State Department of Conservation for advice. Beavers are protected by law in Wisconsin despite the damage they do to forests in the construction of their dams.

POLICE BRUSH UP ON MARKSMANSHIP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON, Dec. 22.—All Boston police officers have been ordered to take up intensive practice with the revolver and rifle as the result of a series of hold-ups, shootings and other crimes which culminated recently in the shooting of two policemen when they interfered in a hold-up in the Back Bay District. Every policeman, from the oldest veteran to the youngest rookie, is included in the order.

The city has taken advantage of the offer of Gov. Cox, who threw open the rifle and revolver ranges in the Commonwealth Armory free of charge for the use of the police.

ARIZONA UNIVERSITY DISMISSALS BACKED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Dec. 22.—The directorate of the Arizona industrial congress, following a meeting in this city, has passed a resolution formally indorsing the actions of the Board of Regents and president in increasing the efficiency and raising the scholastic standards of the University of Arizona. This action is considered as an answer to criticism made by a national professors' organization against dismissal of certain members of the university faculty.

WIDOW WOULD SUCCEED KAHN

Says Close Association Fits Her for Responsibility

Matron Long in Touch With Work of National House

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Florence Prag Kahn, widow of Congressman Julius Kahn, who died at his home here last Thursday, announced today that she would accept a nomination to succeed him in Congress.

"Since Mr. Kahn's death I have been altogether shocked to think of the future," Mrs. Kahn said. "But my friends and Mr. Kahn's friends have impressed me with their arguments that my close association with Mr. Kahn's work made it more or less mandatory that I accept the responsibility of continuing it for the good and welfare of his constituency.

"For years I was closely associated with his activities, and for the last eight months, during his illness, I was in still closer touch with his work. In view of this I feel that I owe it to his constituents to step into the breach and continue the efforts which Mr. Kahn so loyally extended in behalf of his district, his city and his country."

Mrs. Kahn attended every session of Congress to which her husband was called and was always consulted by him in relation to his Congressional activities. Her mother, Mrs. Mary Prag, is a member of the San Francisco Board of Education.

ASHER CASE TESTIMONY COMPLETED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—Taking of testimony in the trial of James L. Asher, prohibition agent, known as the "Lone Wolf," for second-degree murder in connection with the death of Peter Yancauskas, a saloon keeper, during a raid, ended today in the Federal District Court after it had been alleged that one of the witnesses for the prosecution had offered to sell out for $1000.

The same witness, Irwin Jenkins, testified that Friday two prohibition agents had offered him $300 to leave the jurisdiction. Today William J. Calhoun, a member of the prohibition intelligence unit, stated that Jenkins had said he was not present during the struggle in which Yancauskas is alleged to have received fatal injuries, and that Jenkins expressed willingness to accept $250 on account after making the offer to leave the city for $1000.

Asher is charged with having kicked Yancauskas during a raid on the latter's saloon. Yancauskas died two months later of peritonitis, which the prosecution claims resulted from injuries inflicted by Asher.

Wool Survey of World Points to Larger Supply

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—An increase in the world supply of wool for 1924-25 was indicated today in reports to the Department of Agriculture. Although there are more sheep in the United States this year than last, the American wool clip is expected to show a decrease because of poor feeding conditions.

Australia's wool crop is expected to be increased 220,000 bales, or 52,000,000 pounds of scoured wool over the preceding year. An expected increase of 2,000,000 pounds also was reported from New Zealand.

MAINE POTATOES FIND NEW MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON, Dec. 22.—O. J. Bishop and L. J. Bean of Presque Isle have cabled cheering news from London to the potato growers of Aroostook county. There will be a market for Maine potatoes in England for, by the first of February the crop in England will be used up. The Aroostook county men sent a shipment of potatoes to London a short time ago and went across last week to see if they could find a further market.

The surplus of potatoes in Aroostook and the stock used in starch manufacture have been taken care of, so that those who have been able to hold their crop will get a better price. The report comes that the English people like the samples of Maine potatoes and wants more of the same equality. It it said that the English potatoes and those coming from France are soggy compared with the Maine variety.

SCALP DISEASES CURED BY X-RAY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Dec. 22.—X-rays have added another cure to the long list. Now it is a children's scalp disease, which fills Paris hospitals with youngsters, that has succumbed to the powerful beams. The rays cause the hair to die and a new crop comes forth which is free from disease.

Dr. Sabouraud of the Hospital St. Louis is the discoverer. He declares that within a few years of continuous treatment by the X-ray the disease will be wiped out, as vaccination has spelled doom for smallpox.

HERRIOT SEES NO RED PERIL

French Premier Discounts Communist Talk

Asks Foreign Correspondents to Disregard Rumors

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Dec. 22.—Premier Herriot, who has been ill for a number of days, received the Paris representatives of the foreign press this evening to discuss recent rumors regarding Communist uprisings. He requested the correspondents to send out the following statement:

"I had the pleasure the day before yesterday of receiving your confreres of the French press, and I took advantage of the opportunity to give them some explanations concerning the supposed Communist peril that has been reported as menacing our country. False news was being spread in Paris.

"That is why I apply to you, who are sincere friends of France, and ask you not to allow to be created abroad an idea that France is at grips with great social difficulties and menaced with imminent and grave troubles.

"Since the end of hostilities, France has not ceased to work to heal her wounds. She lives in absolute calm. She has not known—she shall not know—any violence.

"Assuredly there exists a Communist party in our country, as in many other countries, but it is far from increasing its forces. It sees them decrease. It has only a few representatives in Parliament. The Communists ran up against the robust good sense of our rural districts and the clearsightedness of our laboring population. That party is no more active today than formerly. It tried to mobilize its forces and organize a vast meeting Sunday. Its numerous appeals, however, resulted in bringing out this year less than half the number that responded last year.

"I told your French confreres that the government would be able to repress with the greatest energy any attempt that might be made to disturb the peace. But I have a firm conviction that such a thing would not happen. "Don't allow to be propagated false news meant to mislead. Help us to destroy these false reports, not only in the interest of our country, but in the interest of truth. You know that I am working for general pacification. It is a work that interests all the nations of the world. I ask you to give that work your hearty co-operation."

JAPAN NAVY CRAFT PUSH ON TO CANAL

Three Vessels of Training Squadron Two Days Ahead of Announced Schedule

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The Japanese training squadron en route to Balboa, C. Z., the Navy Department was informed today, will reach that port two days ahead of its announced schedule.

The three ships, carrying 300 Japanese midshipmen on a practice cruise, are now expected to arrive at Balboa on the 29th inst. They have left Mexican ports on the last stage of the journey.

Navy Department advices did not say whether the Japanese squadron would advance its departure from Balboa and also reach San Francisco, the next American port of call, ahead of schedule. It was believed by navy officers, however, that the ships would prolong their stay in the Canal Zone and leave for San Francisco on January 16, their previous sailing date.

Robber Returns His Plunder as Christmas Gift

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MACKINAW CITY (Mich.) Dec. 22.—Cecil Hunt, automobile salesman, believes in Santa Claus or, at least, in the Christmas spirit. A week ago an unidentified robber took $600 in money and $5000 in negotiable securities from Hunt. Today when he went to his office he found a bundle tied to the doorknob. It contained the securities and a note reading as follows:

"Sorry, but I need the cash. Maybe you can use these. Hope there are no hard feelings. May your Christmas be merry."

Boykin, Fulton Superior Court, announced tonight. "Insufficient legal evidence" was the reason assigned for the action by the Solicitor. He also stated Gordon Dickson, a former representative of Eblin & Co., New York, of which Eblin is a member, had assumed all responsibility for business done in this city by the firm. Dickson recently pleaded guilty to an indictment and was fined $500.

Whistling Creek Lures Seventh Person to Death

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AUGUSTA (Ky.) Dec. 22.—The mournful sound caused by Snag Creek, the mysterious whistling stream which empties into the Ohio River not far from here for the seventh time in twenty-five years has overtaxed human endurance to the point where relief was sought by self-destruction. The sound by the creek is so distressing that in the last quarter of a century twenty-five persons have been driven insane by it. The seven suicides were persons who had lost their reason because of the constant whistling noise of Snag Creek, according to popular belief.

The latest victim is Henry Heaveren, 41 years of age, who hanged himself at his home on Snag Creek. It is a peculiar fact that each suicide has chosen hanging as the mean of self-destruction.

Heaveren's mother some time ago hanged herself while four members of another Snag Creek family have ended their lives by this means.

The peculiar whistling noise is said to be created by an underground passage and has a particularly depressing influence.

HIGHWAY PROMOTERS WANT RECOGNITION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PAMPA (Tex.) Dec. 22.—F. P. Reid, president and general manager of the Fort Elliott Highway Association, has appealed to the Highway Commission of Oklahoma to designate that section of the Fort Elliott highway that lies in Oklahoma as a State road. The Oklahoma commission has designated the western section of the Postal highway in Oklahoma as a State highway. The Fort Elliott highway connects with the Postal highway at Elk City, Okla., and extends from that city to Amarillo, Tex., touching Wheeler, Mobeetie, Pampa, White Deer and Panhandle in Texas. The length is about 160 miles and of this probably forty miles has been hard-surfaced.

NOGALES AS ESPEE MEXICAN GATEWAY

ROAD SAID TO HAVE USE OF NATIONAL TRACKS INTO CAPITAL

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GUADALAJARA (Mex.) Dec. 22. When the trackage arrangement by which the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico will operate its trains over the National Railways of Mexico between La Quemada and Mexico City, via Guadalajara, goes into effect, much international traffic which now passes to and from Mexico at Eagle Pass and El Paso will be diverted to the Nogales gateway, it is expected.

The recent successful conclusions of negotiations by H. B. Titcomb, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico, with the National Railways, by which the use of the latter's track for the Southern Pacific's trains into Mexico City was obtained may mean that the original plans and concession for the construction of its own line to the capital will not be carried out by the Southern Pacific.

Notwithstanding the many tunnels and other heavy work that is being encountered in the construction of the extension of the Southern Pacific from Tepic to La Quemada, the line will be finished in about fifteen months. It is stated that practically all international traffic originating in or destined for the western part of the United States will be diverted to the Nogales gateway by the Southern Pacific instead of passing through El Paso and Eagle Pass, as at present. Through train services will be operated between Los Angeles and Mexico City.

ESCAPE DEATH IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

TUCSON (Ariz.) Dec. 22.—On the Florence Road has occurred what is described as a lucky accident, in which an automobile turned over four times, finally landing on its wheels, without serious damage to itself or its three occupants. The car was owned and driven by W. E. Hamer, a Superior mining man. He and T. W. Toney escaped with bruises. Miss Wilda Toney sustained a fracture of an arm.

BANDIT BEAUTY HAS PARISIANS ALARMED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Dec. 22.—Enter the bandit beauty into Paris Apache ranks! Mrs. Yvonne Daissot, 19 years of age, heard a knock at her door, opened it and was faced by a pretty girl who sought to sell her a sewing machine.

Unable to make a sale, the visitor pinned Mrs. Daissot's arms behind her back, bound her hand and foot and then calmly ransacked the apartment. There have been similar cases, and Paris is wondering who is next.

CHINA STUDENTS ON STRIKE OVER BIBLE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEKING, Dec. 22.—Yale College, in Changsha, Hunan Province, chiefly American endowed, has been closed by a strike of students against the American faculty. The walkout was due to the insistence by the teachers on Bible study being included in the scheduled hours, which the students regard as an arbitrary imposition of western beliefs upon the Chinese.

BUSINESS WITH RUSSIA GROWS

Cotton Chief Export; Furs Main Import

Total for First Nine Months of Year $51,363,060

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—This country is selling more goods to Russia, Asiatic and European, than it did in prewar days, acording to some remarkable statistics made public today by the Russian information bureau in this city. The bureau is headed by Boris E. Skvirsky, official trade representative of the soviet government.

Mr. Skvirsky presents figures to show that during the first nine months of this year American goods were exported direct to the countries of the soviet union to the value of $43,662,979 and that in the same period, the United States imported from those countries goods to the value of $7,700,081, a total trade of $51,363,060.

SELLING MORE

According to the statistical abstract of the United States, the total trade of the United Sates with these localities in 1913 amounted to $51,266,017, of which $26,909,707 consisted of exports from the United States and $24,-277,070 of imports into the United States.

Put another way, this country is selling more goods to Russia than in prewar days, but buying less from that country.

Mr. Skvirsky goes even further than this. His totals, he says, "represent only the volume of the direct trade between the two countries as effected through New York corporations engaged exclusively in the Russian trade, such as the Amtorg Trading Corporation, the All-Russian Textile Syndicate, Inc., the Centrosoyus America, Inc., and the Allied American Corporation. No exact figures are available for purchases and sales between the soviet union and the United States which were concluded in Moscow, Berlin, London, etc. According to conservative estimates, the amount of such transactions may be safely placed at about 10 per cent of the totals shown above, thus bringing the total trade turnover for the first nine months of this year to about $57,-000,000."

Raw cotton is by far the leading commodity sold to Russia, the values for the nine months of cotton alone being $39,750,000. Agricultural machinery and implements come next, $1,816,099. Miscellaneous machinery and equipment were exported to the value of $1,270,797; leather, chemicals and drugs, $683,-976, and office supplies, including typewriters and calculating machines and sundry articles $141,-107.

COTTON MAIN EXPORT

"As may be seen," declares the Skvirsky statement, "the main commodity exported from the United States to the soviet union was cotton. The cotton exports were handled chiefly by the All-Russian Textile Syndicate, its share in the exports amounting to $37,000,000. The bulk of the trade turnover outside of cotton exports was handled by the Amtorg Trading Corporation, its share in the total turnover amounting to $10,404,642. The Centrosoyus America follows with a turnover of about $2,200,000."

Furs constitute the chief imports from Russia into the United States, the value of these for the nine months being $7,204,416, bristles, cavair, mushrooms, casings, potash, hemp and flax, medicinal herbs and roots, and art and handicraft goods making up the balance.

PLANS APPEAL ON VOTE COUNT

Pennsylvania Democrat to Carry Fight Higher

State Committee Extends Financial Support

Congressional Seat is at Stake in Battle

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—Officers of the Democratic State Committee at a meeting today decided to lend its financial as well as moral support to Warren Worth Bailey, Democrat, in carrying his contest for the Congressional seat from the Twentieth Pennsylvania District to the United States Supreme Court or to Congress, "if it should be necessary."

Mr. Bailey, with his counsel, attended the meeting and completed arrangements for the appeal.

On the face of the return sheets from the November election, Anderson H. Walters, Republican, had a slight majority over Bailey, but when twelve ballot boxes were opened and the votes counted, Bailey had a lead of fourteen votes.

Walters's contention that the ballot boxes were illegally opened was sustained in the Cambria County Court with a judge appointed by the State Supreme Court from another county sitting as the third jurist. Bailey then appealed to the State Supreme Court, which in a three-to-three decision allowed Walters to retain the certificate of election. On Saturday the State court refused Bailey's petition for a reargument of the case.

State committee officers expressed the opinion tonight that permission for an early argument would be obtained from the United States court.

DAM HEARINGS WILL END SOON

Senate Committee Expected to Finish Wednesday

Boulder and Canal Measure Action Deliberate

Little Likelihood of Vote at This Session

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Developments before the Senate Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation in the Boulder Canyon dam and all-American canal legislation indicate that the hearings will be finished Wednesday at noon. Individual expressions from members of the committee indicated that the Senate will not be hasty in passing on this legislation and that the prospects for any passage in either House or Senate of the pending legislation in its present form at this short session of Congress are remote. Several members of the Senate will block any action on the Colorado River save flood control alone until the Colorado River pact is ratified by Arizona and the rights of the northern States on the Colorado River are protected.

Nothing new was developed by the committee today, the four witnesses practically repeating in detail their pleas presented before the House Committee on Irrigation which still has the bill before it.

CARR TELLS NEED

The first to appeal was State Senator Carr of Pasadena, one of the consistent advocates of municipal operation of utilities, who explained the need for greater domestic water and power supply for cities and towns in Southern California and Arizona. He advocated the building of the dam at Boulder Canyon as provided in the bill now before the committee and gave reasons why no delay should be made in providing an adequate supply of water for the city dwellers together with a great supply of electrical power.

W. B. Mathews, water attorney for the city of Los Angeles, testified in like manner and showed the emergency demand of the city of Los Angeles for a greater water supply and that the growth of Los Angeles and suburban territory in population had crowded the present aqueduct to almost the limit of its capacity long before the original time predicted when the Owens River supply was first taken through the aqueduct 224 miles at a cost of $25,000,000.

CANYON BACKED

Mathews was followed by A. P. Davis, former chief engineer and director of the Reclamation Service and now consulting engineer for the city of Los Angeles. He reiterated his previous facts and figures in favor of both the all-American canal and a combined power, irrigation and flood-control dam at Boulder Canyon.

In answers to questions from members of the committee he emphatically said that Boulder Canyon was the most practical and feasible location and advocated that the entire project be built at one time where the storage of water would not interfere with any productive use of the land at the present time and where the power generated would be easy to market and domestic water be made available for Los Angeles, with sufficient water power from electric plants at Boulder Dam to pump the water thirteen feet over the peak and 200 miles to the Los Angeles reservoirs.

TABLES SHOWN

Former Chief Engineer Weymouth of the Interior Department, now practicing as a private engineer in Philadelphia, delivered a long statement and various comparative tables showing that in his judgment the Boulder Canyon dam was the best of all the suggested sites on the Colorado River for the combined purposes of flood control, irrigation and power development.

Assistant Chief Engineer Panter of the Los Angeles municipal power and water service will be called tomorrow, together with Ralph Criswell of the Los Angeles City Council and Dr. Durand, an engineer of Stanford University, now in New York. Mark Rose and witnesses from Santa Ana and other cities in Southern California will also be called tomorrow morning, tomorrow afternoon and Wednesday morning. Chairman McNary was positive that the hearings would be finished Wednesday at noon.

A bank having at heart the welfare of its customers does not place the receiving of deposits and lending of money above assisting its patrons to map out a definite line of action which will bring to them an increase in business and income.

The officers of the Seaboard National Bank realize that any man or firm operating without a well worked out plan for profit making and expense elimination is doomed to failure.

All of the officers of the Seaboard National are accessible from the lobby of the bank and are pleased when they are called on for information, advice or counsel, the soundness of which is made possible through experience and close touch with financial matters.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Inglaterra Niega Que Haya Enviado una Nueva Nota

LONDRES, Diciembre 22. — La Gran Bretaña no ha enviado ninguna nueva nota a los Estados Unidos, referente a la elevación de su artillería naval, ni sobre la reforma de sus barcos de guerra, que usan carbon como combustible, para ser transformados de manera de que usen petróleo. La única nota enviada hace diez meses era un informe amistoso exponiendo los puntos de vista ingleses respecto a las estipulaciones contenidas en el tratado de Washington, de donde se esperaba que originara una discusion entre ambos gobiernos.

El gobierno americano no dió contestación a la referida nota; desde entonces, el gobierno de Lóndres no ha sabido que haya habido nada extraordinario en este asunto, aun cuando considera posible que algunas discusiones sobre el caso hayan tenido en el Departamento Naval de Washington, con el attaché naval inglés, después de haberse iniciado la campaña para aumentar la marina. De todas maneras, no hay dato alguno aquí para juzgar que tenga fundamento la versión de que la Gran Bretaña ha presentado una protesta al gobierno de los Estados Unidos.

También se niega que haya sido enviada una nueva nota de Inglaterra, sobre las deudas interaliadas o sobre las reclamaciones americanas, por gastos en sus fuerzas de ocupación; ni se cree que haya cosa alguna sobre estos asuntos, hasta que se reunan los Ministros de Finanza en París, el 6 de enero del año venidero.

Los Comunistas Intentaban Echar a Perder la Navidad de los Burgueses

VIENA, Diciembre 22.—Con el maligno propósito de que los "burgueses" no pudieran disfrutar de sus esparcimientos de Navidad, echándoles a perder sus preparativos, los comunistas de Viena movilizaron a todos los elementos que están sin trabajo, para hacer una manifestación tormentosa. Hubo algunos choques con las fuerzas de policía de esta capital, de donde resultaron muchos contusos y un gran número de detenciones. Estos acontecimientos no impidieron que la gente continuara sus compras de Navidad, y los almacenes céntricos se ven, como de costumbre, llenos de clientela. Los sueldos que están ganando los trabajadores en la actualidad, son, por término medio, de $6 a la semana.

CHICAGO, Diciembre 22. — Una verdadera lluvia de oro ha caido en las cajas fuertes de los comerciantes de esta ciudad, con motivo de las compras de Navidad. Los gerentes de "Loop Department Stores" tienen la certidumbre de que en este año las ventas locales han pasado de $100,000,000 y creen posible que lleguen a $125,000,000 para fin del presente año.

Y no se crea que en Chicago han empezado su romería los clientes de los almacenes a última hora: desde mediados del pasado mes de noviembre, la corriente de compradores no se ha llegado a interrumpir. Solamente en lo que se refiere a equipos de radio, se calcula que se han vendido algunos cientos de miles; lo que da una idea de la magnitud de las compras para obsequios de Noche Buena.

NOTAS LOCALES

El Brillante Porvenir de la República Argentina

J. Nelson, de nacionalidad inglesa, quien visita actualmente Los Angeles, ha hecho muy interesantes declaraciones sobre la República Argentina, donde el informante posee grandes extensiones de terrenos.

Asegura el Sr. Nelson que la Argentina es capáz de alimentar una población de 250,000,000. "La gran mayoria de los ciudadanos de los Estados Unidos,"—dice el Sr. Nelson—"no tienen la mas ligera idea de los inmensos recursos naturales de aquel país. Probablemente es el que tiene un area mas extensa y no interrumpida, de terrenos fértiles, como no los hay, en tal cantidad, en el mundo entero. Todo lo que se necesita es que haya quien los cultive, para producir enormes cosechas."

El agricultor argentino no sabe si corresponde a la Argentina o a los Estados Unidos, el derecho, por razón de sus recursos naturales, de ser llamado el primero del Nuevo Mundo. Desde luego que, en la actualidad, el desarrollo de ambos paises no puede compararse, ya que tampoco admiten comparación 10,000,000 de habitantes de aquella Republica con 115,000,-000 de los Estados Unidos; pero tiene la certeza de que la inmigración, que está llenando la Argentina a gran prisa de colonos, acabará por igualar en habitantes y en importancia agricola a este país.

El precio del trigo ha subido ultimamente en la Argentina, debido a una larga sequía que han experimentado por allá; en la actualidad el precio que guarda este cereal es mas o menos igual que en los Estados Unidos.

MONEY TO BURN IN CALIFORNIA

Speaker Declares State in Fine Condition

Forecasts Rapid Development of Farm Land

Advises Fostering of Factory Enterprises

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Dec. 22.—With money declared so plentiful and so cheap that bankers throughout the country are actually refusing deposits, Everett A. White of Santa Ana, president of the California Real-Estate Association, in addressing members of the Ontario Realty Board in session this afternoon at the Hotpoint Club, expressed the belief that California today is on the eve of the greatest farm-land development in the history of the State.

Instances were recited of 5 per cent loans going begging and of banks refusing to accept deposits, one Ontario banker present admitting having recently refused a term deposit of $30,000.

Mr. White took the view that this accumulation of money was bound to result in increased business in the near future, and he declared that much of it was already going into farm-land development, there being the greatest interest in this line of activity since the World War. The speaker also emphasized the importance of fostering industry development, declaring that the fruit men of California have recognized this need in order to have a greater industrial population for the consumption of their products. He recited that during the present year 600 new manufacturing concerns have been started in Los Angeles and he commended Ontario on the city's industrial progress, pointing out the benefit to a community of diversified industries.

Mr. White referred to the distribution of propaganda maligning California, which he declared widespread throughout the Middle West and East; but gave it as his opinion that the reaction would eventually prove beneficial to the State. In touching on the diversification of products the speaker quoted experts who predict that within three years California will become the second greatest cotton-producing State in the Union, and pointed out the importance of manufacturing that cotton here.

NAVY LIKES FIELD

To Build Hangars at Long Beach Municipal Airport

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 22.—That the Navy Department will take over a portion of the Long Beach municipal aviation field which was formally opened yesterday was indicated here today by Squire P. Duree, director of recreation.

Admiral S. S. Robison, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Battle Fleet, acting on recommendations made by naval aviators who participated in the two-day aerial rodeo that ended yesterday, has made known the department's intention to erect hangars on the new field for airplanes attached to the fleet, it was said.

Lieut. A. J. Shell of North Island, one of the participants in the air meet here yesterday, told city authorities today that the new field is remarkable, in that it provides landing facilities from four directions.

HAVE WILD RIDE

Autoists Carried Down Steep Mountain Grade

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, Dec. 22.—Frank Talbott, local mechanic, and J. M. Hollingsworth, his father-in-law, had a miraculous escape from death, sustaining only minor bruises and scratches, when the tow car in which they were riding turned turtle four times and slid 123 feet down the grade of the old California Hot Springs road yesterday afternoon. Damp earth caving caused the accident, according to report.

Hollingsworth was thrown clear on the first turn, while Talbott remained at the wheel until the fourth or final throw. The machine lodged against a tree and suffered only a broken wheel. Beneath the tree was a much greater slide to the canyon. The men were hunting and returned here this morning.

TRAFFIC OFFICERS ASK COURT FOR PAY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

FRESNO, Dec. 22. — Within a few days Fresno county will face suit for $1441.30, claimed due as salaries of eleven members of the former county traffic squad for services during last March. On the advice of Dep. Dist.-Atty. E. N. Clark, the Board of Supervisors has rejected the claim which was presented by G. J. Mohler, acting for himself and the ten others. Clark says the county is seeking a court order in the matter following the action of the District Court of Appeals in granting a similar application in Humboldt county recently.

The claim asserts that the men were employed by the District Attorney, which, Clark claims, meets the issue on the Humboldt county case. The period covered by the claim was under a makeshift employment of the squad after the Supreme Court had abolished the forces maintained by the counties as unconstitutional.

Gas Explosion Wrecks Plant at Bakersfield

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 22.—One man was seriously burned and damage estimated at more than $3000 was caused by an explosion and fire which today partly destroyed the New City Cleaners' plant at 1021 Eighth street. The injured man is J. J. Mahler, one of the proprietors.

He is at the Bakersfield Emergency Hospital, painfully burned on his arms and head, but with more than an even chance of recovery, according to hospital attendants.

Mahler was working with tubs of gasoline in the rear cleaning-room of the building. Suddenly there was a blinding flash and a sheet of flame swept the room. Mahler, dazed by the explosion, kept his presence of mind sufficiently to stagger from the room.

VETERINARIAN INJURED

Veteran Practitioner Bitten by Ferocious Dog

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Dec. 22.—Dr. Frank Griffith, Kings county live-stock inspector, and probably the oldest in practice of any veterinarian in the San Joaquin Valley, was bitten through the thumb by a German police dog, brought to him from Coalinga for treatment. The dog was frothing at the mouth and had other evidence of the rabies. His head was sent to the State university for investigation and a report is expected daily.

Sheep-killing dogs have been giving the live-stock inspector much trouble of late, for they run amuck at night and are hard to identify.

A sheep raiser south of this city lost twenty head of sheep in one night by the prowlers. County ordinances requiring all dogs in the county to be tagged, were not enforced after the foot-and-mouth disease broke out in adjacent counties, but, the live-stock inspector states, they will be again put into full force.

CONTAGION STOPS CHRISTMAS FROLIC

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Dec. 22.—Owing to several cases of smallpox here, the Christmas celebration and pageant which were to have been held at the community center grounds on Christmas Eve, have been abandoned.

While the situation is not alarming it is felt that by calling off the affair which would have meant a large public gathering a possible spread of the disease may be prevented. Several cases of a mild form of the disease have been reported, mostly from the Mexican settlement, and every precaution has been taken to check its spread. Four actual cases have been found, but it is said that there are others and that the persons afflicted are attempting to keep out of sight to avoid quarantine.

POMEROY TO QUIT COUNTY'S SERVICE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 22.—Harold L. Pomeroy, county horticultural commissioner, tendered his resignation to the Board of Supervisors today to become effective January 15. The resignation came as a surprise in official dom. Mr. Pomeroy could not be prevailed upon to reconsider his action. He explained that he had been offered a more lucrative position with a fruit company and in justice to himself, he could not afford to continue in the county employment.

GIN AND MOONSHINE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAFT, Dec. 22.—Raiding the laborers' quarters on a company lease at Taft, three deputy sheriffs arrested two men and seized more than five gallons of gin and moonshine whisky, according to the Sheriff's office today. The two men, R. E. Campbell and A. O. Ely, were arraigned before Judge Stinchcomb at Taft and pleaded not guilty. They were released under cash bail.

SCREW REMOVED FROM THROAT

Long Beach Baby Undergoes Unusual Operation on Bronchial Tube

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

LONG BEACH, Dec. 22.—In an operation declared to be most unusual, a wood screw one and a half inches long was removed today from one of the bronchial tubes of James McGinn, 18 months of age.

The child had been suffering for days with what appeared to be broncho-pneumonia and was being treated by Dr. R. H. Shippey. Dr. Shippey yesterday decided there must be some irritating substance present and had an X-ray taken.

The screw disclosed, the operation was performed at Seaside Hospital by Dr. Albert Schurten and is apparently successful.

The child is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McGinn of 2120 East Anaheim street.

Drop Case of Service Man at San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 22.—Chief of Police James Patrick and Police Judge Claude Chambers today refused to prosecute Edward E. Lester, World War veteran, who was one of the leaders in the recent "rebellion" of government patients at the Alpine Sanatorium, and who was temporarily held on charges of disturbing the peace at the United States Naval Hospital.

The complaint against Lester was filed by Dr. A. L. Derryshire, head of the Public Health Service here, who said the veteran was verging on insanity. Lester was turned over to the City Tuberculosis Clinic for treatment.

ONTARIO DWELLING DAMAGED BY FIRE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Dec. 22.—Fire of unknown origin this afternoon wrought damage to the two-story frame dwelling of F. H. Thierman, 1506 North Euclid avenue, estimated at more than $3000.

The fire apparently started in the attic and when discovered the roof was a mass of flames. The Ontario fire department did good work in preventing the spread of the fire to the lower floor, but the second story and its contents were practically destroyed, and much of the remaining portion of the house badly damaged by smoke and water.

Miss Jean Glenn, a stepdaughter of the owner, who was in the house at the time the fire was discovered, could throw no light on its origin. The house, which was among the oldest in the city, was known in the early days as the Jackson place. Mr. Thierman recently purchased the property from V. B. Marrs, who is now residing in Hollywood. So far as could be learned this evening, there was no insurance.

MAY ANNEX TERRITORY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 22. A petition for annexation of territory east of this city has been filed with the City Clerk, and that official has been instructed to ascertain if it contains the required number of signatures. The territory included in the petition is bounded on the east by Boyle avenue, on the west by Arbutus street, on the north by Slauson avenue and on the south by Baker avenue. It will be reported on by Clerk Hunter at the next meeting of the Trustees.

Tulare Pioneer Hurt in Smash Much Improved

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, Dec. 22.—Fred Ackerman, 65 years of age, well-known pioneer, who last night was believed dying as result of injuries sustained when the car in which he was riding yesterday was struck by a Southern Pacific train near Terra Bella, now has a decided chance for recovery, according to Dr. S. A. Barber, attending physician.

August Shank, local banker, Ackerman's companion, sustained only minor injuries and is much improved.

The men were returning from church and were so engaged in conversation they failed to notice the train, which, according to report, signaled to no avail. Their car was wrecked but the men were hurled clear, the train backing up and bringing them to Porterville where they now lie in the Porterville Hospital.

Ackerman is severely cut and bruised about the face and head and remained unconscious much of last night with a high temperature, internal injuries also being feared. This afternoon he is conscious and it is now believed shock was largely responsible for last night's critical condition.

Shank sustained only a scalp wound and a sprained ankle. Ackerman has a daughter, Mrs. E. G. Hall in Boston, and another, Mrs. Cecil Martin in Honolulu, his wife is at his bedside.

LOST HIS CHRISTMAS

Thief Takes Packages Before Owner Opened Them

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

REDONDO BEACH, Dec. 22.—For a week past K. G. Wingo of 400 Camino Real, this city, had been looking with longing eyes at a number of packages that had come to him from his family and friends "back East." Each bundle was marked, "not to be opened until Christmas."

When he went to his apartment late last night he found a litter of wrapping paper on the floor. Every package had been opened and the contents taken.

When he called up the Redondo police station to report the theft, the officer on duty mechanically asked: "What did you lose?"

"I don't know," was the sad reply. "All the articles were Christmas packages."

EVERYBODY PICKS ON POOR LITTLE HUENEME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Dec. 22. — The poor little town of Hueneme, on the coast, about four miles north of Oxnard, is always being done out of something. The town was nosed out by a small per cent in the contest for the biggest registered vote out of the total number of voters registered at the recent election, winning second place instead of first. Now comes the report that the town was entirely left off the great relief map of the State in the Ferry Building at San Francisco. Supervisor L. F. Rousey of this district discovered the error and reported the matter to the proper authorities who said that the town would immediately be placed on the map. The only thing that shows on the map is the Point Hueneme lighthouse. Hueneme is destined to be one of the most important points along the shore through the advent of the new coast highway.

POWER EXTENSION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

FRESNO, Dec. 22.—Preliminary work on a transmission line of the Southern California Edison Company, to extend from Big Creek to Los Angeles, is being done by four crews of men. One crew is stationed at Reedley, another at Orange Cove, and the others at Lemon Cove and Squaw Valley.

A new generating plant that will be completed by July is being erected by the Edison company in the mountains above Big Creek. The line will be about 250 miles long when completed and will be the third line owned by the company between Big Creek and Los Angeles. It will have but ten "dead ends," while the present lines each have about 1500.

OFFICER KILLS SUSPECT

Deputy Sheriff's Bullet Fatal to Mexican Who Attempts to Escape Arrest

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, Dec. 22.—Manuel Diaz, notorious border character, is dead today following an attempt to avoid arrest. Deputy Sheriff Buck Dobbs killed the Mexican with a sawed-off shotgun when he resisted the officer's request to throw up his hands and attempted to escape.

The officer said he found Diaz with another Mexican in the act of stealing a load of baled hay on a ranch near the international line. He arrested Diaz's companion, a mere youth.

Diaz has been sought for years, according to Sheriff Gillett, for various offenses, including cattle rustling. He has resided along the border continually and at times is asserted to have employed his sons in various adventures in which the authorities appeared at a loss to trap them. Deputy Sheriff Dobbs was recently assigned to the work at the border, with orders to stop thieving in that vicinity at all hazards. He said he had been on the trail of Diaz for several weeks, but the latter had usually managed to escape across the border each time the officer came upon him.

Hold Services in Memory of Dead Officer

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TULARE, Dec. 22.—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow afternoon, from Goble parlors for William ("Bud") Wiles, well-known former Tularean and chief prohibition officer of Kern county, who was shot to death Friday noon when he attempted to capture an asserted bootlegger near Woody.

Wiles made his home in this city for a number of years. Later moving to Wasco, where he was constable for eight years. He more recently resided at Bakersfield where he was employed as chief prohibition officer of the Kern County District Attorney's office.

The body will be laid in the family plot in Tulare Cemetery.

READY FOR GUESTS

Inglewood Opens Nice New City Jail

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 22.—Inglewood is to have a Christmas present of a perfectly good new jail, now rapidly approaching completion. "Just in time for the Christmas rush," according to Assistant City Engineer David Donaldson, who drew the plans and supervised its construction by day labor.

Those who observe the holiday season by imbibing contraband liquor, not wisely, but too well, will now have a comfortable place in which to meditate. Chief Charles H. White of the police department is planning for a housewarming on Christmas Eve, as the jail building also includes the police station.

GLENDALE WOMEN REMEMBER VETERANS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Dec. 22. — Four hundred veterans of the nation's wars, now confined at the hospital at Sawtelle, will receive gifts from the patriotic organizations of Glendale on Christmas morning, following a period of work by fifty women of this city who met at the Tuesday Afternoon Club today to pack boxes that will be sent to gladden the ex-service men.

Fruits, jellies and various presents were included in each box and these will be taken to Sawtelle in time to be distributed among the veterans before Christmas.

The joint committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, president of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, has plans under consideration to render similar services to the sick men at Sawtelle throughout the year.

FIND LARGE STILL UNDER FULL STEAM

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Dec. 22.—Descending on premises at the rear of 134 West Elk street, Glendale police officers, led by Chief John D. Fraser, captured a still of twenty-five gallons capacity in full operation and also found 150 gallons of whisky.

Emilio Ramelli of that address, who was arrested earlier in the day on a charge of transporting liquor, is held under $2000 cash bail. Ramelli, who is said to have been arrested here before, will face charges of manufacturing, possessing and transporting liquor and destroying evidence.

GAS FUMES FATAL

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 22.—Charles R. Keen, 70 years of age, of 1121 Pacific avenue, was found dead today from monoxide poisoning beside a burning gas heater. He was last seen alive Thursday and is believed to have perished that night. The body was found by H. T. Morgan of 2323 East Fifteenth street, a city fireman and son-in-law of Keen, who came to investigate his absence from duty as a city sanitary department employee. The body was sent to Mottell's morgue.

NEEDS NO ATTORNEY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

FRESNO, Dec. 22.—Accused of driving an automobile while drunk, Mrs. G. Mull denied her guilt in Superior Judge J. E. Woolley's court and startled court attaches by announcing that she would be her own counsel. When the court offered to appoint an attorney for her she announced she wanted none.

Her case was set for trial January 2.

MAN TELLS STORY OF PRIVATION

Warm-Hearted Policemen Find Job for a Would-be Suicide

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 22.—When W. A. Davis, 31 years of age, left his wife and two children at their home late Saturday night and sallied forth with a gun in his pocket, he had no definite plan of action, but he was determined that things were going to change and change suddenly. The family had been low on food for several days, rent was due and Christmas was coming on. To hold up and rob a man on the street would bring a few dollars for the wife and probably jail for him. To send a bullet through his own brain would mean death for him and probably a few dollars in life insurance for the family.

He selected the latter course and was looking about in an alley for a place to carry out his plan, when officers took him into custody as a robbery suspect. The gun in his pocket convinced police he was a burglar and Davis went to jail.

A scribbled note to his wife found in his pocket in which he outlined his plan and bade his family farewell started things, and when arresting officers questioned Davis they heard a story of poverty, illness and hard luck that aroused instant sympathy among the policemen.

Small of stature, not very strong, and with no skill, Davis in desperation entered the ring at a near-by boxing arena not long ago and took a most brutal beating for the few dollars that the arena management paid him. With both eyes nearly closed by the blows of a skilled pugilist, with his face swollen and his body a mass of welts, Davis took the money and purchased food for his wife and children.

Police investigated the story and found it to be true. Today Davis has money and a job, and Christmas holds promise of a visit from Santa Claus at the Davis home on San Diego avenue in the harbor district.

DETERMINED TO DIE

Sick Man Fails to Tell That He Took Poison

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 22.—Death was much easier than prolonged unending illness for Fred L. Uhl, 46 years of age, who died at Community Hospital early this morning, the result of poison taken yesterday at his home, 1769 Freeman avenue. Suffering intensely from the effects of the drug, Uhl kept his own counsel and it was until he was writhing in agony that members of his family called a physicians, believing his illness had become acute.

Even when the physician arrived Uhl failed to make known the cause of his suffering and it was not until several hours later, at the hospital, that he admitted that he had taken poison with suicidal intent. The body is at the McFayden undertaking rooms. Uhl, an oil-well driller, is survived by his wife.

BOLD ROBBER MAKES WAY WITH REGISTER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, Dec. 22.—One of the most daring hold-ups on record in this city was accomplished here last night by a lone bandit, who held up and robbed a Standard Oil service station of a cash register containing $72. The bandit, who was armed with two large-caliber revolvers, came and departed on foot, witnesses assert. When he left he carried the bulky cash register under his arm.

W. M. Britton, manager, was the only one in the station when the bandit walked up. Britton was commanded to throw up his arms and told that if he made an outcry or attempted to follow he would be shot to death. The service station is located at Huntington Drive and Garfield avenue. Officers W. A. Wells and George Hudson are investigating the hold-up.

OPPOSES ANNEXATION

Election to Develop Spirited Contest

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 22.—On the eve of an annexation election, scheduled for tomorrow, opposition has developed to the proposed joining of Santa Anita and University tract with the city of Pasadena. These two sections would increase the size of Pasadena by 320 acres.

Although a favorable vote is expected to result at tomorrow's election, a small group of citizens headed by D. T. Grout have announced the side of the anti-annexationists. Relief of the water shortage, which would be overcome by the move, does not outweigh the increased taxation and other burdens the new tracts would assume, Mr. Grout asserts.

IMPERIAL VALLEY FIRE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CALIPATRIA, Dec. 22.—Fire believed to have started from an overheated oil stove burned an entire block here today with an estimated loss of $20,000.

The fire was threatening the business district when Brawley and El Centro fire departments responded and extinguished the flames.

DUCKS POOR ICE SKATERS

Cold Weather Makes Feathered Tribe Change Plans

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 22.—Cuyamaca Lake, sixty miles east of San Diego, is frozen over for the first time in several years, to the surprise and consternation of thousands of wild ducks which make the lake their winter quarters.

As a result of the ice, the ducks have come to the lakes nearer the ocean, but incoming ducks from the north, attempting to alight on the frozen surface, skid and slide many yards. Many auto parties visiting the snow belt yesterday found much amusement watching the antics of the birds when they struck the ice.

Officers Fire Bullets Into Fleeing Auto

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Dec. 22.—Refusing to halt when called upon by Police Officer Dan E. Caldwell, 1271 Linden avenue, drew a fusillade of shots from officers George Noble and W. E. Rogers, one bullet piercing the crankcase of his automobile and another shattering the window of a store at 119 North Brand Boulevard.

Caldwell was being pursued by Lieut. Louis Nunn and Officers A. M. Larson, in a police automobile, who believed they were on the trail of Curly Richards, said to be wanted in Los Angeles for shooting a police officer. The police had been notified that a man giving the name of C. E. Richards had taken out a rent car and had paid the charges on it with a check that was supposed to be worthless.

The description of the man tallied with that of Curley Richards, and when Caldwell passed the officers in a car answering the description given by the owner of the rental service, they started in pursuit with their siren going. Caldwell, who halted when the bullet went through his crankcase, told the officers that he thought he was being held up.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

FAMED SKIPPER ON INITIAL VISIT

Riol First of Five Vessels Added to Express

Capt. Richard Daniels, said to be the only American skipper commanding a German ship and incidentally a famous man as seafaring men go, paid his first visit to Los Angeles Harbor yesterday on the bridge of the new Roland liner Riol. In addition to inaugurating the augmented European Pacific services of the Roland Line, the Riol brought news of the German government's new plan whereby German hausfraus will order American food by mail and have it delivered to their doorsteps by fast freight steamers and a local system of distribution.

Back in the '90s Capt. Daniels was a mate on Gloucester and Newfoundland schooners and later sailed on windjammers in the New York-River platte trade. He jumped into forecastle fame in 1900 as mate of the barkentine Glen Rosa, when he and the captain quelled a mutiny with a case of Geneva rum, after both officers had been seized by a starving crew.

In 1903 he was decorated by the German Emperor, when, as captain of the German bark Silo, he saved his entire crew after the ship was dismasted and foundered during a typhoon in the China Sea. One seaman whose arm had been broken by a falling block Capt. Daniels kept afloat on a piece of wreckage for twenty hours until rescued by a Japanese steamer.

Capt. Daniels and his chief engineer, John Jansen, were interned at Chilean ports for six years during the World War, being officers of German steamers at the opening of hostilities.

The Riol, one of the newest German freight steamers, is the first of five ships being added to the European-Pacific express freight service maintained by the Hamburg-American, United American and Roland lines.

TANKER BEDFORD PULLED OFF BENCH

The Standard Oil tanker E. T. Bedford, which ran hard aground on a submerged bench being dredged in the outer harbor channel late last, was pulled free by Red Stack tugs early this morning. After a short survey, she was pronounced seaworthy and proceeded for New York with approximately 136,500 barrels of oil.

One billion in 1924, a slogan coined by the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, was realized yesterday when the one billionth foot of lumber was landed at Gray's Harbor. A ship is scheduled to sail with the last of the lumber cargo for Los Angeles Harbor.

The Prentiss, first vessel of the joint service of the Los Angeles and Royal Mail to and from San Diego a westbound port of call, discharged 1600 tons of cement there yesterday and is due at Los Angeles today with 2000 tons of coke, pig iron, gasoline, glass and canned goods. The Howrah is due to leave here on the 26th inst. for Europe, making Hamburg a port of call under new arrangements.

Weather in Swan Falls, B. C., so cold it shattered steel was described by Capt. Tait of the London Lumber Company steamer Prospector, here for cargo of newsprint and lumber. For five days the plumbing and sanitary facilities on the ship were frozen, Tait said.

Capt. C. B. McMullen, just out of hospital after a protracted siege, possessed his intention of remaining his own skipper by resuming the surveying and similar service at Los Angeles Harbor. He formerly was associated in marine surveying with Capt. Middleton, but the firm of Middleton & Strong, recent Capt. Middleton has been a master, his last ship being the West Chosaka, the last ship built by the United States Shipping Board, which he commanded until a year ago.

Effective January 1, the General Steamship Corporation will inaugurate local service for the Nelson Steamship Company, according to Capt. W. J. Stofen, local representative of the Company. The Bonanza Line operates a regular weekly freighter service on a fortnightly basis, sailing at Los Angeles.

The new Vner Aerongi, largest seaplane in the world, just completed her trials successfully at Glasgow yesterday and will sail for Vancouver, B. C., via Los Angeles, January 2, it was reported yesterday by local agents of the Union Steamship Company of Vancouver, which will ship the plane to Kingston, Jamaica, and Panama en route, and on arrival at Vancouver will inaugurate her new service between British Columbia and the Antipodes. She is expected to bring more than 600 passengers to this Coast. The ownership is of 21,000 tons gross, 600 feet long, and has accommodations for 140 first-class, 500 second cabin and 500 third-class passengers. Whether there may be remodification of her British tonnage rings largely, it is said, on the trip of the Aorakai and the economy of operation expected.

The Mariposa States Steamship Company, Capt. Juan de B. Bonilla, arrived from the South yesterday with additional reports that the Ozanam's story of fire was largely a joke. Capt. Bonilla said he saw the Ozanam's oil tanker, and the damage was confined to the liner's galley. The Chilean disembarked two passengers and twenty-eight men for Central American exchanges, and sailed last night for San Francisco.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—A new service to Central American ports will be inaugurated by the French Line, with the sailing of the French steamer Ionia from this port January 7, it was announced today by Jean Bonnet, representative of the company. The service will be one way, however, as the French Line boats will stop at the principal Central American ports only on the westward voyage to pick up shipments of coffee for European delivery and to deliver shipments from San Francisco.

The advisory rate committee of the westbound intercoastal conference has approved a suggestion by hardware jobbers of the Pacific Coast that a regrouping and changing of hardware items in the westbound tariff be made. The application has been forwarded to the westbound conference in New York.

SEATTLE, Dec. 22.—The steamer Cadorata arrived today from San Francisco with general cargo, assigned to the Nelson Steamship Company. Outward she is to load nearly a full cargo at Puget Sound ports for gulf ports.

The freighter A. L. Kent docked here today with 1200 tons of general merchandise from Atlantic ports for the Matson-McCormick service. She is to complete discharging tomorrow and shift to Tacoma to load outward.

SPANISH TROOPS DEFEAT REBELS

Warships Drive Moroccans Into Interior

Flying Squadrons Are Sent to Protect Roads

Outbreak Not as Serious as at First Feared

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MELILLA (Spain) Dec. 23.—The Spanish columns under command of Gen. Saro and Col. Pinto have met with success in their operations against the rebellious Anjera tribesmen. A report here today said heavy punishment had been inflicted by the Spaniards on the rebels.

TETUAN, Dec. 22.—The outbreak among the Anjera tribesmen has turned out to be less serious than was at first believed, although it is still causing considerable preoccupation of the staff of Prime de Rivera, the Spanish military dictator, who is in personal charge of the Moroccan campaign.

The columns, composed mainly of the foreign legion and native regulars, prepared immediately upon receipt of the first news of the Anjera trouble to start out from this district. One column, under command of Gen. Saro, met only slight resistance and the tribesmen confined their activities to sniping at the Spanish bivouac during the night.

The other column, under Gen. Franco, met a strong force of tribesmen and heavy fighting ensued.

Warships shelled the rebels from off shore, causing them to retire to the interior. With the large Spanish force now concentrated at Tetuan, since the Spanish recognition from Chechaucuen, Gen. Prime de Rivera has been able to send flying columns to carry out the necessary operations for the punishment of tribesmen and to provide the necessary protection for the Tangier, Tetuan and Ceuta railroads.

CONFERENCE ASKS DEATH TAX CHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HARRISBURG (Pa.) Dec. 23.—Repeal of all State "death taxes" on personal property of nonresident decedents was recommended to the legislatures of all States which these laws are in effect by conference of members of the Pennsylvania Tax Commission and tax experts from four other States—New York, Delaware, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Kentucky were the other States represented.

The resolutions held that "in the judgment of this conference, death taxes on personal property of nonresident decedents are contrary to sound public policy, and as proposed at the present time, result in a greater burden upon the estates of decedents than the revenue to the States justify."

Such taxes, the conference declared in its resolutions, should be reserved to the State government and to the State in which the decedents lived. With reference to inheritance or other death taxes in general, the conference recommended that "inasmuch as the Federal government entered this field because of war emergencies it should now withdraw, and leave to the State exclusively this much needed source of revenue."

Said bonds will be in the denomination of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each, and one bond may be in a sum of not less than Three Hundred Dollars ($300.00.) Said bonds are numbered consecutively, and bid to be in coupon form. Interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from date of issuance will be payable annually on January 1st of each year, beginning with the year 1926.

Said bonds will be payable on or before the 1st day of January, 1945, and are subject to call in their serial order by the County Treasurer of Cowlitz County, Washington, whenever, after the first coupon date, there shall be money in the bond redemption fund of the district, over and above the money for the payment of the outstanding bonds, to pay one or more bonds at the par value. After publication of notice prescribed by law the bond or bonds will be payable at the place fixed in the bonds and interest thereon shall cease to run from said date; provided, that the largest amount of the entire issue called in the respective years shall not be in excess of the following bond redemption amounts:

| 1926 year | 10% |

| Interest and 5% of principal | 1935 |
| Interest and 5% of principal | 1936 |

Interest of said bonds payable at the office of the Treasurer of Cowlitz County.

Said bonds will be paid by assessments upon the property in the district which is included in said district and which is liable until said bonds are paid. These lands include approximately seven thousand (11,000) acres, more or less, no part of which is in the City of Longview with the exception of the industrial development property including the lumber manufacturing plants of The Long-Bell Lumber Company now in operation.

The proceeds of said bond issue is the purchase of warrants and the payment of charges representing the cost of construction of certain dikes and drainage improvements in said district, already constructed by the County Commissioners of Cowlitz County and the property of said district and pursuant to Chapter 6 of Title 27 of Remington's Revised Statutes of Washington, outstanding warrants amounting to Seven Hundred Ninety-three and Nine Hundred Ninety-seven and Fifty Cents ($2,797.-50) issued thereon to January 1st, 1925, amounts to approximately One Hundred Thirty-four Thousand ($134,000.00.) The laws of the State of Washington relative to the assessment of property for the payment of bonds to be represented by warrants issued, to cover contingent warrant interest, are therefore estimated at Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000.00) in the amount of approximately One Million Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($1,223,-000.00) advance payments as hereinafter referred to.

Reports on the creation and organization of said district and the issuance of warrants has been made by Messrs. Goodfellow, Eells & Orrick of San Francisco. It is proposed to sell and deliver the bonds on or about April 20th, 1925, when and if said improvement has been completed.

Under the laws of the State of Washington, opportunity to make application for reduction of assessments will be given property owners in the district during a period of thirty (30) days after the issuance of bonds. Bids are invited for any amount of bonds as may be required to redeem the remaining outstanding warrants, and to pay interest and expenses as may accrue against the construction district, after application of payments so made.

Bids must be addressed to the Board of Cowlitz County, Kelso, Washington, contained in sealed envelopes and marked "Bids for Bonds of Consolidated Improvement District Number One of Cowlitz County." Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check upon a responsible bank or trust company, payable to the County Treasurer of Cowlitz County, Washington, for the benefit of the district as liquidated damages in the event of the acceptance of any bid and the failure of the bidder to purchase said bonds at the price named in his bid within the time specified. The check of the successful bidder will be retained upon acceptance of his bid, and upon the delivery of said bonds and the furnishing of a bidder's bond satisfactory to the Board of Commissioners of Cowlitz County.

The right is reserved by the County Commissioners of Cowlitz County to reject any and all bids, to waive technicalities, to take into consideration in connection with the best bid the financial standing of the respective bidders as well as the amounts of their bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners of Cowlitz County.

SAVINGS DEPOSITS SHOW GAIN

Tremendously Increased Purchasing Power of Los Angeles Citizens Noted; Merchandising Possibilities for 1925 Depicted as Propitious

During the past seven months while bank clearings were registering a decrease from the corresponding period in 1923, savings deposits in Los Angeles banks recorded a consistent growth, indicating to the vice-president of one of the largest financial institutions of the Southwest that residents of this district have built up a stupendous reserve of purchasing power, and one which, as is usual under favorable conditions, will be released with the complete stabilization of business conditions.

It is the theory of the banking authority that the decrease of bank clearings in Los Angeles during the months from May to November, inclusive, is nothing more than an index of business inventory and retrenchment. Yesterday, with the totaling of savings deposits for the purpose of computing the semiannual interest due on January 1, 1925, it was revealed that the money withdrawn from circulation in commercial channels has largely gone into the savings bank vaults.

That the purpose of this generally accepted era has been accomplished, and that retail sales and business transactions of larger magnitude once more are attaining the complexion of 1923, the banner boom year, are noted by the banker in the November clearings, which showed a decreased percentage loss from the comparative declines of September and October from the same months last year.

This further is attested by the report of the California Development Association last week on bank clearings for the first three weeks of December, showing a $10,000,000 increase over the identical weeks in 1923.

TIME LENGTHENED

As an inducement to winter visitors to Southern California, several Los Angeles banks have been advertising that savings deposits may be made up until January 10, 1925, and interest will be paid on them as of January 1. This is held by some to constitute more of a service than a business stimulant, and by others is designated as a loyal act toward the Southland.

Explanation of the latter phase might be gained from estimates on the number of visiting motorists this year as compared with last, offered by the Automobile Club of Southern California. It is: "Within the last thirty days the increase over 1923 has been tremendous; its continuance during the next ninety days will place the winter season at the head of the column."

Reasons for the decline are cited in the number of State misfortunes which provided fodder to eastern newspapers for adverse comment, and which only now are being overcome by promulgation in various forms of the true conditions of affairs.

OPTIMISM PREVAILS

With the knowledge that the permanent residents of Los Angeles have greatly added to their purchasing power during 1924, and with all signs favoring a large influx of tourists during early 1925, it is the opinion of the merchandising manager of one of the largest and oldest department stores in the city that a fertile field awaits the retailer.

In a summary of the year's merchandising business yesterday, this analyst cast backward no pessimistic glances. He predicted that the close of 1924 will leave the sales sheets with a substantial gain over 1923. Collections were declared fair, the gift sections are reporting a splendid holiday business and wearing apparels, particularly those for men, were experiencing a splendid turnover.

"Lots of encouragement" was held out for the new year. Ample moisture was said to already have influenced buying, and with sufficient power to keep the local manufacturer more than supplied, any unemployment now existing is expected to be gradually taken up, completing the chain of favorable circumstances now being noted.

The merchandising manager also reported a tendency for prices to mount, but nothing drastic might be expected.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: Comparatively narrow demand developed for steers. However, demand broadened somewhat for she stock, but only a partial clearance was effected in both divisions at generally steady prices. Today's receipts were only moderate. However, they were augmented by approximately 650 head over from last week. An eight-car string of medium 1060 to 1070-pound steers cleared for 4.75, while a few small lots for slaughter purposes sold downward to 4.50. A sizable string of light southeastern feeders went over for 5.25.

Fat cows in load lots topped for 3.25, two loads of 1037-pound Colorado cows making that price. Wire stock offerings were mostly common and medium kinds and the bulk cleared from 4.00 to 4.50. Canners and cutters held about steady, most going over from 1.75 to 2.25. Bulls were scarce and ruled firm, best bolognas clearing from 2.50 to 4.00.

CALVES: Active demand at unevenly 25 to 50 cents higher prices developed for sealers on the early rounds. However, trading slowed up considerably toward the close. Lead lots of 235 to 270-pound southwestern calves cleared from 6.85 to 7.00, while heavier weights averaging upward to 375 pounds and very common kinds cleared from 5.50 to 6.25.

HOGS: A good portion of today's estimated run was still back. However, active demand at 35 to 50 cents higher prices developed for today's moderate offerings and a good clearance was effected. Good and choice 175 to 196-pound eastern grain feds topped for the day at 11.00, while the bulk of 145 to 196-pound butchers went over from 10.50 to 11.00. Strong weight slaughter pigs, light lights and mixed butchers cleared largely from 9.10 to 10.25. Packing sows gained around 25 cents, the bulk clearing from 8.00 to 8.75.

SHEEP: Active demand at 25 to 50 cents higher prices developed for today's run in the ewine division, eight decks of the twelve being ewes. One deck of medium to good 69-pound California lambs cleared for 14.25. This price also was paid Saturday for two decks of 69-pound California weoled lambs. An eight-deck string of good 117-pound California ewes cleared for 7.75 straight. The remaining three decks of lambs were not highly desirable for slaughter purposes and remained unsold at a late hour.

BANKS DECLARE HOLIDAY BONUS

Several Thousand Employees Receive Awards

First National and Associate Institutions in Van

Cinema Finance Corporation Pays Dividend

Three banks, the First National of Los Angeles and its affiliated institutions, the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank and the First Securities Company, the Bank of Italy and the Merchants' National Bank, yesterday announced Christmas bonuses. These are in addition to half a dozen or more Los Angeles banks which previously have taken similar action.

Exactly 2285 officers and employees of the First National Bank, the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank and the First Securities Company will receive one-half of one month's salary in addition to a bonus paid during the first half of the present year.

The gift will be received by all officers and employees up to a certain grade who have been with the institution for a full year. Those whose service is less than a year will receive a sum apportioned according to the number of months they have served.

Distribution of $225,000 at the holiday season to employees of the Bank of Italy was authorized by the directors under provisions of the bank's extra compensation plan.

SERVICE EXTENDED

In addition to its stock ownership and extra compensation plans, the Bank of Italy provides sick benefits for all of its employees, as well as a pension plan for the retirement of those who have an extended record of service. Group life insurance is also a feature of the plans prepared for the bank's personnel.

"Operation of our extra compensation plan will not be interrupted by the recently adopted stock ownership arrangement, James A. Bacigalupi, president of the bank, asserted. "The provisions of our various employee benefits have been framed so that each one is a unit in itself, yet all are in a measure interdependent.

PLAN OUTLINED

"Our extra compensation plan gives to each one participating in it, a definite percentage of the employee's salary, starting at 5 per cent for those who have been associated with the bank for one year, and increasing 1 per cent each year up to 10 per cent. From that point on the amount remains fixed at 10 per cent each year."

In line with its traditional policy, the Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles presented employees, including junior officers, with a 5 per cent Christmas bonus. The bonus is based upon the amount of salary each individual was paid during the past year. Approximately 225 employees received the gift.

Extra Dividend Paid

The Cinema Finance Corporation, at the monthly meeting of the board of directors just held, declared its regular 2 per cent quarterly dividend on the outstanding preferred stock, payable January 15, next, to stockholders of record as of January 1, and, in addition, authorized the payment of 50 cents on each share of the corporation's outstanding common stock.

The directors of the corporation are: John E. Barber, Maurice Barber, Lawrence Barker, Garrettson Dulin, George Farrand, Motley H. Flint, John B. Miller and Dan Murphy.

The officers are: George E. Farrand, president; John E. Barber, vice-president; Garrettson Dulin, treasurer; Maurice Barber, secretary and general manager, and John Hauerwaas, assistant secretary and assistant general manager.

SPicer Expands

The Spicer Manufacturing Corporation is building a new plant at Reading, Pa., for the production of automobile frames. The construction of this plant is necessitated by and, is the result of the steadily increasing demand for trucks and the new demand for busses, which in turn increases the demand for frames. This corporation makes all the frames for White Motor Company, Mack Trucks, Inc., Pierce Arrow and Autocar Company. No new financing will be necessary in connection with the building of this new plant.

Bank Branch Moves

The Pasadena branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank opened in its new banking quarters at Colorado and Marengo yesterday morning after having transferred without mishap millions of dollars in money and other valuables.

Nearly 10,000 persons visited the new banking quarters in the recently completed eight-story Pacific Southwest Building on Friday and Saturday morning. Every known modern feature of banks is included in the banking room.

ASPHALT SALES EXPAND

Oil Companies Push Side-Line; Road Programs Utilize Large Amount; Heavy Crude Needed

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Like the meat packers, the copper and brass manufacturers and other industries utilizing every possible by-product to swell the total amount of net income, the petroleum companies are not overlooking the minor phases of the business. Of late the sales of fuel oil to motorships have commanded a certain amount of respect when the results appear in the income account, and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey some time ago developed a lucrative trade in supplying illuminating oil to the Chinese. In California, however, two of the major companies have turned to road and highway construction as offering just as satisfactory a field for their endeavors even though the industry is so old that it is traced to the kings of Babylon, who laid the first asphalt pavement.

Manufactured from the residuum of petroleum after the extraction of the other products, the alphalt has, until a few years ago, been something of a waste. Since the great majority of the western crude oil is of asphalt base, two of the companies, the Standard Oil Company of California and the Union Oil Company, have taken advantage of the present era of highway development to form departments to aggressively push the sale of asphalt for road building. California is particularly a fertile field, having a total of 70,000 miles of road of which a small proportion is paved.

OUTPUT LARGE

This year, it is estimated by F. P. Smith, Jr., asphalt engineer of the Union Oil Company, that the manufacture of asphalt for all purposes will approximate 400,000 tons. About 5 per cent of this amount is utilized by the roofing companies, a smaller percentage in other branches of industry, and the remainder in the construction and resurfacing of roads and highways.

Right now, because of the preponderance of light oil production in Southern California, there is something of a shortage of heavy oil for the manufacture of asphalt. Montebello, largely drilled by the Standard Oil, is the chief source south of the Tehachapi, but the greater amount comes from the Kern county field, near McKittrick. On the Gulf Coast, the Texas Company is a heavy producer, selling about 225,000 tons annually, and in the East, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey markets approximately 450,000 tons each year.

Determined competition is met by the oil companies from the cement people, who are active in bidding for highway work. However, the field offers excellent possibilities, and in the opinion of Mr. Smith, the asphalt pavement is making satisfactory progress. He cites figures from the United States Bureau of Public Roads, showing that there are about 2,819,356 miles of country highway in the United States, of which he estimates about 340,000 miles are surfaced with gravel up to and including the highest type of asphalt, brick, block and concrete.

The Union Oil engineer's faith in the future of the paving line is expressed in this statement:

"Even if we place the estimate of adequately paved country highways at 100,000 miles, it yields a percentage of only 3½ per cent of the total. When it is further considered that very few of our roads are wide enough, and that many have to be conserved with the addition of a new surface course, it becomes evident that we have merely crossed the threshold of highway construction and improvement in the United States."

IMPORTANT SOURCE HERE

Southern California's road and highway program alone is of considerable importance to the oil companies selling asphalt. In 1925 the city of Los Angeles and nearby municipalities will spend $100,000,000 in the opening and widening of roads, construction of storm drains, etc. The 1923 expenditures in Los Angeles under public contract are estimated at near $3,000,000. This does not include the large amount done under private contract by subdividers.

The oil companies find customers for asphalt in several lines of industry. The product is used as a coating for reservoirs, to waterproof and strengthen commercial fabrics and sheathings, such as roofing and building papers, wallboard and cork insulation. Substitutes for linoleum are also made from asphalt, and certain grades of the product are manufactured into mineral rubber. Large quantities are sold to tire manufacturers.

About 10 per cent of asphalt manufactured in California is exported to the Orient and South America, where road improvement campaigns are under way.

Another beneficiary of road construction work is the bond house specializing in the distribution of road bonds. An executive of Elliott & Horne Company, Los Angeles street improvement bond specialists, estimates that the 1924 expenditures in California for roads will total from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000, of which road bonds were issued to the amount of $30,000,000 to $40,000,000. Approximately 25 per cent of the cost of the work is paid in cash by the property owner when the warrants are issued.

HEATERS IN DEMAND IN COAST AREA

Electrical Sales Show Increasing Volume Over United States

The cold snap over the Pacific Coast area has produced heavy electric heater sales, but stocks are still in good shape. Sales in the electrical industry throughout the country are in good volume as indicated by the weekly survey of Electrical World, New York.

The industry has been purchasing much more extensively. A steel company is expected to place orders soon for more than $600,000 worth of switchboard and control equipment in connection with orders recently placed for plant electrification. A manufacturer who has just returned from a trip through the Middle West states reported that he found on talking with several customers that many plans are now definitely advancing and that business is generally much better.

Copper products have increased this week, owing to the rising copper market. The railroads have been very active in purchasing equipment and rails. The New York Central placed an order with the General Electric Company for nine new electric locomotives. Steel operations have increased steadily, and in the last week are said to have been approximately 80 per cent of capacity. For the first time in many months several mills are failing behind in bar deliveries.

In New England, lighting equipment sales for industrial, commercial and residential uses are in good volume and better business continues. There have been more inquiries for quotations on large jobs in the New York district than for a long time, and good sales are generally reported. In the Southwest, sales are quiet, but some good orders were received from central stations for poles and pole-line hardware, and the demand is good for safety switches. Business is still improving in the Middle West and there has been an active demand for cable.

Brokerage Firm Pays Christmas Bonus to Force

Employees of E. F. Hutton & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, have been paid one month's salary as a Christmas bonus, it was announced yesterday by Robert E. Burns, resident partner. The distribution affects the company's offices extending throughout the country, including about 200 employees in eleven cities on the Pacific Coast.

The company maintains offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton, Del Monte, Long Beach, Pasadena, Hollywood, San Diego and San Jose.

This year the brokerage houses on the Pacific Coast with eastern wires handled the biggest volume of business in their history. The bonus is paid to the employees, Mr. Burns said, in recognition of their efforts in handling this record-breaking volume.

Executives of the other two wire houses in Los Angeles said yesterday that no information on bonus action yet had been received from eastern headquarters.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Spot cotton closed fifteen points net higher at 24.10. The cotton futures list reacted moderately today after an initial upturn, then steadied and closed just above its lows of the session, but 2 to 13 points net higher. Moderate accumulation of buying orders over the week-end advanced the list some thirty points before the gains were largely reduced by scattered profit-taking and hedge selling.

BUILDING BONDS ARE ANNOUNCED

Investment Firms Offer Issue Based on Pacific National Bank

An issue of $1,350,000 Pacific National Building Corporation first closed mortgage 6½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds due December 1, 1939, is offered at 100 and interest, yielding 6½ per cent, by the bond department of the Bank of Italy, and Blyth, Witter & Co.

The bonds are secured by a first closed mortgage on the property located at the northwest corner of Ninth and Hill streets, conservatively appraised at $950,000, which is to be improved by a limit-height office building of Class A steel-frame construction, containing modern equipment and of imposing design, to cost in excess of $1,450,000. This will give a total value of approximately $2,400,000 as security for the issue.

Beginning at the end of the first year bonds will be purchased in the open market in graduating amounts from $4000 to $10,000 every month for sinking fund purposes. Estimated earnings are in excess of $308,000.

Full protection on fire and earthquake insurance will be taken out, and all legal proceedings are subject to the approval of Loeb, Walker & Loeb of Los Angeles.

Application has been made to the Superintendent of Banks to certify the bonds as a legal investment for savings banks in California.

Shipments of Navel Oranges Move Earlier

With shipments the earliest on record, the Central-Northern California navel crop will yield 6000 cars for the season, according to Dana C. King, orange sales agent of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. At least 90 per cent of these shipments will have been moved as of the 10th inst. in comparison with last season when less than half of the crop had gone forward on that date.

Sizes have been considerably better than last season and are very desirable on the whole, Mr. King said. The grade and eating quality have been excellent and the fruit has carried less thrip damage than in most years. Color is reported not quite as high as in some seasons. The markets have been very discriminating on color and maturity. Well-matured fruit of satisfactory color has brought good prices, while anything pale and immature lacked buyers.

Arrivals in the market immediately after Thanksgiving were heavier than the demand, so that it was necessary to hold shipments on track unsold, awaiting the demand for Christmas distribution. Every indication has been that the crop will bring better prices than last year and that the market will be strong just previous to Christmas, rather than being sluggish as is sometimes the case when oversupplied.

Due to a better organization of the Florida situation, also the prevalence of smaller sizes in Florida fruit, there has been more regulation of the shipments from this State and the market to date has been on a decidedly better level than last season, which, of course, has been a favorable influence for California fruit.

Machine Trade Aided by Auto Makers' Orders

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. — Placing of good-sized orders by Michigan manufacturers of motor cars and accessories and the prediction that Canada, owing to increasing prosperity, soon will be a generous buyer of American manufacturing equipment, were outstanding features of the machinery and machine tool market in the week just ended, the American Machinist reports. In the market generally, the Michigan orders, which are subject to confirmation with New England and Ohio machine tool builders, are taken to be at least signs that marked activity will feature the beginning of 1925 in the motor-car industry.

Reports from the Middle West state definite improvement already has shown itself in the machinery and machine tool lines. The outlook is reported brighter than at any time in the last two years. Eastern machinery men report buying has been noticeably inactive in the last week, but are optimistic. Automobile builders and accessory makers continue to plan expansion to go into effect after the first of the year. Steel mills, including those of the United States Steel Corporation, continue active. All mills are reported to be receiving orders which insure steady work for a long time to come.

First in the United States

Founded in 1880 in a one-room store, BARKER BROS. INCORPORATED, has today become the largest retail home and office furnishing institution in the United States, doing a business considerably in excess of $1,000,000 per month.

In order to provide adequate quarters for this tremendous and growing business, the SUN REALTY CO. will erect a magnificent new eleven-story building having a frontage of a full block on Seventh Street, from Flower to Figueroa Streets.

This building, together with the valuable leasehold interest in the real property, will constitute the strong security for SUN REALTY CO. First Mortgage Leasehold 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, due 1945, which we are offering at par and interest, to yield 6.50%.

The entire building is leased to BARKER BROS. for thirty-five years, at a rental which assures a net annual income of approximately three times the maximum annual interest charges, and nearly twice the average yearly principal and interest requirements on this issue.

Additional data regarding this unusually strong Los Angeles building bond will be gladly furnished on request. Call in person, telephone BRoadway 0327, or write.

Why You Should Take a January Investment Inventory

Every successful investor takes an inventory at regular intervals of his securities, in order to take full advantage of changing current conditions.

Many investors have learned to their loss that a double watch must be kept on their securities. It is not only necessary to lock the security itself away in a strong box, but it is also necessary to watch closely the changing conditions and other factors which may bring an opportunity for profit or cause a loss.

The rule followed by the shrewdest, most successful investors is carefully to check over their entire list of holdings at least twice each year—in January and July—in order to take advantage of every possible opportunity to gain a profit or prevent a loss.

S. W. Straus & Co.—the House with the record of 42 years without loss to any investor—has a fully equipped Statistical Department, which is maintained for the purpose of aiding investors in analyzing and checking up on securities and market conditions. The service of this Statistical Department is offered to all investors who wish to take a January investment inventory. This service is confidential, and you will incur no obligation by calling upon us for aid. Simply send in a memorandum of the securities you want analyzed, and we shall be glad to give you a report. ## BOND QUOTATIONS

Traders Take Profits

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Preholiday influences retarded trading in the bond market today, and prices fluctuated irregularly. Profit-taking, inspired partly by the firmness of the money situation, caused recessions of 1 to 3⅛ points in numerous railroad, public utility and industrial liens.

Norfolk and Western convertible 6s, which followed a rise in the road's stock, were about the only firm spot in the railroad list. Realizing sales, were scattered among high-grade and speculative issues, resulting in losses of a point or more in New York Central consolidated 4s, Northern Pacific refunding 6s, Seaboard adjustment 5s and Frisco income 6s. Price movements in other parts of the list were uneven.

Gains of 1 to 3⅛ points in Magna Copper 7s, Brooklyn Union Gas 7s of 1932 and American Agricultural Chemical 7⅛s counteracted similar losses in Federal Light and Traction 7s, Wilson first 6s and Bethlehem Steel 6s.

New financing was well absorbed. Bankers reported prompt subscription of $40,000,000 issue of Andes Copper Mining Company 7 per cent debentures and several smaller stock and bond offerings.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and the total sales of each bond. This market is over Associated Press wires and is supplied transactions the closing is omitted when it is the same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.

NEW YORK CURB

Prices Sag

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Reactionary tendencies prevailed in today's curb market, although independent strong spots were noted in several sections of the list.

Oils were mixed. Cities Service, Eureka Pipe and Southern Pipe Line advanced 1 to 2 points and Southwestern Penn Pipe Line jumped 8, while losses of 1 to 2½ points were recorded by Gulf Oil, Prairie Oil and Gas and South Penn.

Radio shares gave a fairly good exhibition of group strength. Hazeltine advanced nearly 3 points to a record high at 45½, closing slightly below that figure, and Dubilier closed a point higher at 43.

Public utilities were hard hit, losses of 1½ to 4 points being recorded by American Gas and Electric, American Light and Traction, American Power and Light, Commercial Power and East Penn Electric. National Power and Light was active and strong.

Trading in the new Frank G. Shattuck stock was active, following the announcement that the public offering had been largely oversubscribed. The stock sold as high as 32¾, as against the offering price of 27½.

HIGHER MONEY CHECKS GAINS

General Electric Leads in Industrial List

Other News Favorable to Bullish Trend

Rails Irregular; Dividend is Paid in Texas

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. — Stock prices opened firm today, reacted sharply when the call-money rate renewed at 2 per cent and then advanced to 4, and made irregular recovery in the late trading when violent bullish demonstrations took place in a few high-priced specialties. The average of twenty leading industrial stocks rose to the highest level since 1919, due largely to the 9-point jump in General Electric, which established a record top at 296 1-2. The day's total sales amounted to slightly over 1,500,000.

The advance in call money was due to the extensive calling of loans by banks as a result of the $15,000,000 deficit in reserve shown in the weekly clearinghouse statement last Saturday. It was estimated in some quarters that the total amount of loans called was close to $20,000,000.

The day's news was largely favorable. It included the inauguration of dividends on Texas and Pacific Railroad preferred stock at the annual rate of $5, the stiffening of zinc, copper and pig-iron prices, the prompt oversubscription of two stock offerings and the publication of additional favorable November earnings statements.

United States Steel common closed 1-8 lower at 118 1-8 and Studebaker was off 1-2 at 48 1-2. American Can fluctuated within a range of 3 points, closing 1 1-8 lower at 156 7-8. Baldwin showed a net gain of about a point at 131 5-8 after having sold as low as 128 1-8. Net losses of 1 to 3 points were recorded by a large variety of industrial issues.

The sharpest breaks took place in the Commercial Solvents issues, each of which dropped about 10 1-2 points and then rallied slightly. Other weak spots included American Express, Commercial Investment Trust preferred, Manhattan Shirt and United Railways and Investment, off 3 to 5 1-2 points.

Rails also moved irregularly lower although excellent buying was noted in Norfolk and Western, which advanced more than 2 points to 131. Baltimore and Ohio, Reading, Delaware and Hudson, Illinois Central, Nickel Plate, St. Louis Southwestern and a few others were off 1 to 3 points on the day.

Independent strength was shown by American Car and Foundry, which advanced 5 points, and Iron Products, which soared 13 points to 98.

Time money and commercial paper rates held firm with business in moderate volume.

Except for moderate reactions in the Norwegian and Danish rates, which reflected the readjustment of speculative positions, foreign exchanges held steady with trading quiet. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.70 6-8, and French francs around 5.28 1-2 cents.

CHRISTMAS CLEMENCY GIVEN ONE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Extension of executive clemency as a Christmas gift by the President was limited this year to one person, John Rohrer of San Jose, Cal., whose life sentence was commuted to twenty years. Rohrer thus becomes eligible for parole upon immediate application.

Rohrer, a prisoner at Leavenworth, has served nine years for the murder of a Chinese soldier while he was a member of the legation guard at Shanghai, just prior to the World War.

Department of Justice records show that Rohrer with a companion deserted from the legation guard, stole a horse and started toward the interior of China. They were pursued by Chinese policemen and mistaking them for bandits, Rohrer testified at his trial in the Consular Court, he opened fire and killed one of them. He had deserted, he explained, with the intention of making his way across China to get into active fighting with the Allies.

The prisoner's record at Leavenworth was described by the warden as incomparably better than any other, and the department believes that he has received adequate punishment for a crime admittedly committed by an irresponsible youth.

FUND ASKED TO KEEP UP SALT STUDY

Solution of Sacramento River Problem Threatened by Lack of Money

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—An additional $15,000 appropriation from the reclamation fund to carry on the investigation of the so-called salt water problem in the Sacramento River-San Joaquin River delta region in California, to be met by a like sum from California interests was requested of Secretary Work today by Senator Shortridge. The investigation is being made to determine the feasibility of constructing salt water dams in both rivers to check the inflow of salt water from San Francisco Bay, which is said to be affecting the delta farming and irrigation.

Present funds for the work, Senator Shortridge said, will be exhausted by February. Secretary Work told the Senator he would ask for a report on the subject and would reach a decision soon after Christmas. The reclamation bureau already has spent $40,000 on the investigation and a like amount has been provided by certain interests in the State.

Christine of the Hungry Heart

by Kathleen Norris

The story thus far: Christine Knight, rich, young, beautiful, full of vitality and affection, finds, after a few years of marriage, that her husband, Stuart Knight, has tired of her. When he invites friends to dinner and then sends word he cannot come home that evening, Christine telephones her half-brother, Dan Madison, to take his place. Her friend, Ethel Morse, tries to draw her out about Stuart. But Christine will not talk about her trouble. Next day at a concert, 1924, Dr. Alan Monteagle, who had operated on her father-in-law. They are immediately interested in each other. Christine asks him to dinner. The friendship between Christine and Dr. Monteagle increases as the breach between her and her husband widens.

Chris led the way to the bedroom, where a certain elderly negress, Gracie, had been installed, as was customary, as a sort of nurse and maid to the sufferer. Gracie had washed her patient's hands and face, and his hair was brushed, and he had on his quilted bed jacket and was propped in pillows, sipping strong black coffee.

"Hello, Mom!" Stuart said, in a rather thick voice. "Hello, Chris, Gosh, what stuff!"

The last was in reference to the coffee, in which he pretended to be interested. He had a full, soft face, always weak, and now showing a certain dissipated puffiness about the eyes, a dead-white skin, the engaging smile of the profligate, and a charming mouth, which twitched now with a sort of shamed amusement. He knew that he was trying to avoid their reproaches by an assumption of ease, and he knew that they read him like a book.

"Stuart—" his mother said heavily and stopped, on a great indrawn breath, sighing and shaking her head as she sat down beside him. Christine also sat down, but her eyes were serene and absent, and she did not speak.

"Now, listen Mom," Stuart began, in his leisurely half-annoyed and half-patient voice: "Listen before you blow up—"

"There is no excuse—there is no explanation—" Mrs. Knight began in her monotonous, sing-song voice, shaking her head slowly to and fro.

"Will you listen, Mom?" Stuart said impatiently. But he looked rather at his wife than his mother. "I'm all right, and I always have been. Listen. I was dead tired this afternoon—we played poker all last night, and some of the fellows slept in the train coming down—but I couldn't. I simply dropped off, on my bed, when I got in. Chris wasn't here, and the baby was out—there was no need to send for Gracie, and make such a fuss! I'm sorry I forgot the Starrs's dinner—I could perfectly well have gone, but nobody waked me! I was sick yesterday—ass that I am, I drank some nitroglycerine that Bill rounded up somewhere—but I'm all right now, and I'll send Betty some flowers tomorrow—"

"Your wife and your mother not knowing where you were!" his mother put into the pause. But she was glad to have the regular process of reconciliation commenced, and her voice showed it. Christine continued silent, in her big chair, her head back, her indifferent eyes on the ceiling. "I think I mind it more for Chrissie than for myself," Mrs. Knight continued reproachfully, anxious to draw her son's wife into the talk.

"Chris," said Stuart, holding out a warm big hand, "it's the last time. I swear it. I'm done. I thought of you and Betty-Lou yesterday, when I was sick in a damnable hotel room, and I made up my mind— You believe me, don't you?"

Chrissie looked at him dispassionately, without a flicker of expression in her blue eyes.

"No," she said then, simply and quietly.

"Oh, you go to hell!" Stuart snarled, rolling over in the covers and presenting only a muffled shoulder to his wife and mother.

"I don't blame her—and I am astonished to hear a son of mine use those words to his wife, and the mother of his lovely baby!" said Mrs. Knight, suddenly choosing her ground, and rising with dignity. "You're quite right, Chrissie—he doesn't deserve to have a lovely wife and child—and I'm ashamed of him! Why, Stuart, I don't know you," she added, in a broken voice. "My own boy, who never said an angry word to his mother in his life—"

"My head aches like the devil—I tell you, I was poisoned!" Stuart muttered, ungraciously, yet somewhat in explanation and apology.

"No headache is an excuse for such language!" the mother said sternly as she followed Christine from the room. "Oh, dear why are men so dreadful!" she lamented, back by the fire.

Christine sat down quietly, her face was grave, but not concerned. When she began to speak, it was about the baby.

The next day Stuart, shaved, groomed, once more his well-tailored self, and even radiating pleasant odors of powders and toilet-waters and shaving soaps, came into her bedroom at noon, where she was playing with the baby, Betty-Lou was having soup and spinach and rusk and scraped apple, and was excited and unruly. Cordelia considerately withdrew.

"Listen, Chris—are you mad at me?" asked Stuart, without preamble.

Chrissie's glorious name was hanging over the transparent linen slip, she was dressing for a luncheon. She looked at Stuart in her dressing-table mirror.

"Mad? Oh no! Don't sit on that, please, Stuart—it's just from the cleaner."

"I don't know what damn thing gets into me!" Stuart said, still standing.

"It doesn't matter!" Christine said, lightly touching her lips with a stick that was hardly as red.

"I feel rotten about it," Stuart pursued, uncomfortably. His wife did not answer. He turned to his daughter.

"Hello, Kid! Do you think you'll ever amount to anything?" he asked.

"Please don't interrupt her, Stuart, she's got to finish her lunch. She's dropping asleep, and it's the little Mortimer boy's party at 4. She must have her nap. Eat your spinach, Tootsy. A big bite for muddy—"

Christine kneeled down and took the spoon.

"Here now," she said, encouragingly; "that's my darling girl!"

"Could I do that?" Stuart asked humbly.

"Oh, no, thanks! Betty-Lou, chew it!"

Silence. Then as Christine, once more at her mirror, put on a new hat, Stuart said humbly:

"Like to play golf this aft? I feel so rotten I'm going round all by myself!"

"Otherwise you wouldn't trouble me with an invitation," Christine thought in her soul. Aloud she merely said lifelessly: "No, thanks."

Her husband remained, as if unwilling, yet held.

"Look here, Chris, what I do isn't so terrible," he pleaded suddenly. "I know you hate those men, and gambling, and all that—but lots of fellows do it. I'm not going to crawl around licking your shoes just because you happen to have different ideas. What's the harm in my taking a run to New York, if I feel like it, with my own crowd?"

"And what's the harm in my having to apologize for you at dinners you give, or you accept?" Chris said swiftly, in a low voice. "And what's the harm of your breaking your promises, and your mother's heart, and having me sit here alone in the evenings, because I'm ashamed to go to places without my husband? Instead of companionship, and home life, and development, what do I get? Nothing but shame, and loneliness! You never read a book, or make an interesting friend, or share with me the responsibility for our child! You've become an animal—"

She stopped. Cordelia had come innocently in for Betty-Lou and it was not until she had carried the baby away that either husband or wife spoke. Then Stuart said:

"Oh, hell—you're a peach of a wife!"

The door slammed. Trembling a little, and rather pale, Christine finished her dressing, and went out into the sunshine.

There was no reconciliation, and the breach between them deepened rather than lessened as the days went by. Before this, Christine had taken up on herself the entire responsibility of the peace-making and Stuart had only explained and apologized when this was done.

Now she would not, she could not forget, and he never dreamed of asking her to forgive. He awaited her overtures, and she would not make them. There was a bitter silence between them.

Their social life went on, as social life must, over chasms and abysses. Stuart brought his friends home at tea-time, for cocktails and cigars; Chrissie was hospitable, and her women friends cordial. The baby had her lady-finger and her taste of cream, and sometimes Stuart's handsome mother came in, anxiously calling Chrissie's attention to Stuart's charming manner with the little girl, or hinting to her son that he must be patient, attentive, repentant with his sweet, dear wife, whom he had so flagrantly hurt.

Tomorrow — The Brimming Hour.

"Do you ever invest money in Wall street?"

"No," answered Senator Sorghum. "If the market went wrong I'd lose my savings, and if it went right I'd lose my reputation."—[Washington Star.

STUDIED BEAUTY OF SURROUNDINGS

California Mausoleum Company's Two Beautiful Structures Are Fitting "Chaste Temples"

The enduring qualities of reinforced concrete, granite and marble have been wonderfully utilized in those cathedral-like buildings erected in Hollywood and Inglewood Cemeteries by the California Mausoleum Company, and which are now being availed of by so many thoughtful people who would have their beloved dead fittingly laid away for perpetuity.

Here there is nothing to mar and everything to enhance the dignity and solemnity of "mighty death." Coming into the fresh, sweet, wholesome air of these mausoleums, whether to witness the entombment of a body or to leave flowers at the crypt of a dear one who has passed on, one is impressed with the ordered taste of every detail of architecture and arrangement.

How much better such a disposition of the dead than burial; and what a recognition of our sense of responsibility to those who have passed on—to provide for the proper and enduring care of their mortal garments. Yet the expense involved is little greater than decent burial arrangements. Telephone for the handsome booklet issued by the Company, Main 1534, or call at the Offices, 306 Harris Bldg., 110 West 11th, and arrange for a representative to show you the Mausoleums.—[Advertisement.

HORDES OF HOLIDAY SHOPPERS JAM DOWNTOWN AREA

Congestion is Unparalleled as Thousands of Late Buyers Brave Rain

Scene on Broadway Looking Down Street Toward Sixth

LOS ANGELES yesterday loosed its legions of Christmas shoppers upon the downtown business district, cramming the stores and congesting the streets to an extent probably unparalleled in the city's history.

Extra details of traffic officers were required to handle the tremendous crowds that besieged the shopping center. The Los Angeles Railway Company reported the heaviest street-car travel of the year, a record being established when 1115 cars were in service during the evening rush hours. Scores of extra street cars will be operated today and tomorrow, it was announced.

Despite the traffic congestion, described by traffic officers as worse than any parade day, accidents were remarkably few. Only four persons caught in the afternoon crush required treatment at the Receiving Hospital. One man and one woman were slightly injured by automobiles, one woman fainted and another woman was hurt alighting from a street car.

A steady drizzle that began falling at 1:30 p.m. complicated matters. Automobiles skidded and pedestrians slipped. Broadway was mushroomed with umbrellas. During the hours between noon and 3 p.m., traffic officers at Fifth, Sixth and Seventh streets on Broadway compelled pedestrians to move with the traffic at the intervals registered by automatic signals. Traffic was repeatedly jammed, but the policemen on duty and the hordes of shoppers remained unusually cheerful in the face of jostling, delays and sloppy weather. The mood of Christmas was much in evidence.

Department stores were swamped with customers; in fact, all downtown merchants reported exceptional patronage. Saturday was an unusually busy day, too, and today and tomorrow are expected to witness the peak of the holiday shopping rush.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS WARD SYSTEM FOR CITY

Ruling of Council is Reversed; Los Angeles Will be Divided Into Fifteen Districts

The next City Council of Los Angeles will be elected through district representation, according to a decision of the California State Supreme Court handed down yesterday which reverses the District Court of Appeals.

District representation for the City Council, as submitted to the voters as an alternative proposition with the new city charter at the election last May, was carried, the Supreme Court decided.

The effect of the decision is to compel the present City Council to soon divide the city into fifteen geographical districts. Candidates for the City Council at the next May primaries will then in March circulate nominating petitions in their districts, and the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes at the May primaries will battle at the June city election. The one receiving the highest number of votes in the district will be the Councilman for two years from that district. He will receive a salary of $4800 a year, and will take office the first of July next.

NEW CHARTER

The new charter, as written, provides for a City Council of eleven members, elected, as the present Council of nine members is chosen, at large. The new charter was proposition A on the ballot at the primaries last May. The vote on the proposition was Yes, 126,053; No, 19,287.

Proposition B on the same ballot was an alternative proviso for the charter, which substituted district representation in the council for the at large plan. It reads as follows:

"The Council in office at the time of the approval of this charter by the Legislature, shall, not less than sixty days before the primary nominating election to be held on first Tuesday in May, 1925, divide the city into fifteen districts. The districts so formed shall comprise as nearly as practicable equal number of votes cast for Governor in said districts at the last preceding election at which a Governor was elected and be composed of contiguous and compact territory and bounded by natural boundaries and street lines. At general election in June, 1925, one Councilman shall be elected by each of the districts so constituted. On or before the first day of October, 1929, and each four years thereafter, the Council shall by ordinance redistrict the city into fifteen districts as provided by this section."

This proposition received 88,275 yes votes and 53,441 no votes.

The City Council, with Councilman Mushet alone dissenting, held that Proposition B had failed to carry, as it had received fewer

JAPANESE SANTA

Tour Shows Orientals Observe Time of Good Will

A tour of the Japanese department stores and shops along East First street and conversations with the merchants and Japanese newspaper men yesterday revealed that the Japanese of Los Angeles have adopted the American Santa Claus with his bag of toys, whiskers, and even his revered tummy that shakes like a bowlful of jelly.

In brief, the Japanese have taken over Christmas as a holiday of peace, good will, and merriment as typified in the giving of presents. The Japanese stores are gaily decorated with the conventional Christmas festoons. The windows and shelves are piled high with toys and other Christmas goods. Sweet shops are showing special little candies and cakes of various colors.

Papa Jap meanders in and out of stores with three, four and even five little children at his heels, little dark eyes round with wonderment, chubby little arms clutching packages tied with red and green string. A gray-haired Japanese woman trundles out, both arms full of Christmas packages. The stores are crowded.

"Yes," said a Japanese merchant, "we have adopted Christmas as one of our holidays here and celebrate it just as the Americans do. The Christian Japanese celebrate it with the same religious meaning as the Americans. The Budhist celebrates it as a special holiday. Most of the giving of presents is for the children. Even the grown-ups have transferred our customary giving of gifts at New Year's to Christmas time. We tell the children there is a Santa Claus. We have the Christmas tree, too. For us, too, it is a day of peace and good feeling."

Only in the last several years have the Japanese taken over Christmas so thoroughly. A Japanese newspaper man offered the following reasons: An earnest desire of the Japanese here to follow American customs as part of their Americanization; the Japanese child, playing with Jimmy, the American child, learns that Jimmy is going to get a wagon and a horn for Christmas. He goes home and says, "Pa, Jimmy's going to get a wagon and horn for Christmas. Wattcha going to get me?" What else can the Japanese papa do but invite Santa Claus to come around?

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

REAL literature is sometimes in the love letters that are introduced in Judge Summerfield's divorce court.

"The other woman" is sometimes wasting the glow of a real imagination on "a heathen idol made of mud."

This seems to be particularly true of young girls who have fallen in love with married men. Like the girl whose letters were printed yesterday.

And such married men! I used to see these co-respondents when I was a court reporter. I would read these tender, glowing, golden love letters, and then this common slob would be pointed out as the god of her gossamer dreams.

Humbly, I can realize that Providence had a purpose in creating the louse that lives on the hobo; the boll weevil in the cotton ball; the skunk that robs the hen roost; but the purpose of Providence in creating some of the men for whom many sweet, lovely, flower-like little girls develop romantic passions stumps me.

WOMEN WHO FIGHT

There is nothing surprising about the girl bandit who almost beat Troy W. Woodward, a garage owner of Beverly Glen, to death after her accomplice had fled.

Women have more physical courage than men. They never count odds; and they have the real fury of combat. Men seldom have this. Only the Celts; and that because in the Celtic imagination romance and tenderness there is a great deal of feminism.

Men almost always fight to win; if they can win by bluffing they avoid the fight.

Women don't fight to win. They fight from pure blood lust. They never intend to in the beginning. Something causes them to strike the first blow. Then, by a simple psychological process, their conscious mind bows itself gracefully out, the subconscious mind takes hold, and the woman becomes a fighting fiend, . . . counting neither strength, nor odds, nor consequences.

This was exactly what happened in the case of the Clara Phillips murder.

MILLIONAIRE BEGGARS

Deportation to Russia, where he had come from, is the obvious remedy for the case of the "millionaire beggar" arrested in Santa Barbara.

There is no reason for beggars to be on the streets of these California cities.

If they are genuine charity cases and belong here, they ought to be taken care of decently as public charges. If they have just come here to spend the winter, they ought to be sent back to the cities they came from. We are not running a winter resort for mendicants.

Los Angeles faces the most appalling criminal problem of any city in the world. And this winter—owing to the furious weather in the East—it is worse than usual.

There isn't a great deal that can be done, but it will help the police in their problems if the floating population is anchored as definitely as possible.

THE NEW EDUCATION

I could get more excited about this so-called "Dalton plan" of education if I hadn't tried it when I was a schoolboy.

The "Dalton system" is in vogue in Santa Ana and other Southern California cities; and is recommended for Los Angeles.

In my day it was called the "Search system." The theory is that the pupil gets educated as fast as his brain enables him; no more bright pupils held back by dull ones. The pupil is supposed to regulate his own pace.

I remember that I regulated mine. The day the system went into force I respectfully abandoned the estimable Julius Caesar to his fate, hoping dimly that the Gauls would lick the tar out of him.

You were supposed to recite to the teacher whenever you felt inspired. I was inspired twice during the time the Search system was in operation. I can't remember why I recited then; my supply of popular novels must have temporarily given out.

YULE PARTY FOR CHILDREN

A Christmas party for children of the members of the Loyal Temperance Legion, which will include gifts for the Southern California Home, will be given by the University W.C.T.U. at the University Methodist Church at 2 p.m. today. The public is invited.

C. C. JULIAN REORGANIZES

Senator King and Nine Others Take Places on Board; Company Absorbs Lewis Corporation

Complete details of the reorganization of the Julian Petroleum Corporation and its plans for the future were made public here late yesterday by C. C. Julian, president, after a directors' meeting at which ten new directors were elected to the board of the company.

William H. King, United States Senator from Utah, ranking Democratic member of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, and a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, is one of the men elected director of the oil corporation. The other nine men are bankers, business men and oil operators from the East and the Northwest.

Julian and O. S. Witherell, secretary of the company, are the only members of the old board to retain their positions, as was indicated exclusively in The Times yesterday morning.

Statements issued by Julian and by S. C. Lewis of New York, who heads the syndicate of the interests merged with the Julian Petroleum Corporation, disclosed that Julian and his associates view the reorganization as an absorption by the Julian company of the Lewis Oil Corporation and its resources. All of the new directors are associated with the Lewis Oil Corporation or its affiliated interest, the announcements show.

At the same time Julian made it plain that he found it necessary to relinquish a very substantial part of the control of the Julian Petroleum Corporation to consummate the deal that brought the new men and resources into his organization.

J. H. Roth, formerly vice-president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, left his place on the board to become president of a Northern California oil company. He still retains all his interests in the Julian company, he declared, but will not have time to devote his attention to both concerns.

According to Julian, the contract covering the deal calls for the refinancing of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, beginning with transactions to be negotiated and executed by and with assistance of the new interests and totaling $1,800,000. Some of the financial details become effective at once, Julian said. The initial stages of the financial transactions are to be followed by a bond issue of $5,000,000 to be underwritten by the new directors and their associates in the East, the statement said.

The other high points in the contract, according to Julian, are

LIMERICK LINERS MAKE SANTA HUSTLE

Kris Kringle Having Hard Time to Maintain First Place in Popular Esteem; Auto Mystery on New Mulholland Highway

The popularity of the Volstead Act and its consequences as a subject of conversation and interest, seems to be holding its own. The Limerick Editor notes a decided increase in his mail on the bobbed offerings about bootleggers and moonshiners and the like. Last Tuesday's four-fifths poem brought in a flood of last lines that nearly inundated all hands.

Jack Mantle.

A Moonshiner lacking in skill
Made some Scotch that ate holes in the still.
"When you drink it," said he
"You will know it's not tea,
"Nor the stuff that Jack went for with Jill."

The second of $5 goes to Mrs. O. Vineyard of 7525 Sloan street, Palms, who contributed:

"Oh, a Scotch angel-maker was Bill."

Fully 10 per cent of the last-line writers christened the moonshiner Bill, but Mrs. Vineyard did it most effectively. Another favorite rhyme was "thrill;" Dr. H. Warren Nice of 976 North Chester avenue, Pasdena, used it so:

"Hoot mon! But oh, want a thrill!"

Cecil A. Stephens of La Vina Sanatorium, La Vina, dropped also into dialect to write:

"Because Scotch with no thrill becomes nil.

Another variant of the bill rhyme was furnished by Thomas J. Hammer of 4036 Floral Drive.

"If you see the moon shine on your bill."

Others who came close to getting in the money were Clare M. Grabill, 201 North Normandie avenue, Charles M. Brown of 700 North Avenue 64, Pasadena, and E. M. Fountain of 626 West Ninth street.

The Limerick Editor remarked

BROKERS TO LOSE LICENSE

Corporation Chief Orders Revocation of Permit of Federal Securities Company

Revocation of the license under which the Federal Securities Corporation has been permitted to do business as broker has been ordered by Commissioner of Corporations Daugherty, the commissioner announced yesterday. The company, probably the largest brokerage house in the State, with offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Pasadena, Long Beach, Anaheim and San Diego, is charged by Commissioner Daugherty with violating both the "blue sky law" and its authorized permit. Jonathan S. Dodge, formerly State Superintendent of Banks and at one time president of the Commonwealth Trust Company, is said to be president of the Federal Securities Corporation at the present time.

The action of Commissioner Daugherty follows an investigation into the company's affairs which has lasted for nearly six months. Formal hearings to determine whether the company's license should be revoked were begun by the commissioner last October.

The revocation order signed by Commissioner Daugherty declares that the corporation has violated in at least four instances its broker's permit, as well as the Corporate Securities Act. The findings returned against the company declare:

FINDINGS SET OUT

That the Federal Securities Corporation sold upwards of $119,550 worth of its promissory notes, paying selling commissions on the transactions, despite the fact that no permit was secured from the Corporation Department.

That James A. Hool, an officer of the company at the time complained of, sold his personal notes to the public in order to finance

OFFER OF FIRE HOUSE FAVORED IN COUNCIL

The Finance Committee of the City Council yesterday agreed to recommend that the city accept the offer of S. H. The action of Commissioner Daugherty follows an investigation into the company's affairs which has lasted for nearly six months. Formal hearings to determine whether the company's license should be revoked were begun by the commissioner last October.

The revocation order signed by Commissioner Daugherty declares that the corporation has violated in at least four instances its broker's permit, as well as the Corporate Securities Act. The findings returned against the company declare:

That the Federal Securities Corporation sold upwards of $119,550 worth of its promissory notes, paying selling commissions on the transactions, despite the fact that no permit was secured from the Corporation Department.

BANDITS SHOOT POSTAL CLERK

Pair Flee in Auto After Fight With Victim

Woman is in Burglary of Garment Shop

Robbers Get Silk Goods Valued at $8000

A hold-up in which a postal clerk was shot, and two burglaries figured in the crime reports to the police department yesterday. The wounded man is Thomas S. Maticks of the Morris Hotel, who was shot through the chin, the bullet fracturing his jaw. He was held up by two men at the corner of Vernon and Vermont avenues before daylight, and put up a struggle with two bandits in which the revolver of one of them was fired. They fled in their automobile, taking with them a black leather valise which contained rubber stamps and a revolver, and which Maticks had been carrying to work in his car. Matick's injuries were dressed at Receiving Hospital.

A woman burglar with one or more men companion plundered the Boudoir, a woman's specialty shop at 1736 West Seventh street. The burglars got $8000 to $10,000 worth of silk lingerie and other silk goods, according to the estimate of the proprietors, Helen C. Flagg and Bertha D. Rosh. Police who investigated said the burglars entered by jimmying their way into a vacant store next door and breaking the door of a small passageway into the Boudoir. Then they opened the back door and apparently piled the stock into an automobile. Police said the heel prints of a woman and one or two men were found in mud at the rear of the store and upon the floor.

Yeggs worked hard to open the safe of Bricklayers' Union No. 2, in an office at the Labor Temple, 536 South Maple street, and found nothing in it but papers. According to Finger Print Expert Barlow, the knocked off the dial and drilled and pried open the door.

PIPE THEFT CHARGED

HALL SPACE RENTAL URGED

Council Will Consider Project for Jail, Hospital Quarters in Justice Building Friday

The City Council will on Friday afternoon, next, consider whether or not to carry out the Council's plan made about two years ago of using space in the new Hall of Justice for municipal jail, police headquarters, police courts, city prosecuter's office and Receiving Hospital, at an annual rental of $80,000. Supervisor Bean appeared before the City Council's Finance Committee on behalf of the Board of Supervisors to ask for the city's decision. He said:

"The Council should feel under no obligations of any kind to carry through the plan for the city to use space in the Hall of Justice. The county can use it all, if necessary. From the standpoint of the county government, we shall be better off if we can have the entire building for the county's use. As a citizen of the city of Los Angeles, I think it would be a mistake for the city not to use the space in the building and have adequate and modern jail quarters, police headquarters, police courtrooms and Receiving Hospital.

"The rental is based exactly as the Council planned two years ago, and is 5 per cent of the cost of the space to be used by the city in the building, except for the jail space, which is to be charged the city at the rate of $1.05 a prisoner, which includes jail quarters and maintenance for the prisoner. The city requires 141,000 square feet of the building, which will have a total of 536,000 square feet. The Hall of Justice will be the largest building on the Pacific Coast. It is built as a first unit; it can be added to as requirements increase.

"It was originally planned to build a ten-story building at a cost of $3,500,000, of which $2,000,000 was raised from a bond issue and the rest the county had on hand from taxes. As the city and county requirements increased we were forced to add four floors to the building, so that the total cost was increased to $4,100,000. The jail will accommodate 1200 prisoners. The jail equipment, including cells, will cost $800,000."

COUNCIL TO HAVE CARS IN CROWN CITY PARADE

The Los Angeles City Council will enter two decorated automobiles in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena on New Year's Day, according to a report made yesterday by the Council's Finance Committee. The cost of decorating the automobiles will be $627. The Mayor's automobile will also be decorated and take part in the parade.

A lining to be placed in closets to keep out moths has been perfected by a New York inventor.

Christmas Tree is Decorated for Nursery Kiddies

Decorating the Christmas tree for the new Day Nursery was the task that fell to the junior members of the Assistance League of Southern California, who gathered at the new house, 5612 De Longpre avenue, yesterday afternoon.

Those of the younger social group who were working with Mrs. E. P. Werner, chairman of the Day Nursery, and her assistant, Mrs. R. D. Shepard, were Mrs. Jean Carpenter, Mrs. E. H. Furman, Mrs. Earl C. Estes, Mrs. Richard Brown, Mrs. Frank Mattiessen and Mrs. Harrison Lobdell.

MADE RICH BY YULE CHEER

Custom of Greeting Cards Symbol of Friendship

Radio Tree Rustles in Joy as Artists Perform

El Encanto Apartments on Air for First Time

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

Somehow it felt like Christmas Monday. The sky over our roof was a dreary gray, and the air bit our cheeks until they looked like two red apples. The hearts of those at KHJ were filled to overflowing with love and cheer. Over our desks were heaped high with Christmas cards, each one a symbol of an invisible thread running from the heart of a friend to the great heart of our broadcasting station—a thread so sheer that they could not be seen yet strong as a mighty band of steel! It was very glad that our beautiful Christmas tree did not have to shine in itself in the darkness and gloom of this holiday week. A splendid program was presented, through the courtesy of El Encanto apartments, arranged by Maude Fenlon Bollman. The artists were Miss Hullinger, flutist; Walter Kendall, 'cellist; Jennie Durkee, pianist, and Miss Bollman herself.

COMING HERALDED

The program was quite a tribute to radio. We have had god mothers who are well established comfortably and social entities but this is the first one who has contributed a gift to us before her actual appearance on earth. The El Encanto apartments are to be located in Hollywood at the corner of Orchid avenue and Sycamore. There will be the duplex "own-your-own" type, and will cover three floors. The name El Encanto means enchantment and it is planned to be this new godmother a vision of beauty.

The name of Maude Fenlon Bollman, soprano, is a name which stands for the highest ideals in our musical colony. Her splendid work as a teacher is attested by a host of talented young professionals whom she has trained, and her unselfish efforts as a club woman has been not a little to raising our standards.

In her evening Miss Bollman gave a group of charming children's songs in which she specializes, including Mana Zucca's "Yawning" and Lemont's "Li'l Boy." They were sung with the unaffected simplicity of the child which is in every true artist.

SONGS OF OUTDOORS

Miss Bollman also sang three of Cadman's lovely creations breathing of outdoors, flowers and towering trees. Her voice is a lyric soprano which knows the art of coloring tones which are the essence to fine broadcasting. The golden flute of William Hullinger sang to us again of mystic Tanglewildes. A quaint "Pastorale" from the memories of Vernon—the "Sicilienne" with its dainty strains of a Neapolitan serenade and the coquettish "Valse" of our own Victor Herbert, who will be sadly missed this coming time.

Walter Kendall has a sensitive, appealing personality which is reflected in his music. Deeply devoted to his instrument, the 'cello, his mellow and sympathetic touch at first sight delighted Radio with a group of solos. Together with William Hullinger and Walter Kendall at the piano he played a most attractive trio number.

Jennie Durkee contributed to the program, her skilled fingers and her ukulele performing their wonders. An attractive novelty was the number entitled "Kids," with the sound of which we will look forward to next program of El Encanto broadcasts with great anticipation.

ORCHESTRA AT NOON

The noon program presented by Forrest Major and his orchestra from the Rose Ton Ballroom, Forum Park. This peppy band of musicians comes all too seldom to KHJ and we hope to see them often in the very near future.

The Pacific States Electric Company yesterday upon its excellent week of programs and it is hoped that we bid this opening and genial godmother adieu. We hope she may be with us some time in the future and that her sumptuous gift of last month, when the Pacific States Electric Company presented the Palos Verdes Chuck Seal Trio and

Hawaiian Prince is Born Aboard Western Train

Passengers aboard the Continental Limited of the Union Pacific, racing eastward through Utah, hailed a new prince Sunday night.

The new prince, son of Prince and Princess Lei Lani of Honolulu, arrived into the world aboard the Continental Limited as the train neared St. John, Utah. It had been a race between the crack train and the stork to St. John, but the long-legged speedster of the skies won hands down.

Prince and Princess Lei Lani, with thier three young daughters and a troupe of fifteen Samoan boys were on their way East for a concert tour. The unexpected arrival of the young prince, however, will delay the concert tour. The company will stop off at Laramie, Wyo., where Princess Lei Lani and her son will be placed in a hospital.

The telegram announcing the birth of the prince came from Pullman Conductor Foy of the Continental Limited. The telegram stated that invaluable aid was given the mother by Mrs. Ella Kinney of 767 Hollywood Drive, Hollywood, a passenger on the train.

Prince and Princess Lei Lani are members of an old family of the Hawaiian Islands. They have been touring the West Coast and singing the songs of their native land.

Tots' Toy Fund Goes as Alimony to Stepmother

Christmas prospects for the eight children of Max Landesman dwindled suddenly yesterday when Judge Summerfield, in alimony court, ordered Landesman to turn over the $5 he had saved up to buy them presents with, to Mrs. Esther Landesman, their stepmother.

Mrs. Landesman has sued for separate maintenance, charging desertion. Landesman freely admitted he had left her, but he hesitated at telling the court why. Eventually he told his story, though.

"Well, she nagged me, Judge," he said. "She made my life miserable. She said I didn't kiss nice enough. How can a man with eight children keep on being a good kisser?"

As to the alimony, Judge Summerfield was sorry, but he didn't feel he could do anything else.

"But that $5 is for the children's Christmas," Landesman lamented.

"I'm might sorry, but the law requires me to order you to support your wife pending trial of her suit," the court replied.

Landesman had four of his eight offspring in court with him, and it was a gloomy procession they made as they marched out of court after him.

LENIENCY FOR GARCIA

Day-in-Jail Sentence Suspended on Self-Defense Showing

Salvadore Garcia was given a suspended sentence of one day in jail yesterday by Superior Judge Collier on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon after it was testified that Garcia stabbed Jesus Duenas, a man twice his size, in self-defense. The report of the probation officer stated that Duenas had threatened Garcia and was stabbed only after Garcia had tried to avoid trouble. The stabbing occurred, it was testified, at a camp in Brush Canyon on October 25, last.

In suspending sentence, Judge Collier told Garcia that he sympathized with him and declared that the right of self-defense is the right of every person.

JOB LET ON NEW HOME OF BARKERS

Scofield Company Will Start Work Soon on Huge Store Building

The contract was let yesterday to the Scofield Engineering and Construction Company for the erection of the new Barker Bros.' building an West Seventh street, between Flower and Figueroa, it was announced yesterday. This means that construction work will start at once and that removal of existing buildings will be begun immediately.

The structure, designed by Curlett & Beelman, will cost in excess of $2,000,000, will be limit-height and of Class-A construction. It will have a frontage of 335 feet on West Seventh street, extending from Flower to Figueroa streets, with a depth of 110 feet. When completed the structure will provide more than 500,000 square feet of floor space for Barker Bros., almost doubling their present floor space on South Broadway.

The Scofield Engineering and Construction Company has erected many large structures in Los Angeles, including the Biltmore, considered the largest building in this city.

SOMETHING COUNTS

People may not be very fond of work, but it is a good thing to get something out of. It beats loafing all to nothing in the rake-off.

PUMPING THE WITNESS

In one of the San Francisco courts the stomach pump is being used to secure evidence of drink and drugs. This is getting inside information that counts heavily in the conclusions.

WE ARE HERE

One of the great English papers has twice referred to one of the candidates in our recent election as Lafayette. This should be ample reason for the Wisconsin Senator declaring war upon Great Britain.

RIGHTS OF HOME

The court holds that a man who locks his wife out of the house is guilty of cruelty, even if the lady has been late in returning from a dance. It seems that a woman has certain rights in her own home, even when she is accused of running around with other men. Home is where the lady's extra skirt is and she is entitled to access to it at any hour.

DUMMY LUMBER

They are making artificial lumber from the waste of sugar cane. It weighs only about one-quarter as much as the regular stuff and can be used in most cases where pine is proper. It is becoming possible to build a "frame" house without taking stock from the lumberman. No wonder that a lot of folks are not worrying over the need for reforestation.

THE COTTON CROP

Some of those who have been experimenting with Acala cotton in Coachella Valley have raised nearly four bales to the acre, which is a wonderful record when it is realized that planters in the Southern States felt lucky to get half a bale. When the price is ranging around $125 a bale it may be seen that the valley planter is doing fairly well with his acres.

RAISING THE LIMIT

There is supposed to be a twelve-mile limit on our watery frontier. Beyond that, the Scotch fleet has usually dared to ride at ease. But the other day Uncle Sam's forces seized a ship that was twenty-two miles offshore and took full possession of its costly cargo of rum. Naturally there was protest on the part of the captain. He threatened to appeal to the King of England and start another war, but the Americans kept his vessel just the same. If the limit should be pushed back ten miles a day we might make a clean sweep of the booze smugglers.

MAKES IT UNANIMOUS

The alert gentlemen who cast up columns of figures in the Treasury Department are showing that the Los Angeles district is virtually the only one in the country which shows an increase in income-tax payments. In spite of the reductions made by legislative amendment, which made many fresh exemptions, there are many more persons paying the Federal tax than a year ago and the total payments are greater. This is practically the only revenue district in which this dual increase is shown. It affords further incontestible proof that our prosperity is of the growing and substantial sort.

THE SMUGGLERS

Since our immigration laws have made it difficult for many aliens to enter "the land of the free" it is estimated by government officials themselves that a total of nearly 500 persons are smuggled into the country every day at various points along the border. It is worth something like $100 to get a Chinaman safely into this country and therefore the business looks very attractive to some adventurers. It doesn't seem like much of a crime to assist a stranger across the border and therefore there are few victims of remorse. If a $100 bill can be picked up for the trouble, so much the better. By land and sea the nation has many thousands of miles of border. It is one of Uncle Sam's greatest and gravest problems to guard his frontier against this form of invasion.

THE PUZZLE CRAZE

The Pennsylvania Insane Asylum is using the cross-word puzzle for the entertainment and employment of its inmates, but there is a feeling in some minds that the treatment is not to be recommended. Possibly it savors of cruelty. Do they wish to keep the unfortunates crazy forever? What chance does a patient have of clearing his mental fog when he is being urged to grope for hours for a word of three letters meaning a snake-like fish? It is broadly intimated that the cross-word puzzle is filling our asylums. Using it to keep the sufferers amused seems like rubbing it in. The argument in favor of the practice rests on the assertion that, while the patients are brooding over their puzzles, they are at least not raving over anything else. It is easier to keep them employed with a blunt pencil and a piece of paper than to chain them in a padded cell.

FAILURES OF COMMUNISM

If the Utopian dreamers of a dozen years ago could have realized the smallest part of their vision of a wonderful world in which everybody would be equal and no man would work save at his own pleasure, Communal Socialism by this time would have gained a tenable foothold somewhere on this planet. But nothing is truer than the fact that it has not anywhere secured such a foothold, for the weak, tottering, moribund Communism of Russia, its most conspicuous example, may not last through the winter and soon will lapse into inglorious inanition.

Although he talks a great deal about the ideal life that would exist in a Communistic order of things, the seasoned Socialist of these days is really but little tempted to put his theories into practice. He would hesitate to throw whatever funds he may possess into the common pot of any Marxian community, no matter who might lead it or back it up. Why? Because, if he knows anything of the historic failures of applied Socialism in this and other countries, he knows that the experiment would be a short-lived and disastrous one. Furthermore, the seasoned Socialist must have come to some sort of understanding of the fact that human nature is not plastic to the designs of Utopian or Altrurian dreamers of any school whatever.

But each year—and 1925 will be no exception—there reach adolescence thousands who become enamored of the idea that the world must be made over and that the way to do it is to give everybody an equal share of property regardless of the Spencerian principle that only the fittest may survive and that the weakest will be forced to the wall.

These young dreamers would have done well to listen to the reading of a paper on "Failures of Socialism," by Daniel J. Ryan, former Secretary of State of Ohio, at a little literary club in Columbus not long ago. Mr. Ryan had listed no less than thirty-four wrecks of colonies in the United States which had tried noteworthy experiments in applied Socialism by establishing communities whose members sought to follow the principles laid down by Fourier, Prudhon and Marx. Each one of these colonies utterly failed to demonstrate the feasibility of Communal life, but what it did demonstrate was that existence within its bounds is meager, precarious, monotonous and unsatisfying.

From the days of Sparta, so rigorously and inhumanly ruled by Lycurgus, with his dominant idea that the individual should live for the state alone, down to the present time, there has not been a single success in the line of Communal organization and activity. Lenin could no more mold human nature to his will than could Lycurgus. The desire of individual ownership, with the incentive to action which such ownership inspires, is irrepressible and indestructible.

The Brook Farm experiment in Massachusetts in the early '40's was the most famous of all the Fourier futilities. Horace Greeley and Arthur Brisbane, the elder, were the leaders of the organization, and to them they drew men and women of letters who took their turns at menial occupations on the community plan. The wonder is that the institution lasted five years, which was its term of life, for long before the end of that period there were distinct signs of its dissolution, its membership dwindling monthly.

Ohio has been the most fertile field for Fourierism, but of the ten Socialistic communities that have existed there not one remains. In New York there have been nine. The Oneida Community is their only survivor, and it lives only in name, as it is merely a prosperous manufacturing corporation, not essentially unlike any other.

California has had several Communal colonies, among them being that of Thomas Lake Harris at Fountain Grove, in Sonoma county; Burnett G. Haskell's Kaweah, in Mariposa county, and Job Harriman's Llano, in Antelope Valley, Los Angeles county. Llano, the last of these, blew up because, as Harriman frankly explained, "different individuals cannot be relied upon to react uniformly to Communal principles."

Right truly could human nature say with Brahma, "They reckon ill who leave me out." For in the failure to recognize the salient demands of human nature lies the inevitable failure of all Communistic schemes.

COLLEGES AND PROHIBITION

Instead of losing ground, as a certain element had hoped, prohibition constantly is gaining in public favor in this country. One hears very little just now about the proposed compromise which would admit the sale of light wines and beers, but still would bar out the saloon and the strong drink which was its chief stock in trade.

In the last ditches of the "wet" army—communities where it was thought that the Volstead Act never could be rigidly enforced—there is still to be found some opposition to the law; but these strongholds are becoming less and less tenable. As for the rum-runners and bootleggers, they are beginning to see that their effacement is only a matter of time. Those who have been loud in the assertion that prohibition does not and never can prohibit now have so little ground to stand upon that they may as well capitulate.

Prohibition does prohibit. It is one of the great ruling forces of this country, and there will be no weakening of this force.

It is true that prohibition does not prevent the surreptitious manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages; but neither do the laws against theft prevent frequent robberies. There has never been a State in which violations of the penal laws did not occur. But only those crassly stupid would offer these violations as pretexts for repealing the laws. The effect of persistent violations has always been to make the laws more stringent and the enforcement more vigorous. This will be true of the prohibition laws.

Those who have read the reports of the decisions upon some of the debates of our college men with the touring Oxford and Cambridge teams have noted that, while the Englishmen pictured in the most colorful language the advantages of the "personal liberty" enjoyed by their countrymen with respect to the use of intoxicants, they did not win in a single bout with the American college students with whom they debated.

A summing up of these reports shows that at the University of Cincinnati the vote was 1714 for prohibition to 698 against it. At the University of Michigan it was decided by a vote of 1247 to 520 that the Britishers were worsted. At the University of Minnesota there were 1348 for the prohibition defenders to 493 against them. By an overwhelming vote of 437 to 95 the Coe College folk decided that the American team had made the most convincing arguments. At the University of Kansas the vote was four to one for the "drys" and at Hillsdale College it was over five to one.

Of course, the college debaters of this side of the water did not represent all the sentiment of all our students, but it is noticeable that among our 'varsity men it is no longer generally deemed a smart thing to embrace the flagon. Though there formerly were many young bloods in our halls of learning who regarded the Volstead Act as a bit of legislative pleasantry, the great majority, in street parlance, are sold on prohibition. This is one of the most hopeful signs of a time that is not so cheerful in all respects as the immediate future is bound to be.

MODERN PHRASING

Prof. J. M. P. Smith of the University of Chicago has made some very decided changes in the phrasing of the Bible.

He has changed materially the wording of the beautiful Twenty-third Psalm. Long familiarity with this exquisite poem for many generations has established it as one of the most ideal lyrics of all time.

Prof. Smith's interpretation is virtually the same as we have learned to know it and love it and it is possible that his phrasing may to future generations give as much comfort and solace as the present version.

Largely, it is a matter of personal like or dislike whether or not there is as much beauty in Smith's modernization as the one that we now have.

When the very learned gentleman picked on the Twenty-third Psalm he picked on the highest and purest form of poetry.

The entire question would seem to be a truthful interpretation of the Bible. No easy task in itself. The Bible covers a period of many centuries and is a child of the age in which it was written. At every stage it speaks forth the highest that man could conceive of God and history. It is the world's greatest historical authority.

Unless the gentleman from Chicago is very, very careful and particular in his modernizing of the Bible he is more than liable to find himself open to criticism and prejudice.

MEXICOS TRIPLE ASSURANCE

With each succeeding day the sun of hope shines more brightly upon the approaching era of peace and prosperity that will lift the republic of Mexico to the plane of civilization she so richly deserves. President Calles signalized his inauguration by declaring that the great need of his people is education, books, plows and industries; Gen. Flores, the President's late competitor for the highest office, has asserted his loyalty and his intention to devote himself to agriculture; ex-President Obregon, who came up from the farm by way of the military to the Presidency, is about to add other thousands of acres to his already large holdings of farm lands and will enter horticulture and sugar production.

The attitude of the United States toward Mexico is concisely stated in the annual message of President Coolidge, when he said that, along with our desire for peace, "is the earnest hope for the increased prosperity of our sister republics of Latin America and our constant purpose to promote cooperation with them which may be mutually beneficial and always inspired by the most cordial friendship." The attitude of the three leaders in the affairs of Mexico indicates that they are of one mind concerning what is best for their country and fully justifies the friendly assurance of President Coolidge and the bright hopes that are entertained by their neighbors north of the border.

CANNIBALISM IN THE CRADLE

In crevices of rocks along the seashore dog-whelks make neat little vase-like nests, wherein they lay about 100 eggs. Each nest is the scene of tragedy; for, if you look into the nest a week later, you will find the stronger embryos devouring their weaker brothers. Nowhere in the world is the birth rate higher than among seashore creatures, but infantile mortality is equally high. Among the molluska cannibalism actually begins in the cradle.

TO A DECEMBER "PEEPER"

When in the waters of the bog
Your tadpole tail was cast,
You fancied, foolish little frog,
That Spring was here at last.
And by fallacious instinct led,
Upon a tuft you sprang,
And lifting up your little head,
You sang and sang and sang.

But ah! that song will waver soon;
When fall December snows,
And blizzards hum a sterner tune
And nip your small green nose.
Deep in the sheltering mud you'll hide
Your palpitating form,
And there we trust that you'll abide
Until the sun shines warm.

We heard you ply, with eager zest,
Your one and only art,
And doubted not that in your breast
There beat a dauntless heart.
But though you tunefully gave tongue
To glad prophetic strains,
We bore in mind that you are young
And have, as yet, no brains.

When you are old, and only croak
In accents sad and drear,
Your head within the mud you'll poke
Till Spring is really here,
And when next April you arise
From out the sunlit wave,
You'll have discovered that the wise
Are very seldom brave!

DREAMS TO ORDER

Dr. James J. Walsh thinks he has discovered the cause of dreams. A woman having low blood pressure had nightmares. The doctor pumped a bit of iodine into her veins, whereupon her nightmares changed to delightful dreams. Instead of purgatorial adventures she now takes foreign trips and sees only pleasing landscapes aglow with rainbow colors. A doctor from Missouri, who doesn't believe all he hears, thinks the dream doctor may have mistakenly used opium in place of iodine. He says it is what we put into our stomachs, rather than what goes into the blood, that gives character to dreams. A lobster a la Newberg dream, for example, has a character of its own.

DOUGH AND DIAMONDS

Popular Science Monthly describes a new invention—the Pulsator. It pulls lost diamonds out of dough just as a magnet pulls filings out of mud, and there is no longer any reason why bedizened fingers should not make bread.

The same magazine also describes an automatic attachment for turning music by a piano player. A wave of a leg pulls a cord, throws a clamp and turns a page. It is claimed (by the inventor) that a dumb "belle" can now become a perfect pianist.

FROM THE HEART

If a book or a written article comes from the heart very likely it will contrive to reach other hearts. All authorcraft is of small amount to that, no matter if the modernists do wail and tear their hair.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE DYING YEAR

Another year goes down the track to join the million years that died; another crick is in my back, another stitch is in my side; each passing year gets in its whack and takes some ginger from my stride. Each year I'm closer to the end of this excursion we call life; my back is creaking when I bend, each hinge is like a rusty knife; and yet I cheerily pretend I am not injured by the strife. I say that I'm as good as new, I laugh to scorn all talk of dread, while putting back, with liquid glue, the hair that's falling from my head, while feeling aches in every thew and inflammations green and red. The passing years may leave me bent and make my once warm blood run cold, may in my vigor make a dent and whisper of the moss and mold, but they can't bluff me worth a cent or make me say that I am old. I've seen so many worn-out years go limping tembward, stark and bare; I've seen them laid upon their biers and thought I, too, might soon be there; but, though I have some broken gears, I still am right side up with care. My differential's on the blink, my cylinders don't always hit, my nerves are tangled in a kink, and now and then I throw a fit, but years are foolish if they think that they can make me fade or quit. ## LETTERS TO The Times

To Stop Speeding

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The effort of the police to put a stop to the human slaughter on the streets by fast, reckless driving is exceedingly commendable and should receive the hearty co-operation of every citizen and be given support in the daily press over any other topic. Yet some of our people seem to look upon this movement as something of a joke. A Mr. [illegible] says in The Times "If they had the entire police force of Los Angeles and Chicago combined to help them they still could not hold down the California motorists down to a speed limit of fifteen and twenty miles."

Listen to his reasoning. "The fifteen-and twenty-mile limit causes congestion and those rolling along at a reasonable rate of twenty-five or thirty miles an hour have to run past the slow ones, thereby increasing the danger to accident." Of course, those driving thirty-five or forty miles—as many do—have to dodge past the twenty-five or thirty-mile ones, increasing the danger to accident, therefore everyone should drive thirty-five or forty miles an hour.

Today while driving on Los Feliz from Western avenue to Vermont avenue I checked the speed of others by my speedometer when driving twenty miles an hour. No less than half a dozen passed me going over thirty miles an hour and one young woman whizzed past me at a forty-mile gait, as she drove two blocks to my one. That the entire motoring public can be kept within the limits of the law I believe to be possible. So that not a motorist in this county can plead ignorance of the new rules regarding speed limits, let there be a notice of warning printed in conspicuous headlines in every newspaper in the county every day for at least a week that every person driving faster than fifteen or twenty miles an hour will be arrested and the fine for the first offense will be $100 in every case and $300 for the second offense and the automobile confiscated for the third. Every movie theater in the county should for the same time throw this warning on the screen. The Automobile Club, I am sure, will gladly co-operate and post conspicuous signs all along every highway leading into Los Angeles county.

Are There Others?

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] What's the matter with our mail service? Some time ago a large batch of mail, intended for the writer and containing valuable communications, insurance papers and remittances, was inadvertently stuck through the door of a neighboring office, the occupant of which was a traveling salesman, out of town on an extended trip. You can imagine the annoyance and consternation such a piece of stupidity created during the succeeding weeks. Such mistakes may be forgivable, but they are certainly absolutely inexcusable and incidentally prove mighty expensive to the innocent victim.

A much-desired piece of mail matter was sent from Denver some six weeks or more ago, bearing the address of my former place of residence. It is still undelivered, notwithstanding the local postoffice has official notice of my change of residence and the further fact that the City Directory and telephone directory contain my present residence and business locations. Instead, a notice of nondelivery was mailed to the sender, with request for return postage. Eventually the notice, together with proper instructions as to delivery, were placed in the hands of the local postoffice and, although this was upward of a month ago and numerous subsequent appeals have been made, absolutely nothing has been done.

First-class matter, addressed to established business concerns in Los Angeles, but lacking street address, are either returned to sender or sent to the dead-letter office, without reference to city or telephone directory, in common and reasonable effort to effect delivery. Are there other victims of this unsatisfactory condition and are we not justified in registering protest?

"Flash Thinkers"

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I cannot refrain from expressing appreciation of your admirable editorial of yesterday on "England in Egypt." The expression was succinct, forceful and right to the point.

Such editorial views, fearlessly presented, will do more to strengthen the ties of blood and brotherhood binding the English-speaking peoples together than any other medium.

You and your colleagues are to be congratulated on your courage in describing a section of your fellow-countrymen as "flash-thinking." Study and sober reflection are what are needed.

C. H. FLEMING.

Christian Science

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In last Sunday's issue under "Care of the Body" Prof. Warman says, "When the Christian Scientist says there is no matter, it's no matter what he says. It is not Christian to deny the words of Christ; it is not scientific to deny the evidence of the senses."

This statement implies a misrepresentation of Christian Science.

The healing by Christian Science is in obedience to the direct commands of Christ Jesus and is indisputable evidence of our approval of the words and works of Christ.

Scientific men have found that they cannot rely upon the evidence of the senses which tell them that the sun rises in the east and that the rails of the railroad join in the distance.

The Light of the World

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18.—[To the Editor of the Times:] Will you please tell me what is the meaning of the picture of the man with the lantern? Is it the light of the world? Is it Christ's own plan of salvation? Is it the light of the world? Is it Christ's own plan of salvation? Is it the light of the world? Is it Christ's own plan of salvation

The pendulum swings to and fro,
And marks our passing years;
While Time bestows the gifts to bring
Of peace or joy or tears.

And loving hands, each added year,
Bring gifts to cheer our way,
And wish us many glad returns
Of our own natal day.

But on this birthday of our Lord,
Our gifts we gaily bring,
And lavish on our dearest friends,
And not on Christ our King!

The "Inasmuch" as they brought Thy gifts to one of these,
Is Christ's own plea that we should give,

FOOD WILL BE GIVEN TO POOR

Hundreds Will Receive Gifts at Christmas Fete at Market

Yuletide packages containing fruit and vegetables will be distributed to the poor tonight at the Union Terminal Market, Seventh street and Central avenue, according to the announcement yesterday of George A. Bigler, general manager.

All poor folk, especially residents in the neighborhood of the market, are invited for 8 p.m. There will be a big Christmas tree in the yard of the market, and between 1500 and 2000 packages will be ready for free distribution.

...jewels were being handed into the care of another man.

"His plan had been blasted. Having discovered that he was being separated from Mrs. Mors's fortune he determined to 'get' everybody responsible for his loss of that fortune.

"Nobody can believe McCoy's story as he told it. There is a conflict of the physical facts. If this woman committed suicide, why didn't he summon help and call a doctor? What does he do? He knew he had murdered Mrs. Mors and he wanted to cover it up. Everything was done in an effort to conceal his crime.

"Was McCoy irrational after the murder, as his attorneys would have us believe. He was rational enough to attempt to hide the clews of his crime, to visit his sister and tell her Mrs. Mors was dead. Yet he failed to tell how she died. He was rational enough to try to seek out a policeman against whom he had a grudge and whom he had planned to kill. He was not irrational during his rampage in the Mors Art Shop, when he crowded all those he planned to kill into one corner and those he planned to spare from his gun in another corner.

"If McCoy was irrational would he, when viewing the body of his dead mistress for the first time after his arrest, have sat silently by without expressing one word of endearment or without making some outcry like, 'My God! She killed herself!'

"Reckless? Yes. Criminal? Yes. Cold-blooded? Yes — but there is nothing this man did after killing his mistress that indicates he was irrational.

"A house built upon sands will stay there so long as fair weather lasts, but when the house is attacked by storms the house will shift.

"There are some truths in Kid McCoy's story. He has forgotten the apparent smaller things, and in failing to explain these he has contradicted himself time and again. His suicide story will not hold water."

MARITAL WOE TOLD

Chief Defense Counsel Giesler first centered his assault upon Mors, who sat a few feet from the jury box while he scribbled voluminous notes of things being said about him. Giesler reviewed the divorce entanglements of Mors and Mrs. Mors, and he declared to the jury that there had been no evidence of affection existing between these two. And then he shifted his argument to McCoy.

"McCoy may not be a good man," he said. "You may censure him. You may believe him to be a moral leper. But this defendant is not on trial for any imperfections of manhood. He is on trial for murder, and that alone."

McCoy held no ill feeling against Mrs. Mors, Giesler declared, and added that there had existed no reason for McCoy to kill her, but there was ample reason for Mrs. Mors to commit suicide, he added. And in support of his contention he cited the divorce complaints, the seizure of her jewels by the government as smuggled goods, the continual quarrels with her husband over a satisfactory property settlement, Mors's theft of her safe of $50,000 in jewels and Mors's threats to kill her, for which he was arrested a few days before her death.

"And if this man were the beast the prosecution will have you believe he was," Giesler concluded, "do you think he would have shot Mrs. Mors only once if he were intent upon killing her to obtain her fortune? He would not. He would have pumped her full of lead until every bullet had been fired. Ladies and gentlemen, only one bullet was fired in that apartment that night, though it contained two loaded pistols. Persons who commit suicide never fire more than one shot."

JULIAN REPORTS COMPANY PLANS

the addition to the resources of the Julian Petroleum Corporation of the entire production from seventeen active wells controlled by the Lewis Oil Corporation in Huntington Beach, Santa Fe Springs and Torrance, and plans for the extension of the Julian service stations on the Pacific Coast.

NEW DIRECTORS

The new directors, in addition to Senator King, are:

Edmund C. Harris, New York and Tampico, president of the Gulf Consolidated Petroleum Corporation, and for years associated with E. H. Harriman and James A. Stillwell in construction of their railroad properties in Mexico, Texas and Kansas.

Frank Williams, president of the Broadway Central Bank, New York City.

S. C. Lewis, president of the Lewis Oil Corporation, 25 Broadway, New York. The Lewis Oil Corporation is a producing, refining and marketing company, with business and holdings in the mid-continent territory and Mexico.

Chester A. Sheppard, Portland, Or., a director in some twenty corporations in Oregon and Washington.

Henry L. Campbell, Indianapolis, Ind., president of the H. C. S. Automobile Manufacturing Company and president of the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

J. Del Rio of Tampico, general manager of the Rich-Mex Petroleum Company of Tampico, oil producers in the Panuco field.

KING ON WAY HERE

Senator King, Lewis said last night, is now on his way to Los Angeles and will reach the city some time this morning.

The full details of the reorganization and additional plans for the company will be announced to the stockholders at the corporation's annual meeting to be held at the Hollywood Bowl January 20, next, Julian said. The corporation's books show there are more than 43,000 stockholders in the Julian company.

The negotiations closed with the election of the new directors have been going on for several months, a statement issued last night by Lewis disclosed. A thorough investigation of the Julian properties, the original program of the corporation for the establishment of a complete producing, refining and marketing unit, and the actual accomplishments credited to Julian and his associates was made by him and his fellow-investors, Lewis said.

The complete pipe line system connecting the Julian storage tank farms at Norwalk and Gardena with the harbor loading plant and the oil fields in the Los Angeles basin appealed strongly to the men associated with him, Mr. Lewis said, as an important facility for independent oil producers.

"It will be our purpose," the statement continues, "to complete the building of the proposed refinery during the year 1925, to add a fleet of tankers of sufficient capacity to take care of shipments to the Atlantic seaboard and to extend the system of wholesale or retail filling stations throughout the State of California."

UPBUILDING PLANNED

The Lewis Oil Corporation, Mr. Lewis added, will be absorbed by the Julian company and the directors of the former will devote their best time, efforts and energy to the upbuilding of the Julian corporation and the successful completion of its original program.

As soon as the arrangements can be made, the production of the wells owned and controlled by the Lewis Oil Corporation will be turned into the Julian tanks over the Julian pipe line system, Mr. Julian said. Some of the financing pledged the Julian Petroleum Corporation by the new directors will be handled with this production, it was learned.

"I also wish to state," Mr. Julian declared in his statement, "that I believe every stockholder in the Julian Petroleum Corporation has felt from the inception of this company that the corporation has been handicapped by the lack of sufficient funds to function its facilities for carrying out the program outlined. I feel that the addition of these men to our board, the large help to the future management, and their resources and standing in the business world practically solve the troubles of the Julian Petroleum Corporation and give the brightest possible outlook for the future."

STEP NECESSARY

Mr. Julian admitted freely that the reorganization took a considerable part of the control of the corporation out of his hands, but said he felt the step was necessary to bring about the desired results. He denied the reports that the withdrawal of Mr. Roth and the other former directors from the board had any but business significance.

"There is no foundation whatever for the report that there has been any friction between Mr. Roth and myself," he said. "Mr. Roth is to become president of a large oil corporation in the northern part of the State. He retains all his interests in this company, and all our friendship and takes with him our best wishes for success."

BROKER LICENSE TO BE REVOKED

the corporation, although he did not hold a permit from the department. In evidence submitted to the department Hool gave at least $75,000 of these notes, the majority of them to mature on the 31st inst.

That the corporation in acting as agent for the sale of stock of the San Diego Lamp and Manufacturing Company received a selling commission in excess of 20 per cent, while the permit held by the lamp company expressly prohibited paying a commission greater than 20 per cent.

That the corporation negotiated for the sale of its capital stock in amounts in excess of what was authorized under its permit.

STIPULATION MADE

During hearings on the case Lawpence L. Larrabee, counsel for the corporation, stipulated to the department that the Federal Securities Corporation received a commission in excess of 20 per cent of the amount paid in cash on sales of the lamp company stock.

Under examination by Deputy Commissioner Hinds, who prosecuted the case for the department, Russell G. Boyd, a salesman for the Federal Securities Corporation, testified that he had "placed" many of Hool's personal notes and had received a selling commission in some instances running as high as 15 per cent.

F. S. Conger, a witness put on by Deputy Hinds, stated that he held Hool's personal note and he understood that it could be exchanged for stock when the latter was issued.

In connection with its investigation the department learned that Hool was at one time president of the Hool Realty Company of Chicago. The department has a letter from Hool in which he states that the company went into involuntary bankruptcy in Illinois in 1922.

HOOL UNDER BAN

The Chicago company, the department later learned, was under investigation by the Illinois State Legislature. As evidence of this fact the department has a report of the Illinois Building Investigation Committee made to the General Assembly in 1923 in which the Hool Realty Company is discussed.

The local files of the State Real-Estate Department show that Hool held a California real-estate license in 1923. On August 23, last, a notation appears in the files stating that no license is to be issued to Hool until the matter is taken up personally with the commissioner.

In an exhibit filed with the Corporation Commission the officers and directors of the Federal Securities Corporation, besides Dodge and Hool, are named as Harry H. Hunter, vice-president; Hyman Harrison, director, and Frank S. Griffis, treasurer.

The Best for Baby

If your baby is a bottle baby it will be wise to spend the few extra cents on the quart and buy certified milk. It is, perhaps, the best way to make up the difference between mother's and cow's milk.

CHANGE RULING ON CITY COUNCIL

"yes" votes than the charter itself (Proposition A.)

This was on the ground that a constitutional provision providing that when two propositions are in conflict and both attain a majority of votes, then the proposition getting the larger majority of votes shall prevail over the other proposition.

Councilman Mushet said yesterday that he was "pleased beyond expression" at the Supreme Court decision for twenty years he had fought for district representation in the Council.

APPEAL DECISION

After the Council had decided that district representation had been defeated at the May 6 election, the proponents of district representation appealed to the courts in an action brought in the name of Clarence W. Horn, and the District Court of Appeal upheld the Council's action. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court which decided against the Council and in favor of district representation.

In granting the writ of mandate against the Council, Associate Justice Shenk, author of the decision, said:

"The sole question for this court to determine is: 'Did the Council properly declare and determine the result of the vote on Proposition No. 2?'

"It is the contention of the respondents (City Council) that the charter received a larger number of votes than the separate proposition, therefore the charter in its entirety was ratified and the separate proposition defeated. Counsel for respondents arrive at this conclusion by reason of their construction of the language of the constitution, that if more than one proposition receives a majority of the votes, the proposition receiving the larger number of votes shall control as to the matter in conflict.

CLEAR DISTINCTION

"An examination of the constitutional language in question discloses a clear distinction between the submission of a charter and the submission of separate propositions in connection therewith. The submission of a charter is one thing and the submission of separate propositions is quite another.

"The contention of respondents is based on the assumption that Nos. 1 and 2 are alternative propositions as contemplated by the Constitution. But the 'proposition' referred to in that clause is one of two separate propositions submitted with the charter, which, as between such separate propositions, is found to prevail. The confusion resulting from the assumption of counsel for respondent arises by reason of the fact that with that assumption, propositions Nos. 1 and 2 are deemed strictly alternative propositions.

"The intention of petitioner, as indicated by his vote, was readily and freely expressed under a method by which propositions were submitted to him. He was in favor of the charter, except as to the at-large plan of Councilmanic representation. He, therefore, voted for both propositions, intending, first, that the charter would be adopted, and second, that proposition No. 2, or the district plan, should displace the provisions of the proposed charter relating to the at-large plan. We may assume that 88,275 voters were like minded and so expressed their intention, for that number of votes were cast in favor of proposition No. 2, and more than that number in favor of the charter.

"According to the election returns, it required a vote of 72,673 to ratify the charter. If the 88,275 electors who were in favor of the district plan had voted against the charter, as they might have done if they had thought their votes would have been considered also in favor of the at-large plan, the charter would be defeated."

Justice Shenk's decision was concurred in unanimously by the other six members of the court.

There is a possibility that opponents of district representation may urge members of the Legislature which convenes in January to refuse to ratify the new Los Angeles charter. If ratification which is usually considered perfunctory fails it may mean a delay of at least two years before Los Angeles makes an attempt to secure another one.

City Attorney Stephens last night said:

"I have been extremely anxious to receive the decision of the Supreme Court in this matter, finally determining the question at issue. I have not yet seen the text of the decision, of course, and will not be able to say exactly what the next step will be until I do see it. Just as soon as it is proper to do so, however, the officials of the city will make the necessary certification, as required by law, in order that the charter as approved by the people may be submitted for the formal approval of the State Legislature.

"The question submitted to the court was a very complicated one, in view of the peculiar wording of the State constitution. When the formal count of the ballots indicated the manner in which the people had voted it was my view that under the law the alternative providing for district representation had received the necessary vote and was carried, and I so advised the City Council.

"That body, however, took a different view of the situation, and in the formal determination of the result of the election determined that the alternative measure containing a provision for district representation failed to carry. Subsequently the action in which the decision has just now been handed down was brought in the District Court of Appeal to compel the council to certify that the alternative measure did carry. Inasmuch as the members of the City Council were made defendants in this action, it was my duty, under the charter, to defend the action of the City Council, to the best of my ability.

"This I did, and the decision of the District Court of Appeal sustained the action of the Council. A hearing before the Supreme Court was then asked for by the plaintiff in the action, and after argument the Supreme Court granted such hearing. The whole case was then argued before the Supreme Court in written briefs and resulted in the decision just handed down."

Artisans Gain by Earthquake

The artisans of Japan are said to have greatly gained by the earthquake of September, last. There is plenty of work and the wages are high, as there is a demand for the labor of this class of workers. On the other hand, the teachers, clerks and professional men have been the sufferers as there is little or no demand for their services and no relief in sight.

LIMERICK LINES HUSTLE SANTA

the other day that it would be a monotonous world if there were no differences of opinion. A limerick comment to the general effect that his judgment is rotten comes from E. J. Richards, 1241 West Fifty-fourth street:

Tell the judges who pass on the rhymes
That appear day by day in The Times
That the ones who don't win
Cause more people to grin
And beat the prize-getters dollars to dimes.

Barring a last line a bit too long, not so bad. Here's one to balance it from J. McD Matthews, 1758 Childs avenue:

I haven't missed one single day,
Won nothing, but nothing to say;
For I'm frank to admit
That with all of my wit
The winners outdid me, Hooray!

Another comment in limerick form comes from Clara M. Niehaus, 1815 Sheridan Drive, San Diego.

This Limerick is not very cutis,
It hasn't any literary beauty,
As a reader of The Times
I am sending these lines
And feel that I've done my duty.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Honoring Miss Margaret Martin, debutante of the season, a delightfully planned dinner-dance was given last evening by Miss Doris Braly and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hyde Braly, at their beautiful new home in Muirfield Road, the decorations being exquisitely carried out in Christmas motif with holly, poinsettias, Christmas berries, candles and ferns combined. The table of the young hostess and debutante was gay with an immense low placque of crimson flowers, red candles and red satin ribbons, while the place cards carried out the same color scheme and motif. Those at this table were Miss Martin, Miss Braly, Miss Hortense McLaughlin, Miss Betty Bettingen, Miss Jane Lawler, Miss Dorothy Fulton, Miss Alice Hicks, Miss Polly Schoder, James Woods, Tony Hollister, Jack Garland, Howard Cunningham, H. Hoen Berger, Robert Hocking, Ernest Adams, Victor Forve, Donald Reps and Frederick Kayser. Mr. and Mrs. Braly and Miss Braly were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. James Rufus Martin, parents of the guests of honor. One hundred and ten guests, members of the younger set, enjoyed the evening's entertainment.

Fraternity Dance

One of the enjoyable affairs of recent date was the delightful dancing party given at the Alvarado Apartments Saturday evening by the Psi Omega Fraternity of University of Southern California. The color scheme and decorations of the ballroom carried out the true spirit of the Christmas holidays.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fleishman, formerly of Chicago, who are making their home at 1210 Orange Drive, Hollywood, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anita Fleishman, to Mack Rose of this city, the wedding date to be announced later. Christmas night Mr. and Mrs. Fleishman are entertaining with an affair at their home in honor of their daughter's engagement. They will be assisted by their daughter, Miss Rose Fleishman. Sixty guests have been bidden.

In the East

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney King Russell, who, with their young daughter, Joyce, left for New York October 16, enjoyed a month at the Chatham Hotel, but are now domiciled for the winter at 150 West Fifty-fifth street.

Younger Set

Miss Mary Carolyn Kittle and her sister, Miss Eleanor Kittle, entertained with a merry little party at the Mary Louise Friday afternoon, the affair being in the nature of a bridge luncheon served in the Flower Room, the guests being a group of their young school friends. The luncheon table was beautifully decorated with pink and lavendar sweet peas, candlesticks and ribbon runners, and miniature telephones formed the place favors, cleverly adding levity to the occasion. Miss Mary Carolyn is a student at Westlake School for Girls, while Miss Eleanor is enrolled at the Bishop's School at La Jolla.

Interesting Betrothal

Rev. and Mrs. Duncan Black of Port Angeles, Wash., formally announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Miss Ruth Ulyate Black, to Pierre Edson Letchworth of Jerome, Ariz., formerly of Covina. Mr. Letchworth is the elder son of Mrs. Pierre Edson Letchworth of Penjerrick Ranch, Covina.

For Bride

Mrs. J. Douglas Wagner, formerly Miss Marjorie Saunders, was the inspiration for a very beautiful party at the Barbara Worth in El Centro Friday, the attractive hostess being Mrs. W. A. Saunders of Los Angeles and Calexico, who very cleverly carried out the bright Christmas colors in her decorations and table favors. Luncheon was served at round tables on the mezzanine, after which bridge and mah jongg were featured, the prizes at the former games being won by the guest of honor and Mrs. Genevieve Williams and Mrs. C. S. Anderson, while at the mah jongg games Mrs. Roy Thompson, Mrs. J. C. Graham and Mrs. W. A. Richardson were victorious. Mrs. Wagner will be remembered as a student at Westlake School and one of the most popular members of the younger set.

To Make Home Here

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Gates, Jr., will be glad to hear of their safe arrival home after nine months abroad. They will be with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gates, at 320 South Harvard Boulevard, until they build their own home. They are planning to make Los Angeles their permanent home.

Birthday Anniversary

Capt. Omar B. Tourtellotte, who winters each year in Los Angeles, was the guest of honor at a delightful affair when guests of the Ramona Hotel surprised him with a party reminding him of his birthday anniversary. The occasion celebrated the eighty-third anniversary of his birthday, the evening passed with a delightful musicale and singing of old-time melodies.

For Visitor

One of the delightful affairs of the week was the bridge tea with which Miss Eleanor Harriet Connell entertained yesterday afternoon at her home in Mariposa avenue, honoring Miss Martha Burt of Boston, who is the house guest of Miss Helen Henry of Oak Knoll, Pasadena. The house was respendent with Christmas decorations, and the attractive young hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Joseph Thurston Connell, and her sister, Miss Catherine Kent Connell. Those included in the afternoon's affair were Miss Henry, Miss Burt, Miss Polly Holbert, Miss Dorothy Brown, Miss Katherine Briggs, Miss Dorothy Cocke, Miss Virginia Deardorff, Miss Frances Fertig, Miss Eleanor Griffith, Miss Lura Hodge, Miss Ruby Hay, Miss Elizabeth Hay, Miss Charlotte Lovekin, Miss Eleaner Moses, Miss Katherine McCahan, Miss Mary McAlister, Miss Katherine Pauly, Miss Edna Louise Ruwe, Miss Marion Thomas, Miss Harriett Andrews, Miss Elizabeth Mernin, Miss Helen Broughall, Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, Miss Ruth Mabee, Miss Maria Anderson, Miss Mary Katherine Kumler, Miss Helen Bishop, Miss Katherine Ruddy, Miss Marian Ruddy, Mrs. Linville Mayden Haynes, Mrs. Edward Kuerton Sheahan, Mrs. George Orme, Mrs. Harold Longley, Mrs. Henry Mahan, Mrs. Robert Osgood, Mrs. Charles Potter, Mrs. George Galbraith and Mrs. George Ridge.

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

COMMON COLD (ACUTE CORYZA)—Part I

We had the third paper on colds yesterday. If you missed the series you may have it by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

TO PREVENT COLDS

First, see that your personal hygiene is correct. (Diet, fresh air, clothes, exercises, and so forth.) Cold bathing, for those who react well, undoubtedly does help to "harden" the system. Those who cannot take cold baths can dash water. Second, do not come in close contact with those who are suffering from acute colds for such colds are contagious. Third, have any malformations of growth in the nose or throat attended to.

TREATMENT

The preliminary symptoms of colds are usually dryness of the nose and dryness and soreness of the throat. Often a local treatment with a swab or spray with an antiseptic solution, applied two or three times a day, will kill off the germs and abort a cold. We gave some formulas for the local treatment in the preceding papers.

If you do not succeed in aborting a cold, it will take a definite course. Like other infectious diseases it is self-limited. Sooner or later the system manufacturers a defense which overcomes it. One cold, instead of making one immune predisposes one to another, so try to get yourself up to par as soon as possible. Unless you are under the care of a physician internal drugs should not be used. The local treatment should be used throughout the cold as it helps to shorten its course.

If a cold is very bad it is best to stay in bed for a few days. Have a paper bag pinned near to put the soiled handkerchiefs or cloths in; burn the cloths and have the handkerchiefs boiled before they are handled again. A hot sweating bath, if you do not get chilled afterward, may help in the beginning of a cold. A mild cathartic is necessary if you are constipated. Keep very warm all during a cold, but have fresh air night and day.

DIET

The diet should consist largely of fruits, vegetables, milk and cereals, omitting the meats, fish and egg-whites for a period. You will defeat your purpose if you overeat, but do not undereat.

(There are no "mucous forming" foods. As I have told you before, it has been conspicuously demonstrated that diets lacking in vitamins and mineral matters will cause inflammation of the mucuous membranes, as well as of other tissues of the body. There are no foods which in themselves will cause mucus. We have articles on balanced diet, acidosis and auto-intoxication which you may have if you self-address and stamp the envelope you send for them.)

COLDS WHILE REDUCING

If you should get an acute cold while you are on a reducing diet it is best to go back to the maintenance diet. It is not necessary to gain. It has been my own personal experience and observation that colds will hang on longer if one is undernourished. Undernourished children and adults suffer frequently from colds as well as other disturbances.

CHILDREN'S COLDS

Many children and babies have chronic colds through getting uncovered at night during the cold weather. At this time children should sleep in sleeping bags, or blankets and covers should be pinned down—not too tightly—with safety pins. Get some of the horse blanket pins. They will not pull open. It is well to have a little shawl or baby blanket over the children's shoulders, pinned on carefully, and if very cold, put a cap on. Do not be afraid this will weaken them. These last precautions are also good for adults on very cold nights.

I am going to repeat, because it is important, that if you have a baby when you are suffering from a cold you must wear a mask of several thicknesses of gauze over your nose and mouth when you handle him, and wash your hands thoroughly each time before you touch him or any things that may come in contact with him.

(Tomorrow—A Talk on Christmas.)

My Dear Fellows:

When sending for personal advice, please remember to inclose a self-addressed envelope bearing proper postage and address. The pamphlet on "Reducing" is the only one for which I charge. It costs 10 cents in stamps or coin. Letters in reply to questions of general interest are published in this column. Address Dr. Lulu Hunt Peters, care of this paper, and inclose a self-addressed envelope for reply. Be sure to write your name in ordinary handwriting, not in a fancy way. Be sure to write clearly. If your writing is illegible it will be impossible for me to answer you personally. Be sure to inclose a self-addressed envelope. Beautiful, heavy paper will be used for the letters. Please remember that it is impossible for me to give you individual advice regarding your health. Questions you ask will be answered in this column as soon as possible. Please be patient. Don't expect to receive answers to your letters by return mail. Don't expect to receive answers to your letters at all unless you inclose a self-addressed envelope. If you do not receive an answer within a reasonable time, write me again. Be sure to mention the date of the publication in which you saw the article.

WIFE SUES FOR WINE

Asks Twenty-six Barrels As Her Share of Community Cellar

Mrs. Chiara Nicassio will invoke the aid of the Superior Court tomorrow in an effort to obtain possession of twenty-six barrels of wine which she contends is her half of the community wine cellar accumulated by the joint efforts of herself and her husband, Dominic Nicassio.

Mrs. Nicassio recently sued for divorce on cruelty charges, asserting in her complaint that her husband had attacked her while she was stewing spaghetti one evening and had spoiled the family dinner.

The ownership of the wine will come before the court in alimony and property proceedings. An interesting legal point is involved in the question of whether a State's court can award the liquor in view of the Federal prohibition laws. S. S. Hahn is attorney for Mrs. Nicassio.

THE LAST WORD.
BY ALMA WHITAKER

SENORAS BLANCO

In the railroad stations in some of those little Central American republics there are often two "Ladies Rooms," one marked for white women—Senoras Blanco—and one for colored.

One day in Panama, being unaware of this distinction, I wandered into the colored section. All was scrupulously neat, tidy, clean, hygienic, and nothing could have been more respectful and courteous than the treatment I received from my colored sisters.

Present one who spoke English pointed out my mistake and politely guided me to the department for Senoras Blanco.

And here, to my dismay and astonishment, things were by no means neat, and scrupulously hygienic. Paper was strewn about the floor in wasteful profusion, water had been slopped around, dirty power rags, hair pins, old gloves, etc., gave dreadful evidence that senoras blanco are, in the mass, by no means dainty.

I remarked upon this to the colored attendant, and she smiled enigmatically. Yes, she said, it would make me much astonishment should I know how dirty, inconsiderate, and thoroughly sloppy these white ladies could be.

Perhaps, she volunteered politely, it was because the senoras blanco were in the habit of having people wait upon them and clearing up after them, whereas the colored women were used to doing housework and therefore had this greater consideration for each other.

DIFFERENCE OF SERVED AND SERVERS

Now, you must admit this was a bit of a shock. Later I talked to the colored attendant in my bank's rest room—where all the woman customers were "white." She, too, told a sorry tale of unbelievably dirty habits, of toilets left unflushed or stopped up with refuse, of towels used for cleaning shoes and other improper purposes, of the use of commen power rags and lipsticks, of even incredibly soiled and torn underwear changed and left behind in the washroom.

Soon I was to find that chambermaids in hotels, even quite smart hotels, have the same horrid story to tell. Oh, sometimes surely there are clean and dainty senoras blanco, but many of them, so very many of them, are inersdibly slovenly.

Creams and powders slopped over good rugs, fine towels used for make-up rags, holes burned in dresser scarfs with cigarettes, medicines spilled all over the place, hot irons left to burn grievous marks in fine mahogany furniture, food refuse left about, crumbs all over the floor.

ARE MEN WORSE?

And what about the men, I wanted to know—were they even worse?

Why no, not worse, but bad enough. Their dirt took on a different order—more untidiness than dirtiness, and much of it due to smoking and spilling the ash and matches anywhere, and through not putting their clothes away. But tidy, neat, scrupulously clean people, she assured me, were really quite rare. She had come to believe that most of the people that traveled were careless and untidy, to say the least. Perhaps the clean people, the good housekeeping people, used to well-ordered homes and properly trained, did not travel so much.

Now this horrid tale comes out of America and is about Americans mostly—the nation that considers it leads the world in sanitation, hygiene, personal cleanliness and all the rest of it. Perhaps it is true of other nationalities as well—but it has no right to be possible of us. It is high time we mended our ways, high time we improved the reputation of senoras blanco. Otherwise, you know, there is a good deal of a grim joke about that segregration of rest rooms on our behalf. It may so easily be for the benefit of our colored sisters.

THIRD BODY IS FOUND IN BOAT BLAST

J. A. Harrison, Passenger on La Moyne, Was Sailor on U.S.S. Tennessee

Another man was added to the list of known dead in the explosion and fire aboard the water taxi La Moyne at Los Angeles Harbor recently when the body of J. A. Harrison, electrician's mate, third class, U.S.S. Tennessee, was recovered and identified yesterday. When the body was first brought to the surface it was believed to be that of J. A. Keck, known to be drowned and missing since the accident, but papers found showed the body to be Harrison's. Keck's body still is missing.

The body of M. A. Moore, another sailor drowned, was recovered a few hours after he died. The finding of Harrison's body brings the death list to three.

The body was found about 400 yards from the U.S.S. Pennsylvania by Joseph Scalo, captain of the United States customs launch Otter, who put it aboard the Pennsylvania. When it was identified it was transferred to the Tennessee and later was sent to the Palm & McLinn undertaking rooms at San Pedro.

GEM BRACELET HELD

A white gold and platinum bracelet set with thirty-five diamonds and worth $2500 is at Central Police Station awaiting an owner.

The bracelet was discovered several days ago, according to Detective Lieutenants Thompson and Huntington, in the pocket of Charles Austin, whom they had arrested for vagrancy. Austin said he had found it in front of the Elite Cafe. He was discharged on his promise to leave town, and left, the police said.

But no claimant has yet come forward for the bracelet.

COUNCIL APPROVES WATER LINES MAP

The City Council yesterday adopted the revised map of the improvement district which, on January 15, will vote on the question of issuing $1,200,000 in bonds for water-distributing lines in the Laurel Canyon section. The water lines will serve 12,000 acres and will be linked with the municipal Aqueduct system. The bonds will cost the property owners of the district nothing, as under the new charter all interest and sinking fund charges on them will be paid from the water department from its revenues.

COUNCIL HAS PROBLEM OF HALL AWARD

Board of Works Forwards All Data on Architecture Contest Plans

The Board of Public Works with Commissioner Eldridge voting "No" yesterday washed its hands of the controversy over the methods to be adopted in choosing an architect for the new $5,000,000 City Hall and forwarded to the Council all of the communications in the board's files bearing on the subject. It will now be up to the Council to decide whether or not to proceed with the proposed architectural competition or to select an architect or architects, without competition.

Commissioner Eldridge was in favor of the board's recommending that it be instructed by the Council to proceed with the "two-step" competition recommended by a committee of architects. Under this plan all architects in Los Angeles county would be invited to submit sketches and from these the best four or five would be chosen, and then the architects who prepared them would be asked to develop the sketches into complete designs. From these the final one would be chosen and the architect who prepared it employed as architect for the building.

The Allied Architects' Association has submitted an offer to design the City Hall, and three architects—John Parkinson, John C. Austin and Albert C. Martin—have also joined forces for the work and made an offer to the city for the appointment. The two offers were included in the correspondence transferred to the Council yesterday by the board.

FLOYD ARRAIGNED

Ex-Culver City Recorder Will Plead January 5

A. H. Floyd, former city recorder at Culver City who was recently indicted on fourteen counts in connection with asserted embezzlement of fines collected from speeders, appeared before Superior Judge Crail yesterday for arraignment. The case was continued until January 5, 1925, at which time he will enter a plea.

Eight of the counts against Floyd charge him with embezzlement of sums of money ranging from $15 to $300. The other counts charge falsifying public records, and alteration and destruction of public records.

Floyd was known to the motoring public as a severe justice in the prosecution of speeding cases.

Low Decorations

Use low floral decorations on the dining table, so they do not obstruct the vision of those seated across from each other. Also, they are not so easily overturned.

Connie, Back for Holidays, Denies Any Engagement

Constance Talmadge, diffusing Christmas spirit and denials of prospective marital alliances, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from New York for a stay in the Southland of sufficient length at least to permit her to welcome the New Year from this point of vantage.

"Engagements! To whom?" laughed the cinema star. "My goodness, no. Nothing like it. If there were I wouldn't have time to think about it now. This is Christmas, and I haven't bought all my presents yet, either."

If Miss Talmadge has promised her hearr and hand to any of the numerous aspirants thereto, definite announcement will be held in abeyance pending the passage of the holidays.

The fact that Buster Collier, whose name is persistently linked with hers in a prospective matrimonial way, greeted her bareheaded in a heavy mist failed to chase thoughts of Santa Claus and induce those of Cupid.

Others of the screen colony to greet Miss Talmadge and her mother as they stepped from the train were Natalie Talmadge, John Considine, Jr., and Eddie Mannix.

At present the plans of the film actress are to remain in Los Angeles until the return of Joseph Schenck and her sister, Norma. Work on two pictures is to be started late in February.

SUSPECT ARREST NEAR IN POISONING ATTEMPT

The arrest of the man suspected of an attempt to poison the family of Joseph Melich, Redondo Beach resident, within the next twenty-four hours was predicted last night by the Redondo Beach police, who have been active in the poison investigation. While Chief of Police Henry of the beach city was unwilling to disclose the information that led him to believe that an arrest was imminent in the case, it was known that his department had sent many telegrams to eastern and northern points, and it is believed that the suspect has been located by means of those wires.

POTATO BARRAGE TOO MUCH, BRIDE AVERS

The honeymoon next to which Karl J. Vogel, professional wrestler, conducted his bride after their wedding was situated between a gas house and a fish market, Mrs. Betty Vogel declared in a suit for divorce, filed yesterday. Vogel had displayed a tempestuous disposition by throwing potatoes at her on one occasion, Mrs. Vogel said, and because of this and his athletic prowess, she declared she was afraid to live with him. She charged cruelty.

ICED ORANGE PUDDING

M. L. A., Los Angeles, wants to know if it would be proper to serve an iced orange pudding for a buffet luncheon that she is serving New Year's Day, and asks that we give her a recipe for the pudding.

Ice creams in fancy forms, sherbets or iced puddings are proper for a New Year's buffet luncheon.

To make a nice orange pudding the same as ice cream, place in a two-quart saucepan half a cupful of well-washed and drained rice, the grated rind of one orange, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, the strained juice of one orange, four cupfuls of milk and one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Mix well and boil slowly for fifteen minutes. Beat the yolks of five eggs with half a cupful of cream and stir into the mixture and cook and stir without boiling for five minutes. Set the pan in a pan of cold water and stir until cold. Pour the mixture into an ice-cream freezer and freeze. Place the frozen cream in a quart mold, cover tight and bury in two parts coarse salt and two parts chopped ice for two hours. Unmold on a cold plate and serve in slices.

SAGE AND ONION DRESSING

One of our friends wrote a note asking that we give a recipe for sage and onion dressing and we lost the note. We hope that she will see this recipe in time for her Christmas dinner.

Chop half an onion very fine and cook in one tablespoonful of butter until the onion is golden colored. Mix two cupfuls of grated bread crumbs with half a cupful of milk and let stand one hour. Mix the crumbs with the onion and add one tablespoonful of melted butter, half a teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of powdered sage, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of thyme, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of summer savory and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper; mix well and use.

CREAM OF OYSTER SOUP.

L. B. H., Los Angeles, wants a strained cream of oyster soup for Christmas.

For six servings place four tablespoonfuls of butter and four tablespoonfuls of flour and blend well, add, stirring constantly, two cupfuls of cold milk and stir and cook until thick and smooth. Stir two cupfuls of minced oysters and their liquor slowly for six minutes. Strain through a sieve into a clean saucepan, season with celery salt, minced parsley and white pepper. Reheat, add half a cupful of boiling cream and serve. To serve thirty use one and a quarter cupfuls of butter, one and a quarter cupfuls of flour, two quarts and one pint of milk, two quarts and one pint of minced oysters and their liquor, and four cupfuls of boiling cream. Season with salt, celery, celery salt, white pepper and finely chopped parsley.

FRUIT CAKE

L. B. C., Los Angeles, lent her recipe for fruit cake to a friend, who lost it, and she asks that we give it again.

Mix four cupfuls of sifted flour sifted with one tablespoonful of ground cinnamon, one tablespoonful of ground mace and one tablespoonful of ground nutmeg with two pounds of California currants, one pound of seedless raisins, one pound of chopped candied cherries, one pound of chopped candied orange peel, one pound of chopped blanched almonds and two pounds of seeded raisins.

Beat two cupfuls of butter to a cream and gradually beat into it two cupfuls of granulated sugar and beat until light and creamy; add eight well-beaten eggs and beat five minutes, beating the whites and yolks separately. Add one cupful of brandy flavor and one cupful of cider and beat three minutes. Combine the two mixtures, mix well, place in two large double paper-lined cake pans, cover with a paper and bake in a slow oven three hours.

LADY BALTIMORE CAKE

A. M. N., Long Beach, asks for a recipe for Lady Baltimore cake and the filling and icing.

Beat two-thirds of a cupful of butter to a cream and beat into it slowly two cupfuls of sifted granulated sugar and beat three minutes. Sift three and a quarter cupfuls of sifted flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and add to the butter mixture alternately with one cupful of milk. Beat smooth, add one and a half teaspoonfuls of vanilla extract and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of six eggs. Pour into three buttered and floured layer-cake tins and bake in a moderate oven. Put the layers together with fruit and nut filling and ice with ice-cream frosting.

FRUIT AND NUT FILLING

Place in a clean saucepan three cupfuls of sugar and one cupful of water, mix well, bring to a boil and boil until a little dropped from the tip of a spoon will spin a fine thread; beat the boiling syrup slowly into the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and beat until thick enough to spread. Beat in half a cupful of chopped candied cherries, half a cupful of chopped seeded raisins, half a cupful of chopped walnut meats, half a cupful of chopped candied pineapple and one cupful of dried figs cut in thin strips. Spread between the cake layers.

ICE-CREAM FROSTING

Boil two cupfuls of granulated sugar with one-third of a cupful of water until it will spin a fine thread when dropped from the tip of a spoon and beat slowly into the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs; add one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and beat until stiff enough to spread.

POUND CAKE

M. E. A., Banning, wants a recipe for an old-fashioned cake, a recipe that will [illegible] fifteen.

Beat to a light cream one pound of butter and beat into it one pound of sifted granulated sugar and beat until light and creamy. Beat in the yolks of nine eggs and two minutes with the grated rind of one lemon. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of nine eggs and well mixed, fold in four pounds flour that has been sifted three times. Pour into paper-lined cake tins and bake in a slow oven.

FLAKY PASTRY

R. H. M., Lankershim, asks for a recipe for a flaky pie crust that will make one pie.

Sift one and a half cupfuls sifted flour with one teaspoonful salt and chop into it with a chopper six tablespoonfuls of lard; chop until the lard is in pieces and add enough cold water to hold together. Place on a floured board, roll out, fold in three, roll out and use.

a.m. William Mulholland, engineer of the Los Angeles for whom the highway is christened; Mayor Cryer, of the Board of Public officers and directors of the Chamber of Com- merce, the Hollywood chamber and other civic dignitaries, will assemble before a portal banked on either side with holiday greens and festooned with flowers. Between the uprights a sheet of tissue paper, stretched like a giant circus hoop, will bar the way and screen the view.

OPENING EVENTS

At a given signal, Miss Los Angeles and an escort not yet named will burst through the tissue, bearing a banner on which will be inscribed "From Los Angeles to her 1,250,000 citizens." Troops of Mexican and Indian riders, typifying the early history of the country through which the highway passes, will follow, opening wide the portal.

Mayor Cryer then will accept the highway in the name of the city, a bottle of Los Angeles Aqueduct water will be broken to christen it, and it will officially be declared open, the Mayor and accompanying officials, municipal and civic, will be the first to pass over it, riding in two new modern busses. Behind them will stream more automobiles, the committee estimates, that ever filled a California highway. Overhead will soar Army and civilian planes, scattering roses and carrying photographers for the press and the motion-picture news weeklies.

Eighty planes, those from the Army taking the air between 11 and 11:30 a.m. and the civilians between 11:45 and 12:30, will do formation and individual stunt flying, winding up with an imitation duel between two pursuit planes. After their descent, the flyers will be luncheon guests of El Caballero Country Club.

SHOWS FOR VISITORS

Meantime, Tom Mix and a company of rough riders will be putting on a rodeo, and Universal Pictures players will be giving a Midway show. The ceremonies and entertainment at Calabasas should be over at 3 p.m.

While the long queue of automobiles rolls over the newly-opened High Way, a parade will be forming in Hollywood Boulevard, due to march at 1:30 p.m. Leading it will be Col. Walter P. Story and his staff, with a squad of mounted police ahead, to clear the way.

After the marshal and his staff will follow the Third Coast Artillery Band and the One-hundred and Sixtieth Infantry Band, making eighty pieces combined; 200 men of the Third Coast Artillery; a regiment of the One-hundred and Eightieth Artillery, National Guard; two naval bands and detachments of sailors and marines; the American Legion band, and detachments of the Los Angeles Fire Department, the Police Department training school, Loyola College R.O.T.C., and the various military schools, the fraternal orders, and industrial and motion-picture floats.

ROUTE OF PARADE

The route of the parade is out Hollywood Boulevard to Highland avenue, thence north to the Hollywood Bowl, where there will be a program of pageantry and music, in which the Russian orchestra, the Metropolitan quartet, Betty Blythe in her Bagdad number, Natalie Kingston in her peacock dance and many other individual stars will take part.

At night, between 7 and 11 o'clock there will be street dancing, music by strolling bands and a costume carnival between Sunset and Hollywood Boulevards and between Vine street and Highland avenue.

The section of the High Way to be opened is that between Cahuenga Pass and Calabasas, twenty-four miles long. The full boulevard, over Topango Summit to the Coast High Way, will be fifty-five miles, open to pleasure vehicles only.

SUSPECT IS HELD HERE IN ADVERTISING FRAUD

G. E. Marlow, said to be an attorney, and describing himself as editor of a railroad trade journal printed at Salt Lake City, was arrested yesterday at a house on Dalton avenue by Deputy Sheriffs Luker and Schults for the Yuma authorities. A Yuma telegram, according to the officers, declared Marlow is accused of obtaining money under false pretenses by representing himself as an agent of the American Railway Journal and soliciting advertising.

The officers said they were informed also of the arrest yesterday at Woodward, Okla., of Stanley Ward Hart, asserted associate of Marlow in the affair. Marlow denied the charge. He was lodged in the County Jail.

The system of the old days was good—for those times—but today's method is infinitely better. With the increase in number of homes throughout the land, only a big organization, such as Swift & Company, can assemble and distribute enough fine holiday meats to make good cheer for everyone.

ARGENTINE PROGRESS TOLD

English Rancher Says South American Country is Capable of Feeding 250,000,000

Argentina is capable of feeding a population of 250,000,000, says J. Nelson, English owner of a large ranch in the South American country, now visiting Los Angeles for the first time.

"Most of you people in the United States don't dream of the vast resources and tremendous possibilities of Argentina," said Mr. Nelson. "We probably have the largest continuous area of fertile land to be found anywhere on the globe. All it needs is planting, no fertilizer and only a comparatively small amount of cultivation being necessary to produce enormous crops."

The Argentine suggested that he was in doubt as to whether Argentina or the United States would eventually be the leading nation of the western world.

"Of course, with a population of only 10,000,000, we cannot hope to rate with a nation of more than 115,000,000 at the present time, but our country is developing rapidly through immigration," he said. "We are holding out every encouragement to settlers who will come and cultivate our lands.

"Incidentally, a lot of Americans have found out about the opportunities in Argentina, and they are flocking there by the boatload. All the hotels are crowded with Americans, and on the golf courses, for instance, they appear to outnumber the natives two to one."

He added that, owing to the shortage of the wheat crop in Argentina this season, caused by protracted drought, the current price of the grain is equal to that prevailing in the United States.

"We have just completed our wheat harvest, and the next crop will not be planted until June, so we expect to see the high prices continue," he said. "Our corn crop, however, was exceptionally good. Argentina is as well adapted to corn as the United States, and in time may surpass it in this commodity."

Mr. Nelson is accompanied by M. R. Castra, a native Argentine ranchman, the two being guests at the Biltmore.

RICH INDIAN ON TOUR OF SOUTHLAND

Travels With Family to Spend Income Won from Oklahoma Oil Lands

Most Indians throw away their blankets and live in houses equipped with bathtubs and things when they get rich from their oil holdings, according to Washington Grayson of Eufaula, Okla., former chief of the Creek tribe, who is now a Los Angeles visitor.

Mr. Grayson is not a full-blooded Creek, but he was made the head of the tribe upon the death of his father, who was of unmixed blood and had been chief for many years prior to his death. Grayson, who has visited Los Angeles before, is acting as mentor and traveling adviser of Conner Hawkins and his family, full-blooded Creeks, who are spending in traveling a part of their income derived from oil wells.

He stated that Mrs. Hawkins, who had been allotted the land which later produced this wealth, enjoys an income close to $6000 a month; that she now has about $500,000 in the bank and that her estate is valued at more than $1,000,000.

Mr. Hawkins's Christian name, Conner, is of Irish derivation, Mr. Grayson said, adding that many of the 12,000 Indians of the Creek tribe rejoice in Irish and Scotch names. He explained that before the Creeks were placed on the reservation allotted to them in the former Indian Territory, now part of Oklahoma, they had lived in Alabama and Georgia, which States had been settled largely by Scotch and Irish immigrants, whose names had been adopted by the Indians.

"Practically all the tribes living in Oklahoma have adopted the ways of the white man," said Mr. Grayson. "They all belong to the church, being either Baptists or Methodists, and live in houses the same as the white population. The Hawkins family, for instance, has a fine residence, equipped with modern conveniences."

Trees, Flowers Sent to Bedeck Chicago Station

A carload of fruit-bearing orange trees and many thousands of California flowers will be shipped to Chicago today over the Southern Pacific lines, to form the decorations at the La Salle-street station in honor of the Espee's new fast train, the Golden State Limited, the first westbound unit of which will be on inspection the 27th inst. and leave for its first trip the 28th.

The orange trees were obtained at Riverside and Ontario. At Ventura great garlands of poinsettias were gathered; chrysanthemums, pampas plumes, pepper and other berry boughs were obtained at other Southern California points. All were carefully packed in a special baggage car and will be kept fresh by careful regulation of the temperature.

They are intended, according to F. E. Watson, general passenger agent, to carry a bit of California greeting to the bleak wind and snow-swept Middle West.

Council Plans Advertising of City Bond Bids

The majority members of the City Council's Finance Committee yesterday agreed to recommend that bids be received and opened by the City Council at 10:30 a.m. January 13, for five blocks of Los Angeles municipal bonds totaling $18,000,000 in par value.

The advertisements for bids which will be sent to bond houses throughout the country will state that the offers shall set the interest rate the bonds are to carry, but that the rate shall not exceed 4 3-4 per cent.

The bonds to be sold are $3,000,000 water, $7,000,000 power, $4,000,000 outfall sewer, $500,000 playgrounds and $500,000 viaducts.

Councilman Chairman Mushet dissented from the majority committee report but the Council may today adopt the views of the majority committee members and authorize the advertising for bids.

JEFFERSON CONVICTED ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Thomas Jefferson was found guilty of a charge of burglary by a jury in Judge Hahn's department of the Superior Court yesterday. The prisoner acted as his own attorney. Testimony showed that Jefferson called the Flooring Supply Company by telephone and ordered that a load of hardwood be sent to an unoccupied house on Orange Drive. He stated at the time that he was a representative of the Swanson Floor Company. The hardwood arrived, and the next day Jefferson drove up with a truck and departed with the lumber. His arrest followed. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan prosecuted Jefferson.

LOAN WILL ADVANCE USE OF NEW LIGHTS

Harry Culver of the Greater Washington Boulevard Association appeared before the City Council's Finance Committee yesterday and obtained a loan of $12,000 to be allocated to the fund for the lighting of West Washington street from Rimpau Boulevard to the western limits at Culver City, so that the ornamental lighting posts lights on the street can be illuminated at once. The posts were completed two months ago and the assessments are now being collected. The $12,000 will be returned to the city by February 1.

TRAVEL TO COAST WILL BE DELAYED

Santa Fe Official Here Says Flood of Settlers to Set Record

The winter passenger travel to California this year will be heavy, but somewhat later than usual, Edward Chambers of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, said yesterday upon his arrival here. Mr. Chambers is vice-president in charge of traffic of the system.

"The passenger travel will be later," he explained, "because of the mild weather this season in the East up to December. Three sections of the California Limited will be run in January and longer, if the travel justifies.

"More settlers are coming to California than ever before. Through our colonization department that is being worked out very nicely, and our company is spending large sums to encourage farmers to come to the Coast agricultural districts."

Of the fruit market, Mr. Chambers said:

"Strengthened by the record movement of rail freight, in volume and in good service, in the past season, including the big fruit crop grown in California, a greater confidence has been shown by merchants and others who have been buying in a moderate way, thus avoiding great surplus stocks and the cost of carrying them. They feel that with the good condition of the railroads the transportation of their goods will go forward without delay. Business conditions throughout the country are very satisfactory." The good business outlook, he said, has led the Santa Fe to adopt a budget for 1925 of not less than the 1924 budget, which was $80,000,000.

The Santa Fe's plans for a new passenger station here, Mr. Chambers said, await the decision about the union passenger project.

Mr. Chambers formerly was in the Los Angeles and Santa Fe offices of the company. He is at the Biltmore, and will remain here until after the first of the new year.

City Files Last Brief in Fight on Street Plans

City Attorney Stephens yesterday afternoon filed in the Superior Court the city's final brief in answer to the attack launched by the O. T. Johnson Corporation against the proceedings for the opening and widening of Tenth street from the east to the west city boundaries, the corporation seeking to have the court order the proceedings abandoned as illegal.

In his first brief, City Attorney Stephens, who is assisted in the case by Assistant City Attorney Green, set forth in detail the necessity for the improvement as a means of traffic congestion relief and of the previous cases in which courts have ruled against minority property owners who seek to block, by technical objections, public improvements.

The attorneys for the O. T. Johnson Corporation also filed a brief and to answering this City Attorney Stephens's final brief, filed yesterday, was devoted.

An early decision is expected from Judge Hartley Shaw.

DRY YULE VOWED BY CAFE MEN

Resort Managers Meet Prohibition Agent and Get Holiday Warning

Managers of various cafes in and about Los Angeles met at the office of the Federal prohibition agents yesterday and assured Walter A. Weymouth, agent in charge, that they will co-operate in every way possible to make the holiday season this year a "dry" season. The meeting was called by Agent Weymouth.

The cafe managers were warned they will be held responsible for the conduct of their patrons. Agent Weymouth said his men and local officers are co-operating in the enforcement of the law. Special arrangements for the holiday season, he said, call for the use of a large force of extra agents who will visit the cafes with instructions to arrest all persons found with liquor.

BANK BANDIT SUSPECT PAIR PLACED ON TRIAL

Selection of a jury to hear the case of Ray Remington and Ed Shovlin, asserted bank bandits, began yesterday in Judge Hahn's department of the Superior Court. The two men are charged with holding up the First National Bank of Watt son August 29, last, locking the cashier in the bank vault, and robbing the institution of $6300. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan is prosecuting the case, while John L. Richardson is acting as defense attorney.

FILM ALLIANCE APPEARS NEAR

Combine May Screen Stories Used in Magazines

Germans Progress in Cinema, Asserts Magnate

An alliance between William Randolph Hearst and the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film combine may be the result of a conference to be conducted within a few days, according to Louis B. Mayer, first vice-president of the combine, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from Rome.

The negotiations are toward the production of from four to six pictres a year to be made by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer from stories appearing in the Hearst magazines, Mayer declared. Although nothing has been settled as yet, the film producer declared he expects to have a conference either today or tomorrow with Hearst representatives.

PLANNED WITH INCE

It was learned from an authoritative source that this is a proposition similar to the one on which Hearst and Thomas H. Ince were working before Ince's death.

The Marion Davies pictures will continue to be made independently, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Daniel Carson Goodman, head of Cosmopolitan Productions, Hearst's film organization.

Mayer declared there is still three months' work in Italy to be done by the "Ben Hur" company before it returns here for the final scenes. The producer's trip to Rome was for the announced purpose of untangling the affairs of the "Ben Hur" company. He declared yesterday the solution is satisfactory.

LOEW TO GET HOUSES

In reference to film conditions abroad, Mayer declared that Marcus Loew, the guiding hand of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer combine, will acquire theaters in Paris and other continental cities for the exhibition of the pictures of the combine.

At the present time in Germany, he said, American producers are hampered by a government restriction that no American company can exhibit films in Germany unless it makes one picture there for every two exhibited. The Germans are making more progress than any other European country in motion-picture production and exhibition, he said. A notable example of this is the UFA, one of the largest combines there, which is similar to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer combine in this country, he said. The UFA produces pictures and distributes them through its own theaters.

MORE FILMS THAN EVER

"All rumors that I am not to reassume control at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot are unfounded," Mayer declared.

For the coming year, he said, the organization will produce more pictures than it ever has before and its backers are confident that 1925 will be a good motion-picture year.

Accompanying Mayer were his wife and two daughters, Irene and Edith, and Miss Bess Meredith, scenarist, who was associated with Fred Niblo in the production of "Ben Hur."

At the station to meet the producer were M. E. Greenwood, Sol Clark, Reginald Barker, Rupert Hughes, Victor Seastrom, Conrad Nagel, Zazu Pitts, Huntley Gordon, King Vidor, Eleanor Boardman and Irving G. Thalberg.

Possession of Venison Costs Fine in Court

The four legs of a deer, but recently killed and found in the Radium Hot Springs resort near Elizabeth Lake, cost L. G. Klein, manager of the place, $125 each yesterday in Justice Miller's court at Newhall, according to Investigator Kennedy of the County Game Warden's office.

Klein, according to Kennedy, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of deer meat and was fined $500 by Justice Miller. The fine was paid, Kennedy said, but the owner of the place has filed a notice of appeal to the Superior Court.

Deputy Game Wardens Davies and Wertz raided the resort last week following the receipt of reports that deer were being shot out of season in the hills surrounding the springs.

APPEAL CONVICTIONS

Medical, Accident and Robbery Defendants Seek Reviews

Appeals of R. H. W. Albrexstondare, W. H. Yates and J. J. Kelly were submitted yesterday to the Second District Court of Appeal, Division One. Albrexstondare, self-styled doctor, who was convicted in Orange County Superior Court of practicing medicine without a license, is appealing on the grounds that he was denied a fair trial.

Kelly is appealing from his conviction on a charge of manslaughter for the death of Mrs. Sarah Joy. He was accused of being under the influence of liquor, which resulted in an automobile accident at Sixteenth and Ardmore streets on February 26, last.

The appeal of Yates is taken from his conviction on a charge of robbery. He was found guilty of stealing $4000 on December 3, 1923, from G. Potter.

ASSAULT CHARGE IN MAYWOOD FIGHT CASE

A complaint charging assault to do great bodily harm was issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark yesterday against Jack Cannon of Maywood. He is charged with administering a beating last Saturday night to G. L. Saxton, also of Maywood, after a verbal set-to in regard to the question of whether Maywood should be incorporated into a city or remain unincorporated as at present. Cannon, who stands six feet, three inches, and weighs more than 200 pounds, is aligned with one faction in the municipal fight, and Saxton with another, accord-

FILM MAN, BRIDE ARRIVE TOMORROW

Irving Lesser

Irving Lesser, vice-president of Principal Pictures Corporation in charge of distribution, will arrive in Los Angeles on the California Limited tomorrow on a combined honeymoon and business trip. The marriage of Lesser and Miss Helen Shaw of Philadelphia took place last month, and the deferred honeymoon was made necessary by pressure of Mr. Lesser's business affairs.

During his stay here, the eastern executive will confer with his brother, Sol. Lesser, president, and Mike Rosenberg, secretary of Principal Pictures, on plans for the coming year's production activities. Important announcements are expected to result from the conference called as a preliminary to increased activities at the Santa Monica-Boulevard studio.

INQUIRY ON ATTY. BURKE CHARGE SET

Federal Jury to Act on Report of Irregularities in Dry Law Cases

Charges of irregularities in the office of United States Attorney Burke made by Edwin E. Grant, president of the State Law Enforcement League, will be investigated by the Federal grand jury January 9. Burke yesterday ordered a subpoena for Grant's appearance after learning that Grant had suggested in a telegram to Atty.-Gen. Stone that "you launch exhaustive inquiry to determine what became of liquor and narcotics seized at Bartlett Hotel, San Bernardino, and why same were not produced at trials, and why raiding evidence was withheld."

"We want to know what information Grant has," Attorney Burke said. "The charges are absurd. The cases growing out of that raid were handled regularly. My office never handles any of the liquor or narcotics seized in raids, except when the evidence is brought into the courtroom."

The telegram was sent to Washington from the headquarters of the State Law Enforcement League at San Francisco on the 20th inst.

The cases against Walby, Laura Milligan and Dollie Fisher arrested as an outgrowth of the raid, were handled before Federal Judge James, records of the Federal Court show. They were charged with violating the prohibition law. Walby was acquitted by a jury on the 9th inst. The other two cases were dismissed, the one against Laura Milligan because of insufficient evidence and the one against Dollie Fisher because government witnesses failed to appear. One of these witnesses who failed to appear, the records show, was G. L. Budd, an agent for the State Law Enforcement League.

"So far as I know, the cases against Walby, Milligan and Fisher were handled properly," Judge James said yesterday. "There was nothing unusual in presentation of the evidence."

W. H. De Spain, in charge of the Federal narcotic agents, said yesterday that the narcotics seized in the San Bernardino raid were brought to him with a request that he prosecute the defendants for violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act. The evidence, he said, was insufficient to make a case in the Federal Court and for that reason he advised prosecution of the defendants in the State Court. The evidence was then returned to the authorities at San Bernardino so far as he knew, Agent De Spain said.

Injunction is Refused Negro Church Faction

The suit for an injunction brought by P. Bomar, T. Baucom and others to compel Rev. W. R. Hutchinson, W. R. Willis and others to relinquish control of the Mt. Olive Missionary Baptist Church, a negro organization at 3064 East First street, was denied yesterday by Judge Shaw of Superior Court.

The petitioners stated the pulpit of the church had been voted vacant at a recent meeting of the church members, but that the defendants refused to turn the church over to the plaintiffs, who contended they were the duly elected officials of the church.

The defendants replied that the meeting was irregular and not attended by a majority of the members of the church.

STATUTORY OFFENSES LAID TO BURBANK MAN

Edward Potter, a barber of Burbank, was charged with statutory offenses against two minor girls of Burbank in a complaint issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Lucas yesterday. The offenses were committed on January 1, last, in the rear room of the barber shop, the complaint charges. The case has been under investigation for some time, it was stated, and other ar-

NEW DIFFICULTY OVER DAMS

Federal Authorities Approve County Flood Control Projects; State Engineer Objects

Members of the county Board of Supervisors can sympathize with the man who stooped to pick up a coin in the street and was struck by a speeding automobile. That somewhat homely figure pictures their feelings yesterday when they received the much desired permission of the Federal Department of Agriculture to construct the Pacoima and Big Santa Anita dams and at the same time were notified by State Engineer McClure that he had withdrawn approval of plans for the Pacoima, Big Santa Anita and Big Dalton dams.

Federal permission is needed because much of the reservoir area in the two projects is government land. The joy occasioned by favorable action by the government was short lived and was almost dispelled by Engineer McClure's letter.

Withdrawal of approval by the State Engineer was unexpected, in view of the fact that he approved the plans for the Pacoima dam in 1921 and the Big Santa Anita project last August.

Objection voiced by McClure is because of the use of the constant-angle arch type of construction instead of the gravity type. A constant-arch type dam utilizes the pressure of the water to aid in supporting the dam, whereas the gravity type is built to stand without any aiding pressure of water. The constant-angle type has been used with success for forty years, it is said, and has been approved by leading engineers of the United States, including Gen. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal and consulting engineer of the flood control program. By using the constant-angle type a saving in material is effected, and it is possible to cut down the cost of the project.

The Board of Supervisors did not take action on the withdrawal of the State Engineer's approval, but will consider it today. Whether they will attempt to hold the engineer to his previous approval or will seek to win him over, is to be determined. His approval is necessary to start the work, it was said, and if he insists the plans will have to be changed.

MOTOR CLUB ASKS SIGNAL UNIFORMITY

Recommends to Council That Inexpensive Device be Adopted for City

The Automobile Club of Southern California in a communication received yesterday by the City Council urged that in selecting additional automatic traffic signal devices the Council seek to make all the devices in the city uniform and that the signals be efficient and inexpensive.

The Council is scheduled on January 23 to receive bids for 100 additional traffic signals for use at intersections outside the central traffic district. The letter of the club stated it was not interested in seeing any specific signal purchased, but would be glad to assist the city in every way.

The club developed and patented the signal in use at West Adams and Figueroa streets and in its letter the club offered the city, free of all charge, the use of the working drawings of this device and the patentee's right to use of it. The letter stated the signal could be installed on a less expensive base than now in use at West Adams and Figueroa streets for $600 an intersection or can be suspended over intersections at a cost per intersection of $275.

There may be another delay in securing bids on the 100 signals as a result of the discovery yesterday that in revising the specifications there was omitted the so-called universal type of timer, which was in the original draft. It may now be necessary to revise the specifications, adopt the new ones and announce a new date on which bids will be received.

DEPUTIES IN GUN DEATHS ARE BLAMED

Coroner's Jury in Fatal Shooting at Hynes Finds Officers Negligent

That Deputy Sheriffs Ellison and Letts were negligent in the affair that led to the deaths of George E. Mumper and Raymond Capps at Hynes, is the opinion of a Coroner's jury that heard the case yesterday at the Miller & Co. morgue at Downey. The case will be submitted to the grand jury on the 30th inst., it was said by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Davis, in accordance with the District Attorney's policy in case of all shootings.

Mumper and Capps, the former a store owner at Hynes, were shot by the deputies in a gun battle, each party mistaking the other for burglars for whom they were on watch. The jury found they came to their deaths from wounds inflicted by "Deputy Sheriff Charles W. Ellison or Deputy Sheriff Charles W. Letts or both" and added:

"We believe the officers were negligent in not making themselves known as officers before the shooting."

Several of the jurors asked the deputies if they had red lights on their car. They replied they had not.

SANTA CLAUS BRINGS GREAT SHOW TO ORPHEUM

By Grace Kingsley

Doubtless you remember Alan Brooks and his clever playlet, "Dollars and Sense." Well, he has written another clever one, this time serving as a starring vehicle for Robert Warwick and his excellent company of three. There is the Brooks propensity for bright epigram, there is the originality of idea and plot, there is the novelty of staging, there is the sardonic humor, there is even the wise Japanese valet, just as in "Dollars and Sense." And in addition there is the skilful playing of Warwick, of the exquisitely pretty and clever Mary Hilliday, of the Japanese actor, R. Yamamoto, and of Colin Hunter. The Japanese valet has a fat part, and it is most ably played by Mr. Yamamoto. By the way, Mr. Brooks seems so well to understand the Oriental psychology that I wish he would write a play of the Japanese or Chinese. The piece is a knockout.

Walter C. Kelly is holding his Virginia court again, with the usual howling results. How he manages to always have new stories, I don't know. Kelly is a vaudeville landmark. To take him away from us would be something like taking the vote away from the American people. Long may he wave!

Coming mighty close to being the knockout of the show is the high brown team of Ethel Waters and Earl Dancer. Ethel is an artist, a true comedienne, a blue-ribbon entertainer, and Dancer is a great dancer and kidder. Miss Waters's voice makes you wish that nobody ever did any coon-shouting except those of her race. That sweet, mellow voice of hers alternately caresses and teases you, and she never overdoes the comedy by the fraction of an inch.

A couple of mad hatters, Moran and Wiser, close the bill, and they toss their trick hats with the boomerang complex about the house to wildly hilarious results, keeping the customers in until the last hat comes home to roost on the head of that clever clown, Moran.

Those champions of the dance world, Deno and Rochelle, are back again, and clean up on applause, especially with their fast and furious Apache dance. Adley draws a sweet tone from his violin, and the Deno Brothers' Siamese-twins hoofing is great.

Paging the laughs with good results are Gordon and Knowlton in some nutty talk and songs. Bert Gordon's white suit and hat are a knockout.

On the take-off spot are the Pickfords, gymnasts, with a comic acrobatic act, so novel and clever that they chalked up four encores to their credit—an almost unheard of thing for an opening act.

Van and Schenck are held over for a second week, and score heavily, though, personally, it seemed to me they were trying out a new lot of songs, some of which were pretty pointless. But nobody can beat these boys on their style, and they continue to be lured back to the stage again and again.

Goldwyn Picture Christened

"His Supreme Moment" has been selected as the final title for the forthcoming George Fitzmaurice production, the story of which Frances Marion adapted to the screen from a new and as yet unpublished novel "World Without End," by May Edginton.

Blanche Sweet and Ronald Colman head the cast which Fitzmaurice is now assembling and production work is scheduled to start early next week. A unique feature of this production, which follows "A Thief in Paradise," will be that "His Supreme Moment" will be released at the same time that May Edginton's novel is placed on the bookstands of the country.

Stars in Their Orbits

Lilyan Tashman has been signed as a member of the all-star cast which B. P. Schulberg has assembled for "The Parasite."

Back from France, where he has just completed his twenty months of compulsory military service, Rene Taussin has rejoined the technical staff of Cecil B. De Mille productions.

Hedda Hopper has just affixed her signature to a contract with E. M. Asher of Corinne Griffiths productions, and will enact the role of Mrs. Wildering in Miss Griffith's forthcoming picture, "Declasse."

Casson Ferguson has returned from a several months' stay in England, and has gone back to work before the camera.

Malcolm McGregor signed this week to play the lead opposite Florence Vidor in "The Girl of Gold," which will be made under the personal direction of John Ince.

David Winter, who did such excellent work opposite Pauline Frederick, Katherine MacDonald and other stars, is appearing in Charles Ray's picture, "Percy," which is the title under which the story, "The Desert Fiddler," will be released.

Ray Hallor has been signed to appear in "Sally," which is to serve Colleen Moore as her next starring vehicle.

Alec B. Francis will play a featured role in the Christie production of "Charlie's Aunt."

George Fawcett has been added to the cast of Marshall Neilan's production, "The Sporting Venus," for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Carmelita Geraghty Signs

Carmelita Geraghty was signed today by Harry J. Brown to play the leading role opposite Reed Howes in his fourth stunt comedy drama, "The Courageous Fool," an original story by Adele Buffington. Miss Geraghty was engaged for the part because of her clever work in the second picture of the series, Ned Sparks was signed by Brown for a comedy role in the production. Al Rogell is directing.

Mabel Julienne Scott Flits

Mabel Julienne Scott has left us flat. She has gone to Minneapolis, her home town, to visit her parents over the holidays. But not only for fun is Mabel leaving us. She is going to make a series of personal appearances in Minneapolis, St. Paul and other eastern cities, along with the film "So This Is Marriage," in which she appears playing Bethsheba in the Biblical sequence. Miss Scott wears scanty raiment and looks very beautiful in the picture. As she takes along a gorgeous wardrobe and will give a sort of fashion revue in connection with her personal appearances, theatrical patrons cannot say that Miss Scott has cheated them, as they will have a chance to get a very fair idea of the actress's beauty, as you might say, both with and without.

CRITERION TO HOLD RALLY FOR STUDENTS

The Criterion Theater will be the scene of hilarious festivities tonight when it greets the entire U.S.C. aggregation, which will hold its final rally before the Christmas Day game there. Students, officials, friends and the public will attend to see the U.S.C. program and enjoy the showing of the American picturization of Dante's "Inferno."

A notable program has been arranged by Hal Williamson of U.S.C. and Managing Director Harold Horne of the Criterion. It will include Gene Johnson's orchestra, the Trojan Five, a noted aggregation of U.S.C. singers; Allen Nichols, head debating coach of U.S.C.; Wes Woodford and company in a comedy skit and Hank McCann, U.S.C.'s demon yell leader with his miniature rooting section on the stage.

RIALTO WILL STAGE CHILDREN'S MATINEE

Celebrating the spirit of Christmas, Managing Director Albert A. Kaufman of the Rialto Theater is planning a special children's matinee this afternoon to see the picturization of "Broken Laws," starring Mrs. Wallace Reid.

In addition to the regular program several noted children are to appear in person and greet the youngsters. Mrs. Reid's two children, Bill and Betty, will be there, together with two of the children that appear in prominent roles in the cast. They are Pat Moore and Jane Wray.

"KID" HAS REVIVAL ON TALLY'S SCREEN

On Pleasure Bent in New Picture

Jacqueline Saunders

Among the featured players in Mrs. Wallace Reid's "Broken Laws," which opened for a run at the Rialto Theater Saturday.

Many Clever Acts Billed at Pantages

To the click of castanets, the bill at Pantages this week runs merrily through its feature reel and seven acts with scarcely a halt. Celebrating the Christmas week, the management presents an exceptionally good program.

Maxine and Bobby, a man and a dog, open the bill with a clever little act, in which the dog exhibits intelligence that might well put a human performer to shame. He shows rare balancing ability, too, and altogether the act is as pleasing as one might wish to see.

Kennedy and Kramer present a hard shoe tap dance. Both have the faculty of fleetness of foot and the rapidity with which they tap their hard-soled shoes on the wooden stage reminds one of the midnight ride of Paul Revere, had he galloped over a hardwood stage—not Paul, his horse, making all the noise.

An amusing little farce named "Oh, Jonsey" is the basis for a bit of spicy entertainment. Rome and Bolton in a singing and soft-shoe dancing act likewise are good.

The real drawing card this week, though, lies in Rafael Diaz and his company. Diaz and his dancing partner, whose name is not given on the program, show many new steps of the Argentine, with unaffected grace. In addition to the dancing, there is a quartet of male singers and a pianist, who offer vocal and instrumental selections. The entire act is most acceptably presented and merits praise for its high quality.

INDUSTRIAL MUSIC SOCIETY PERFORMS

This evening Rossini's "Stabat Mater" will be presented in Latin by the Society of Industrial Music, sponsored by the Los Angeles Music League. The rendition will be given in the auditorium on the second floor of the Chamber of Commerce Building. A short talk on Rossini and the "Stabat Mater" by Francis Kendig will precede the number.

The Los Angeles Music League is not composed of music clubs alone, but of all organizations fostering interest in music. There are fifty-five organizations members in the league, which is a clearing-house for the encouragement and development of music in Los Angeles for the masses. The contention is made that everyone can be interested in music, either as a listener or performer, and, therefore, becomes a better citizen. It is also for the encouragement of music organizations in helping them to promote their programs and to serve as an adjusting committee in any controversy.

PAULINE WEARS TWO WIGS IN "THE LADY"

Pauline Frederick wears a wig in Louis O. Macloon's stage presentation of the New York success, "The Lady," which opens at the Playhouse Christmas Night.

It is a beautiful blonde wig in the first and second acts; while in the prologue and epilogue she wears a silvery white wig which is said to have cost an enormous sum of money.

PETER WINS TROPHY

At a field meet for police dogs, held recently at Pasadena, Peter the Great, the new dog star, appearing this week at Miller's Theater in "The Silent Accuser," won a silver cup presented by Mrs. Elliott Dexter for being the best-trained dog in all-around sports.

AIMLESS PLOT IN CAMEO PHOTOPLAY

'Don't Marry for Money" Has Few Good Touches, But Little Point

BY WHITNEY WILLIAMS

The good old hokum play is back with us, once more—one of those things that has been on the shelf so long it has collected the dust of the ages, and, to keep it from rotting away entirely, is wished off on the public, which leads us to "Don't Marry for Money."

This picture, showing now at the Cameo, is hardly of the "wow-ish" variety, but still there are some good touches—if one can find them. It is directed by Clarence Brown, which is a certain recommendation all its own.

While the title would signify that a lesson is to be learned, that there must be some evil in a man or woman marrying solely for money, no attempt is made to prove the issue either way. It is simply a meaningless title for the picture, as if no other were available.

There is this much to say, however, the acting is fairly good in some instances. House Peters is the star—one of those he-men who belong on the frontiers of life and do not feel at home elsewhere. His performance is commendable to a certain extent, but his role hardly permits of really fine acting. In fact, no part in the entire picture allows more than an average performance.

The story is about a small-town girl who, finding she must marry for money, decides to choose a fortune. She goes to New York, obtains work as a mannequin, and wins the richest bachelor in town.

House Peters is the rich husband and Rubye De Remer his wife. Miss De Remer is inclined to undersact, and her work lacks the brilliance it once was noted for. Her endeavor to portray a cold-blooded type, though, seeking wealth, is convincing.

Aileen Pringle plays the role of the other wife and Cyril Chadwick the idler. Aileen is hardly the personality audiences are accustomed to see her portray and the effect after viewing her work in such plays as "Three Weeks," "His Hour," and "The Wife of the Centaur," is altogether uninteresting. Chadwick is about normal.

A Century comedy and a cartoon complete the program.

THRILLER HOLDS SCREEN AT FORUM

The theaters this week ain't doing right by our little Nell (getting down to earth, meaning the film fans) when they insist upon presenting such pictures as "Don't Marry for Money" and "His Last Race." Not that the latter play is as poor as the one warning our children of all sorts of things about matrimony, but it revives a plot possessing a most suspicious odor and must certainly be almost as old as the motion-picture industry. Obviously, too, the picture was made months and months ago.

If you have a little complex all your own for suspense and horse-racing, no doubt the picture at the Forum will, in part, satisfy that craving for swift action. All the old hokum about the horse being stolen the morning of the race, so that the villain may win a barrel of money, is again brought into play, but, as usual, it is bearable, and the little boys in the front rows seem to enjoy it.

The honors for the picture are divided between Boomerang, the horse, and Snowy Baker and the supporting cast. Both are good. Boomerang provides plenty of atmosphere and Baker's horsemanship is superb. Boomerang, though, seems more at ease than Baker.

Melodrama there is in abundance, and thrills are far from being an absent quantity. Reckless riding, a dive from an airplane into a lake, a man mastering a horse in water, fights—all provide material for a spicy story and plenty of entertainment.

An all-star cast is featured, including Pauline Stark, Noah Beery, Gladys Brockwell, obert McKim, Tully Marshall, Alec B. Francis, Snowy Baker, Dick Sutherland, William Scott and Robert Kortman. Not to forget Boomerang.

McKim played his usual smooth villainous character and Beery, in the role of McKim's hireling, "as cheerful a rent collector as ever put a family out into the street," injects some of his rare humor into the action of the story, though he, too, is one of the "heavies."

A feature of the bill is "An Eskimo Lullaby," comprising interpretative songs and dances. The settings for this are very pretty and the whole effect is interesting and unusual.

A juvenile comedy, "Oh, Teacher!" and selections by Julius K. Johnson on the organ and orchestral renditions are further attractions of the week's bill.

'MERTON'S' THIRD WEEK IS POPULAR AS FIRST

Although the week before Christmas is proverbially the leanest week of the year for theatrical companies, "Merton of the Movies," the prevailing attraction at the Biltmore Theater, has been going along at about the same high rate of speed that it acquired during its opening week at that house. Glenn Hunter, the able young star of the organization is supported by the same cast that has appeared with him in the comedy for two years. It would seem that the week before Christmas and Christmas week itself are about the same to this attraction regarding the amount of patrons it attracts. The third week of the visit began Sunday evening.

DOBINSON PLAYERS GIVE "I LOVE YOU"

The Dobinson Players, Glendale, closed two successful weeks of A. E. Thomas's comedy "Only 38" Saturday night. Tomorrow they will usher in the Christmas holidays with William Le Baron's farce, "I Love You." Joseph McManus and a special cast have been engaged for this play. The waltz "I Love You" and other selections from "Little Jessie James" will be used by the orchestra to assist in the interpretation.

Following that the Dobinson Players will offer their first mystery thriller "The Hole in the Wall" by Fred Jackson.

POLICE NAB SIX IN CHECK PLOT

Well-Dressed Men Taken in Yesterday's Raid

Charge of Getting $25,000 on Bad Paper Made

As a result of the arrest yesterday of six prosperously attired men in a raid on a house at Fifteenth street and Santa Fe avenue, police announced that they had broken up a band of professional check "kiters" which has floated more than 2000 forged checks here in the past six months and has victimized merchants and others to the extent of more than $25,000.

The arrest of the six suspects, all of whom are charged with suspicion of forgery, came as the climax to a six weeks' investigation by detectives in their search for the source of the veritable flood of worthless "paper" reaching merchants and banks. The investigation was conducted under the personal direction of Chief of Detectives Home.

The suspects gave the names of Manuel, Alberto and Joseph Alvarez, Miguel Perez, Jose Gonzales and Carlos Carajol. They were taken into custody by Detective Lieutenants Rico, Hickey and Gibson.

In the house occupied by the six suspects, the detectives said they found thousands of blank checks, check protectors, rubber stamps and check books.

The check "kiters," the detectives declared, were expertly directed. They believe the men under arrest to have acted merely as tools for a master forger who directed their activities in floating the checks. This last individual is being sought by police, though the detectives stated they have no definite clew to his identity.

It was also stated by the detectives they have information to show that the sextet stole thousands of checks and check books from local companies and that these checks were all used by the band.

These thefts became so frequent, according to the detectives, that several local banks were forced to change the color and style of their checks and checkbooks in order to thwart the activities of the band.

Three automobiles, which the detectives declared to have been stolen, were also taken in the raid on the house.

KLAN OPENS LEGAL WAR ON BOLTERS

Injunction and Damages Are Sought as Internal Row is Aired Again

Suit for injunction and damages of $50,000 was filed yesterday in Superior Court by the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Georgia against the Invisible Empire Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Nevada, and others.

It is charged that the Nevada corporation, which recently filed papers of incorporation in California, seceded from the Georgia corporation, and is attempting to get other Klans in other States to secede and transfer funds to them. The action asks that an injunction be issued to restrain the Nevada corporation from using the name Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, or any similar name, or from using the regalia or ritual of the original order founded in Atlanta in 1916.

The suit comes as an aftermath of a suit brought by the defendants against George W. Price and others, recognized as the heads of the Georgia order in California, to enjoin them from using the name of the Ku Klux Klan in California, on the grounds that Price and his associates had never incorporated the order in the State.

After a hearing before Superior Judge Shaw, in which Price and his associates denied the allegations and declared the Nevada corporation was actuated by malice and mercenary motives, Judge Shaw denied the petition for an injunction and set trial of the case on its merits for next December, a year from now.

Individuals named in the suit filed yesterday are James F. De Borde, T. H. Hanna, Charles H. Hayes, Leon C. Francis, Ed L. Arnest, C. N. Murry, R. H. Hardin, R. G. Klingerman, C. T. Myers, Dr. L. F. Luckie and Paul G. Taylor. The suit was filed by Attorneys John H. Commaughton and Perry G. Briney.

EPHEBIANS PLAN FOR ANNUAL YULE SHOWER

HONOR STUDENT SOCIETY TO SEND CHEER GIFTS TO JUVENILE HOME

Members of the Ephebian Society, an organization made up of the honor students from all the city high schools, gathered at the rooms of the Board of Education last night to wrap practical gifts, toys and candies for their annual Christmas shower at the Juvenile Home.

Miss Helen Johnston, chairman, of the committee, has arranged a musical program to precede the presentation of gifts to the 200 boys and girls at the Juvenile Home Christmas Eve.

This association is endeavoring to work with the young people in the home on a big brother and big sister basis, and the Christmas treat is a part of their program.

MAN HELD AS PRISON FUGITIVE FROM TEXAS

Beverly Wood, declared by police to be wanted in Huntsville, Tex., was arrested yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Baldridge and Cline of the police auto theft detail in a car the detectives said had been stolen from Oklahoma. Records on file at headquarters, the detectives said, show that Wood escaped from Huntsville penitentiary ten years ago and had never been recaptured.

Authorities at Huntsville have been notified and the suspect will be held here pending word from that city.

JOY FOR KIDDIE KOOP TOTS

Electric Club Distributes Christmas Gifts to Children at Party in Biltmore

Father Time alone will be able to testify, at the close of 1925, as to whether Paul Hawse has been guilty of contributing to the hypocrisy or is responsible for the saintship of forty-three half-orphans of the Kiddie Koop.

When the Electric Club of Los Angeles gave its third Christmas party to the children of the Kiddie Koop, at the Biltmore yesterday, Mr. Howse, dressed in a suit of clothes borrowed from Kris Kringle, took the gifts from the Christmas tree and, with each presentation, inquired of the recipient "Are you going to be good every day next year?" The invariable reply was in the affirmative.

It was one of the happiest parties ever given the Kiddie Kooplans by the club, each of the fifteen boys and twenty-one girls receiving a pair of shoes, two pairs of stockings, a night gown, "undies" and various other gifts that will contribute to their comfort for months to come.

No one at the party was happier than Miss Edith Yeomans, superintendent of the Kiddie Koop, who, in a bus furnished by the Los Angeles Motorbus Company, accompanied the children to the hotel and escorted them back to the Koop.

Seeing Santa Claus with his head right in among the candles, one of the boys took it upon himself to shout a warning, thinking the good saint might burn his whiskers. However, Santa assured him that he had prepared the tree in co-operation with the Electric Club and that there was no danger from the magic candles. A delightful entertainment was furnished by Dorris Loomer, Floris Payne, Dorothy Day and Barbara Hansen, pupils of Mlle. Prager.

T. R. Bishop, president of the Kiddie Koop, took occasion to correct an erroneous report to the effect that the advisory board of the Koop had resigned and said that the board had been dissolved and the women who composed it had been added to the board of directors which consists of the following members:

Thomas R. Bishop, Jr., president; K. E. Van Kuran, first vice-president; Maurice De Mond, second vice-president; Joe Toplitzky, treasurer; William W. Bearman, secretary; Dr. Donald W. Skeel, medical director; Sid Grauman, W. W. Mines, Alan E. Morphy, R. H. Ballard, R. P. Gage, Mrs. Annie Berdoe, Mrs. Thaddeus Bunch, Mme. Anna C. Dowdall, Miss J. M. Fosdick, Mrs. William Lee Karnes, Mrs. Force Parker.

Held in Shooting Here; Wanted by Spokane Police

Two men out of seven persons nabbed in a raid Saturday as asserted members of a gang involved in the shooting of Police Officer Carney, were identified by Spokane police yesterday as a pair wanted there for the robbery of a home of $8000 worth of clothing, jewelry and household goods, word received last night by police stated.

The two men are Raphael Richards and Fred Johnson. Both are said to have jail records in the northern city.

According to advices from Spokane, William Frank Leamonne, another of the men under arrest here, served a jail term in Spokane on a larceny charge.

The gang was rounded up in a garage at 329 Winston street by members of the police robbery squad. Police are continuing the investigation into the activities of the persons held.

PRODUCE MERCHANT SUES FOR DAMAGES

A. Raphael, produce merchant, yesterday brought suit for $100,000 damages against John Doe Bernard for asserted slander, declaring Bernard termed him a crook in a conversation with one of his employees. Raphael also filed suit for $200,000 damages against Zena C. Seabrook, alleging the latter swore to a complaint charging the plaintiff with larceny of a carload of apples valued at $869. Raphael asserted the charge was dismissed in Justice Forbes's court the 19th inst.

Stage Promoter Takes Poison on Street Corner

Harvey Kaplow, 32 years of age, a theatrical promoter living at the Barbara Hotel, attempted to end his life yesterday by swallowing poison, while standing at the corner of Seventh street and Union avenue.

Pedestrians noticed his condition and summoned police. At the Receiving Hospital, where he was taken, he was questioned by police surgeons and detectives as to the motive which prompted his act.

"You'll never know," was his response.

Asked if it was a love affair which caused him to swallow the poisonous tablets, he replied: "Well, you might call it that."

His condition is critical.

DECKERT HEARING SET

Suspect in Power Slaying Given Four Days in which to Plead

Matthew Deckert appeared in Judge Crail's court yesterday during argument in the Kid McCoy trial for arraignment on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Walter W. Power. Judge Crail gave Deckert until the 26th inst. to enter his plea and appointed Public Defender Aggeler to represent him.

Deckert was indicted for the murder of Power, automobile salesman and former Mexicali saloon owner, who was shot and killed in his automobile near Fourth street and Commonwealth avenue on the 13th inst.

CLUB TO BE DEDICATED AT ARMORY

Infantry Officers to Hold Christmas Dinner Tonight at Exposition Park

Dedication of the Officers' clubrooms of the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, California National Guard, and the annual Christmas dinner of the regiment's officers and their guests will take place in the State Armory, Exposition Park, tonight. The soldiers will also celebrate the birthday anniversary of Col. Walter P. Story, who commands the regiment and who provided the means to outfit the clubrooms in the armory. Approximately 300 officers and their guests are expected.

The new club will be open to families of the officers on Tuesday nights, the drill nights of the regiment.

The One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry grew out of the old Fremont Rifles, which later became the Eagle Corps and then the Seventh Infantry at the time of the Spanish-American War and the Mexican border trouble. When it was reorganized into a Federal unit for World War service it became the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry and as a part of the Fortieth Division made a glorious overseas service record. Its strength is approximately 1400. Three of its companies are located outside Los Angeles. Company H is in Pasadena, Company F in Santa Ana and Company I in Burbank.

DR. PARRISH IS FINALLY CONFIRMED

Installed as Health Chief After Month of Undoing Legal Tangles

"Off-again, on-again, gone-again Finnegan" had nothing on Dr. George Parrish, formerly health officer of Portland, Or., who, after waiting a month and straightening out one legal tangle after another, was yesterday finally confirmed by the City Council as Health Commissioner to succeed the late Dr. L. M. Powers.

Dr. Parrish took the oath of office yesterday afternoon and this morning will assume his duties. His first appointment by Mayor Cryer was to have taken effect on the 4th inst., but this appointment "did not take," as Dr. Parrish lacked the necessary license to practice medicine in California. The entire membership of the Board of Medical Examiners had to be polled by mail and their votes returned to Sacramento before the license could be issued. In the meantime, things were at "sixes and sevens" in the health department, so the Mayor appointed Dr. Giles S. Porter as temporary Health Commissioner and then, when Dr. Parrish's license arrived from Sacramento, Dr. Porter resigned and Dr. Parrish was reappointed.

The Council has wrangled over confirmation ever since and finally at the eleventh hour yesterday Councilman Sanborn asked for additional time. The Council took a recess while the Councilmen argued with Councilman Sanborn in President Workman's office.

Sanborn returned and voted with the other five Councilmen for confirmation of Dr. Parrish. Councilmen Baker and Musbet voted "No," both saying that they had no personal objection to Dr. Parrish, but that they did object to the Mayor's sending to Portland for a health commissioner when there were competent physicians in Los Angeles. Both Councilmen said that they would work with Dr. Parrish, after it was seen that he would be confirmed. Councilman Baker, however, denounced the Council's action in taking a recess in order to argue Councilman Sanborn into voting for confirmation.

CHINA SEEN AS INHERENT DEMOCRACY

Thwarting of Dr. Sun is Cited by Speaker at "Y;" Basic Soundness Told

Dr. Sun Yat Sen's thwarted ambition to become Emperor of China is sufficient proof of the fact that the people of that great country are determined to govern themselves along democratic lines, according to the opinion expressed by Dr. David Z. T. Yui, secretary of Y.M.C.A. work in China, in an address given yesterday before a representative group of Los Angeles citizens at the Y.M.C.A.

"The Chinese political situation is a sort of Chinese puzzle," said Dr. Yui. "China is both united and divided. The people are united in their desire for a strong Federal government, based on the policy of State's rights, while the division among them is to be laid at the door of the war lords whose selfishness and, sometimes mistaken zeal, obstructs unification of organization."

Dr. Yui, who was graduated from Harvard and who represented China's chambers of commerce at the Disarmament Conference, declared that, in spite of politics and war, China is commercially sound.

Discussing "Y" work in China, the speaker said that remarkable progress is being made in forty walled cities in the republic. Three years of work in the educational department of the Y.M.C.A., he said, has resulted in perfecting a system which enables the average Chinese youth to master, in four months, the 1000 most used characters in the root-language of the nation.

"The unity of our people in ethical and religious matters is well known," said Dr. Yui. "We can, with strong probability of full success, undertake any constructive movement on a nation-wide basis through the mediumship of the Y.M.C.A."

SISTERS' ATTACK ON BROWN WILL FAILS

No undue influence was used to persuade Phillip M. Brown to sign a will leaving most of his $15,000 estate to Mrs. Dora Heady, with whom he had boarded several years, Judge J. Perry Wood yesterday ruled, granting a motion for a nonsuit of the contest of the will brought by two sisters, Martha A. Caron and Jennie Castle. The sisters were requeathed only $100 each.

It was shown that Brown had not seen one of the sisters for twenty years, and that Mrs. Heady had given up her work to nurse him during his last sickness.

KIDDIES TO FROLIC TONIGHT

Shrine to Entertain Thousands at Ambassador Tree and Distribute Food and Sweets

Thousands of children will be entertained tonight at a big Christmas tree party to be given at the Ambassador auditorium, Ambassador Hotel grounds, by Al Malaikah Shrine Temple. Many unique features for the entertainment program are being arranged by James W. Jump, chairman of the committee in charge of the event.

In addition to the distribution of gifts from the huge tree the children will be provided with sandwiches, fruit and candies. The guests are requested to enter the auditorium from the Eighth-street side. Special details of police and firemen will help handle the throngs.

The children will be required to have tickets of admission, which have been distributed by their school-teachers, who will accompany them to and from the auditorium. Car fare will be provided by Al Malaikah Temple.

Motley H. Flint, chairman of the Shrine relief committee, which has established headquarters in the Belmont Hotel, 251 South Hill street, under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Morrison, has completed arrangements for the distribution tomorrow of clothing, household articles, toys and baskets of footstuffs to needy Los Angeles families.

Chairman Flint emphasized last night that more donations for this work will be required. These donations may be sent today and tomorrow to the headquarters. Thousands of cases of distress among the poor have been reported to the committee this year.

Los Angeles Railway service over West Ninth street between Vermont avenue and Harvard Boulevard will be provided by busses after 7 p.m. on account of the large number of street cars that will be in special use carrying children from all parts of the city to the Shriners' party. The busses will operate on approximately a ten-minute headway.

McIntyres' Surrender to Answer Charge of Using Mails to Defraud; Two Projects Involved

Claude E. McIntyre and George W. McIntyre, Long Beach real-estate dealers, were each released under $10,000 bond yesterday when they surrendered themselves to the United States Marshal to answer to a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

The two were indicted by the Federal grand jury last Friday on information relating to the promotion of the Huntington Mutual Oil & Gas Syndicate and the McIntyre Brothers Royalty Syndicate No. 2 in 1921 and 1922. The case was presented by Charles L. Nichols, special assistant to the United States Attorney-General.

According to Nichols, the McIntyres sold oil lots and oil units for approximately $1,050,000. The indictment rests on charges of misrepresentations in the sale of the property.

MISSTATEMENTS SEEN

In the promotion of the Huntington Mutual Oil & Gas Syndicate, sixty acres of land about two miles northeast of the Huntington Beach oil field were purchased by the defendants, according to the indictment. It is asserted this property was divided into about 2900 lots which were sold at about $300 each. One well was sunk on the property to a depth of 4500 feet but no oil was obtained, it is said.

Among the misrepresentations charged in the indictment are one that the property was in the heart of the Huntington Beach Oil field and one that the element of gamble had been eliminated from the project so that the royalties reserved to the purchasers of the lots were the "safest, surest, steadiest, biggest dividend-paying interests in the world."

The information presented to the grand jury showed, according to Atty. Nichols, that the purchasers of the 2900 lots were to share in 25 per cent of the oil. That guarantee, it was shown, meant that more than $2,000,000 worth of oil would have to be produced before the lot purchasers would secure a return of their original investment.

It is charged also that the asserted misrepresentations included the mailing of misleading information in the form of letters and circulars sent to prospective buyers.

Practically the same charges are made as to the promotion of the McIntyre Brothers Royalty Syndicate No. 2, a project launched by the defendants while lots in the first project were being sold. The second project, it is charged, centered on the sale of about 2500 units representing an undivided interest in two and one-half acres of land in the heart of the Huntington Beach oil field and in 25 per cent of the oil to be obtained from five wells it was proposed to drill there. Those units were sold at about $300 each. It is asserted only two wells were drilled and that the promoters induced unit owners to release them from the agreement to drill the other three wells on asserted fraudulent representations that the unit holders would share in oil obtained either in the Santa Fe Springs field or at Signal Hill. The two wells averaged about fifty barrels of oil a day and the unit holders received two dividends of about $1 each, it is alleged.

Prior to forming the oil syndicates, the McIntyre brothers were in the bus business in Long Beach, according to Nichols. It is averred they used their busses in promoting the syndicates and that they irregularly charged this expense against the syndicates. The selling expenses for the two syndicates is said to have been from 40 to 50 per cent.

WOMEN AIR FIGHT IN COURT

A neighborhood row which ended in a free-for-all fist fight between three women landed in Police Court yesterday afternoon and according to the number of complaints which were filed before the court closed may remain there for some time.

The quarrel, according to testimony given in Police Judge Pope's court yesterday, started between Mrs. Robert Chuney of 1123½ North Normandie avenue and Mrs. J. W. Parker of 1121 North Normandie avenue. Mrs. H. E. Pittensberger, another neighbor, the third woman in the fight, stated in court that she became engaged in the general battle while attempting to separate the other two women.

Yesterday after hearing testimony from all three women Judge Pope found Mrs. Chuney guilty of battery and assessed a $25 fine. After paying the fine Mrs. Chuney at once swore to a complaint charging battery against Mrs. Pittensberger and Mrs. H. E. Glendinning, another neighbor, swore to a complaint charging Mrs. Parker with battery, naming Bobbie Chuney, 5 years of age, son of Mrs. Chuney, as the victim of the assault.

According to the testimony of yesterday the trouble started between Mrs. Chuney and Mrs. Parker over their respective sons, Mrs. Parker claiming under oath that Mrs. Chuney's son was "picking on her side of the case while in court, stated that Mrs. Parker had started the entire trouble herself, and that Bobbie was in no way to blame for the matter.

Mrs. Pittensberger stated that she saw Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Chuney engaged in a struggle and attempted to separate the women when she was attacked by Mrs. Chuney. She declared, while telling her side of the case while in court, that when Mrs. Chuney attacked her she defended herself and put her opponent to flight.

Judge Pope found Mrs. Chuney guilty as charged after hearing the testimony, and it was then that Mrs. Chuney, with Mrs. Glendinning, went to the City Prosecutor's office and swore out complaints against Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Pittensberger.

According to the complaint against Mrs. Parker, which was signed by Mrs. Glendinning, Mrs. Parker was seen by her to strike Mrs. Chuney's boy before the two women engaged in their struggle.

Young Receives Life Term for Covina Murder

William T. Young, convicted slayer of Mrs. Jennie Trewett of Covina, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday by Judge Hardy. He filed oral notice of appeal and has five days in which to file formal notice.

Young, a middle-aged widower with five children, sought to persuade Mrs. Trewett, who worked in a packing-house near Covina, to leave her husband and elope with him. She refused and he shot her, then fled, bade good-by to his children and announced he was going into a canyon to kill himself but changed his mind and was captured by deputy sheriffs.

On the stand Young admitted shooting Mrs. Thewett, but declared he did so in self-defense when she pulled a pistol from his pocket and threatened him with it. The jury found him guilty Friday of first-degree murder with a recommendation for mercy. Dep. Dist.-Attys. Jordan and Works conducted the prosecution.

HUNDREDS MADE GLAD BY SANTA

Saint Nick Appears at First Methodist Church

Candy, Fruits and Sweater Given Each Guest

Festivities Started With Christmas Dinner

Santa Claus arrived in Los Angeles last night for more than 600 children who were guests of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at its annual Christmas party.

In full regalia, with his huge pack on his back, he took his place by the giant Christmas tree where, for more than an hour he dispensed happiness in the form of gifts to every boy and girl. There was candy and nuts; fruit, popcorn and other goodies, all given away in great paper shopping bags. But the crowning gifts that elicited many shouts of joy were the heavy wool sweaters, in a great variety of colors, one of which was given to each child present.

While the beautifully decorated tree and the dispensing of the presents were the big events of the evening's entertainment for the kiddies, there were plenty of other surprises. The children began gathering at the church edifice at Eighth and Hope at 6 o'clock, every one being supplied with automobile transportation furnished by the church members. A short reception at which the pastor, Dr. E. Helms and Dr. H. W. Brodbeck, superintendent of the church Sunday-school were introduced, opened the program. Then followed the Christmas dinner. At great long tables in the social hall, with the Sunday-school Orchestra providing music, children of every creed and color ate until they could hold no more.

Following the dinner the kiddies were entertained by an organ recital, the singing of Christmas carols and Dr. Helms telling the Christmas story. Many feats of magic by George Shugarn and numerous impersonations by John Van Pelt met with great approval.

Then came the great events—Santa Claus, the Christmas tree and the presents.

The children were gathered from hundreds of schools in the city through the co-operation of the school authorities and officials of the Parent-Teachers' Association. The event is an annual affair with the church for the needy children of the city and all departments of the church joined in making the party a success.

Glendale Wins Point in Fight on Speed Case

The demurrer of the Glendale Police Court and Police Judge Lewe to the suit for a writ of prohibition brought by Edgar F. Hughes, an attorney, to prevent the Glendale court from prosecuting a speeding charge against him, was sustained in an opinion handed down yesterday by Judge Shaw of Superior Court.

Hughes's suit attacked the validity of the speed tag on the ground it failed to set forth specifically the nature of his asserted offense as provided for in the Motor Vehicle Act.

Judge Shaw, in giving Hughes ten days in which to file an amended petition, partially upheld this contention, stating in his opinion that the tag handed Hughes by the arresting officer left him in the dark as to the nature of Hughes's asserted offense. The court held, however, that Hughes's petition did not accurately raise this issue.

ANGELENOS BEATEN IN BURMA SAIL HOME

PROF. GLEASON AND WIFE STILL SUFFERING FROM WOUNDS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Prof. P. R. Gleason and Mrs. Gleason, American Baptist missionaries who were severely beaten by a mob at Rangoon, Burma, in October, arrived here today, bound for home. They will sail Friday on the Aquitania.

The voyage from India restored them to almost normal health although Mrs. Gleason, a former Boston girl, still is suffering from shock. Her head bears two scars where she was struck by her attackers who felled her twice while her husband, with only an umbrella for a weapon, endeavored to beat them off.

Prof. Gleason said there was no anti-American nor anti-Christian motive in the attack.

Four Buddhist priests involved in the attack were given heavy jail sentences last month. The assault was said to be intended as retaliation on the English for the raiding by the police of an illegal meeting of Buddhist priests.

SILVER RISE BOOMS PERU PRODUCTION

Visiting Mining Man Says Yearly Exports Amount to $20,000,000

The recent rise in the price of silver has given an impetus to the production of that metal in Peru, according to T. Colley, English engineer in charge of sundry mines at La Oroya in that country, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday on his vacation and is at the Biltmore.

"Peruvian silver exports now amount to nearly $20,000,000 annually, most of which goes to England and the rest to the United States," Mr. Colley said. "The mines with which I am connected are situated at an elevation of more than 9000 feet. The workmen are all Indians, and only individuals with perfectly sound lungs can be employed, owing to the high altitude. The Peruvian Indian is an efficient laborer."

He added that the altitude of the mines at La Oroya is only a little more than half that of some of the other silver-producing centers, which run up to 15,000 and 16,000 feet.

"In these high altitudes there is not only rarified atmosphere to contend with, but also the cold," he said. "In some places the mining operations are conducted in close proximity to perpetual snow. In the lower altitudes the climate of Peru is very pleasant, resembling that of Southern California in the central section, though variations in temperature are greater in the extreme southern part of the country."

A large part of the surface of Peru is extremely rough, the only part capable of cultivation being in the valleys, Mr. Colley said.

"As for deserts, I believe Peru can boast of the most desolate wastes on the surface of the earth," he declared. "Your Mojave here is opulent in vegetation compared with some of the Peruvian deserts, sections where it does not rain more than once in forty or fifty years."

THE NEW MODESTY

Dr. Benjamin Lloyd McLeod, the Baltimore biologist, said in a recent lecture:

"Athletics has made woman healthier and comelier. It has also given her a new standard of modesty.

"Athletics, with its swimming suits and riding breeches and so on, has created in woman's breast the idea that it is only immodest to reveal what is ugly.

"An old-fashioned woman said to her new-fashioned daughter:

"'Yes, darling, that ball gown is beautiful, but don't you think you ought to wear a petticoat or something under it?'

"'What for? I'm not deformed.'"—[Exchange.

MISSIONARIES THREATENED

Anti-Christian Elements in China Plan Attacks on Celebrations; Raids Disclose Moscow's Hand

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 22.—American and other foreign missionaries throughout China are considerably disturbed by plans which are being made in practically all parts of northern and Central China for a monster anti-Christian demonstration on Christmas Day.

In Shanghai the anti-Christian elements are planning a three-day convention to begin on Christmas Day and have imported an important agnostic lecturer. In Hangchow an attempt will be made to break up a Christmas Day function planned by the Y.M.C.A. and also a celebration organized by missionaries and Chinese Christians to celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of the church in Hangchow.

STUDENTS STRIKE

Students at an important college at Changsha have gone on strike, demanding the discontinuance of religious teaching and the abolition of compulsory chapel attendance.

There will be a demonstration in Ningpo taking the form of parades, with banners denouncing Christian missionaries and with the distribution of anti-Christian literature.

SOVIET SUSPECTED

The fact that most of the literature distributed attacks the missionaries as the agents of the imperialist powers leads most observers to believe that the movement has inspiration in Moscow and is financed by the soviet as part of its campaign to drive westerners out of China and bring China's millions into the realm of Communism.

A leading Chinese for several months has been inclosing a leaflet in each issue denouncing Christian missionaries and christianity and telling the Chinese that missionaries are trying to enslave them for the capitalist West. In the last week the municipal police here raided the local university and found evidence of contributions for the support of the school and its 600 students by Moscow.

INSURGENTS WILL LOSE PATRONAGE

President to Take Notice of Senate Action in Award of Political Posts

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—President Coolidge, through dispensation of patronage, is recognizing the action of the Republican Senate conference in reading out of the party Senators La Follette of Wisconsin, Ladd and Frazier of North Dakota and Brookhart of Iowa, because of their allegiance in the recent campaign to the La Follette cause.

The President never has expressed publicly his views on the action of the Senate Republicans, but it was made known today at the White House that he is prepared to take notice of this action when it comes to making appointments in North Dakota and Iowa.

Senator Brookhart's advice on Iowa appointments never has been asked to any great extent, both President Harding and Coolidge having confined their requests for recommendations to Senator Cummins and the Republican House leaders.

NEW NAVAL NOTE DENIED BY ENGLAND

Friendly Statement Sent Washington Ten Months Ago, Says London

BY JOHN STEELE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Great Britain has sent no new note to Washington on the elevation of guns or the conversion of warships from coal to oil burners. The only note sent was dispatched ten months ago, and this was described as a friendly statement of British views on the stipulations of the Washington treaty which it was expected would lead to discussion.

Washington did not answer the note, and so far as London knows nothing more has been done, although it is possible that informal discussions might have been held by the British naval attache at Washington and the American Navy Department since the recent initiation of a big naval campaign. Nothing is known here, however, to justify the statement that Great Britain has made any protest.

It is also denied that any new note has been sent on the inter-Allied war debts or the American claims for the occupation costs and it is not likely that anything more will be done until the Finance Ministers meet in Paris on January 6.

Bridge Hung from Trees

According to Popular Science, the longest suspension foot bridge in the world is across the Quenault River on the Olympic peninsula in Washington State. The bridge is two feet wide and 994 feet long. It is supported at each end by giant fir trees growing on either side of the river. From these are stretched the wire cables holding up the bridge. The cables are also supported by a center pier fifty-four feet high and resting on rocks in the river bed. This peculiar structure was made for the use of farmers who found it difficult to cross the river with boats in the spring when freshets are high.—[Pathfinder.

DONATES MONEY OF DEAD CHILD

The savings of a child now dead came to the aid of living children yesterday. They had been treasured as a remembrance by her mother but the Christmas Seal appeal brought them forth with a letter to Mrs. J. J. A. "I had bought Christmas seals but seeing your appeal in the newspapers I have taken the enclosed money from the small pocketbook of my little daughter, whom I lost. I only wish I could send more to such a worthy cause."

The association depends on seal sales to take care of a budget of $50,000, used for welfare and educational work in connection with tuberculosis.

FRESNO TAR ACCUSED OF BLACKMAIL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—An alleged attempt to extort $50,000 from Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and $20,000 from Philip Rhinelander was frustrated tonight, police said, by the arrest of Bern Sierro, a 20-year-old sailor from Fresno, Cal. Sierro, police said, was the author of threatening letters received last week by Mrs. Vanderbilt and Mr. Rhinelander, which threatened to "take action accordingly" if the money should not be delivered to him as directed.

The letters contained the closing advice:

"No explosives in the package now and no tricks."

Other statements contained in the letters were not made public.

Sierro was taken into custody tonight after he had accepted a package of marked bills from a 15-year-old boy impersonating a messenger who was followed by detectives.

The letter to Mrs. Vanderbilt was mailed at the Hudson Terminal on the 17th inst. and was received next day at the Vanderbilt home in Fifth avenue. It was addressed to "Madame Vanderbilt" and demanded the $50,000.

The letter directed Mrs. Vanderbilt to deliver the money to "Mr. Edmund Harrisburg" at the Battery. The letter to Mr. Rhinelander, addressed to the Rhinelander home in West Forty-eighth street, was delivered the same day. It was signed "Robert Hartley" and was phrased the same as the Vanderbilt letter.

SURVIVORS IN POISON FOOD CASE IMPROVED

WOMAN MOST SERIOUSLY ILL IS PRONOUNCED TO BE OUT OF DANGER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—No further deaths are feared in the food poisoning case at Vallejo, which on Sunday evening caused the death of Mrs. Alma McBride and the serious illness of another woman, a man and three children.

Mrs. Donald Drury, the most seriously ill, was today pronounced out of danger by Dr. C. A. Snoddy, attending physician, and Chief Machinist's Mate S. H. McBride, husband of the dead woman, Lorraine and Robert McBride, his children, and 10-year-old Donald Drury, Jr., were almost completely recovered.

Mrs. McBride's stomach and brain were received today at the State hygienic laboratory, University of California, for analysis, and Dr. Charles Halliday, epidemiologist of the State Board of Health, went to Vallejo to make an official investigation into the poisoning. Dr. Wilfred H. Kellogg, president of the State Board of Health, is supervising the analysis of the dead woman's organs. It will be the latter part of this week before an official announcement of the board's findings will be made public, he said.

ECONOMY PROGRAM

NAVAL OFFICERS OPEN LEAK QUIZ

Board of Inquiry Meets in Secret Session

Disclosure of Confidential Matter Sifted

Report Two Captains to be Called by Body

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Acting on orders from Secretary of the Navy Wilbur a board of inquiry met behind closed doors in the Brooklyn navy yard today to fix responsibility for the recent "leak" at the Naval War College, Newport, concerning the nation's naval program.

It was reported on good authority that Capt. Hugo Osterhaus, son of Rear-Admiral Osterhaus, retired, and Capt. Robert L. Berry, would be called before the board.

The information causing the investigation was in extracts of letters, supposedly from officers at the War College, given to newspapers by William B. Shearer, who has announced that he accepted sole responsibility for the publication of them. They aroused agitation over the scrapping of the battleship Washington under the naval limitation treaty.

In other letters, it is explained, information concerning the war game at Newport was disclosed which, in the opinion of Secretary Wilbur, should "have been treated as confidential."

Capt. Orton B. Jackson, formerly director of naval communications at Washington and now commandant of the training station at Newport, is chairman of the board by reason of his position as senior officer. Lieutenant-Commander Spencer S. Lewis, of the Third Naval District is judge advocate.

"As the inquiry is secret, I cannot tell what took place today, or reveal the names of witnesses to be called," he said after the preliminary sessions.

The two other members of the board are Capt. Andre M. Proctor, formerly commander of the battleship Texas, now president of the General Court-Martial Board for the Third Naval District and Capt. G. L. P. Stone, commanding the receiving ship at New York.

The board will reconvene tomorrow morning.

Library Shy on Dictionaries in Puzzles Craze

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—A dictionary shortage faces the New York Public Library as a result of the demands by cross-word puzzle fans, it was said today by H. M. Lydenberg, chief reference librarian.

There are 150 English dictionaries in the library, and it is estimated that upward of 500 persons seek their use.

Dictionaries in the main reading room henceforth will be lent only to those who wish to use them "for legitimate reference purposes," it was said.

"We have arrived at the deplorable state where it is necessary to bar the cross-word puzzle fans from using our dictionaries," Mr. Lydenberg said. "Either that or we will have to order more dictionaries."

Crop Production Lagging Behind Population Gain

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Crop production in the United States is not keeping pace with population increases, the Department of Agriculture said today in a summary. Although production has increased 18 per cent in twelve years, per capita production has decreased 5 per cent.

Expressed in an index figure, the production for 1924 was 113 compared with 110 for 1923 and 100 for the prewar period 1910-14. The per capita index figure for 1924 was 95 compared with 94 for last year and 100 for the prewar period.

Marks on the road indicated that the automobile had skidded over the edge of the grade.

QUIT FIGHT ON NEW PARK BILL

Pine Flat Ranchers Agree to Pending Legislation

Tulare County Considers New Government Bill

Plan Yule Time Frolic at Sanatorium

VISALIA, Dec. 22.—Word of a reported pact between the Pine Flat irrigationists and Congressman Henry Barbour, which promises to permit reintroduction of the proposed enlarged Sequoia National Park measure at this season of Congress, has been received here. This bill has been before the national Legislature for some years, but has not been pressed because of disagreement in the home communities.

The Pine Flat promoters were the strongest in opposition to the proposed enlargement, fearing Federal control would ruin water rights. It is declared that under the agreement a paragraph will be added to the bill whereby the water rights in the new boundaries will be reserved solely for farm irrigation needs.

DISCUSS LAW NEEDS

VISALIA, Dec. 22.—Suggested changes in the Tulare county government bill were discussed by the Tulare county grand jury and Supervisors in a closed session. The grand jurors pointed out that if any changes were to be suggested by the grand jury itself, these changes should be forthcoming at an early date in view of the opening of the Legislature on January 5.

Like those in other counties, the Tulare county Supervisors discussed a change in the State law whereby county officers might be granted extra help during their term of office and also discussed the traffic law, being of the opinion that the Supervisors should have more control over the traffic officers than at present.

CHRISTMAS CHEER

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 22.—Patients of the Tulare-Kings County Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Springville are looking forward to Christmas. Each year they are remembered kindly by residents of the valley communities as well as by residents of the foothills. Useful gifts, candy and fruits are always received. G. U. Wray of Springville is bringing in a huge Christmas tree for the social hall as well as smaller trees for the wards and other evergreens to be used in decorating.

On Wednesday afternoon, an entertainment will be given for the patients, Rev. L. A. Wood of Porterville in charge. The choir of the Springville church will furnish special music. Gifts have been provided by the women's clubs of the county, the Elks lodge and others. These will be taken from the tree by Santa Claus.

Residents of various sections of the county have donated generously of their canned fruits, preserves and other delicacies for the sanatorium. The Porterville Morning Messenger is sponsoring a movement to secure 500 jars additional fruit for the patients.

SHOTGUN SQUAD

TULARE, Dec. 22.—A "shotgun squad" has been inaugurated by the local police department to give complete all-night protection to the residential section of the city. The motor patrol officer is on duty until midnight, after which an officer in an automobile and armed with a sawed-off shotgun will patrol the residential districts. Citizens who are abroad during the "wee sma hours" are advised to halt immediately if they are called upon for questioning.

CRACK LINER IS BATTERED BY HIGH SEAS

Columbus Makes New York After Anchor is Broken in Two by Gale

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—With a number of ventilators and port lights missing and half of a ten-ton anchor somewhere behind her in Davy Jones's locker, the Columbus, flagship of the North German Lloyd, limped into port today covered with ice. She bore 1225 passengers, most of them Americans returning for the holidays.

Capt. N. Johnson told reporters his ship took the worst battering he had ever experienced in his years on the Atlantic. Last Thursday, he said, he ordered the passengers to remain inside while green seas pounded the Columbus on her starboard side and a gale swept down from the northwest.

One sea that shook the giant ship like a terrier shaking a rat severed the ten-ton iron anchor on the starboard bow and its lower portion dropped into the sea. Even the crew became "leery" at this demonstration of the sea's anger.

WEDDING VALID JURY EXCUSE

Coming Nuptials Secure Man's Release By Texas Judge

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex) Dec. 22.—Prospective bridegrooms whose nuptials are near ought not be locked up in a jury room or compelled to sit in the trial of a case that might serve to postpone the eventful day. That was the ruling made by Judge W. W. McCrory of the Ninety-fourth District Court during the selection of a jury to try Fred McKenzie on a charge of Houston street.

John Reinhardt was among the number asking to be excused. He told the court he was to be married soon.

"This man's going to be married soon," Judge McCrory told counsel for both sides. "I'm going to excuse him."

LONE WOLF IS NINE-YEAR BOY

Criminal With Thirty "Jobs" to His Credit Found to be Mere Lad

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—With thirty burglaries to his credit a boy 9 years of age, at Nottingham, believes he has set up a record for other youngsters to shoot at. For eighteen months he was the lone burglar who has terrorized the city, raiding shops and smashing open the money tills. He was sent to an industrial school until he reaches 16. Then police will keep their eyes on him.

SPINS YARN OF PHANTOM GOLD MINES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WINNEMUCCA (Nev.) Dec. 22. Somewhere in the bleak Black Rock desert northwest of Winnemucca "where golden phantoms play," prospectors are seeking three gold-ribbed hills which vanish for unknown intervals after disclosing their treasures to wandering "desert rats." For years the existence of the hills has been well established and in 1909 Dr. Gould, manager of a gypsum plant near Reno, actually sampled the ore deposits and received assays ranging from $800 to $80,000 per ton from a Reno laboratory.

But his efforts to again locate the bonanza failed and determined exploration by scores of experienced prospectors since that time have failed to uncover a trace of the hills. New reports have reached Winnemucca that the elusive hills have been seen, and new hunters have ventured into the domain of the golden lure.

Mining engineers and old prospectors say the hills are probably buried by huge sand-drifts driven by the fierce winds which scourge the desert, and that a whim of Nature may sometime strip the treasures for the delight of a fortune desert rat, or perhaps some lucky tenderfoot.

Old-timers say that when the whites first came to this region one man learned the golden secret by falsely professing love for an Indian maiden. After she had shown him the treasure she learned he was planning to abandon her and escape to the nearest white settlement. Capturing him by surprise, she chained him to the golden ledge and left him to perish with the mocking coyotes wailing his death requiem. Some old desert wanderers say his spirit still guards the bonanza, and blinds seekers of the treasure with mirages.

False Pretense Arrest Follows Arson Acquittal

As he stepped from the courtroom where he had been acquitted on an arson charge, Dee Turner, 2241 Whittier Boulevard, was arrested by Detective Lieutenant Bruttig on a warrant from Pawhuska, Okla., charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses.

The complaint charges Turner obtained $750 from William Bryant of Oklahoma City for for an interest in the rights to the films "The Birth of a Nation" and "Betrayed Confidence" when Turner did not control an interest in the films. Turner was asserted to have told Bryant he was the agent of the Oklahoma Picture Corporation and that that company owned the rights to the films. Turner came to Los Angeles from Oklahoma about four months ago, it was said.

The charge on which Turner was tried yesterday was made in connection with a fire at 6569 South Vermont avenue.

Record Storms End Nevada Fear of New Dry Year

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RENO, Dec. 22.—Fears of another dry winter in Nevada have been dispelled by one of the coldest and stormiest Decembers ever recorded in the State. Snow fell to a depth of one to three feet over the greater portion of Nevada in the third week of December, followed by intense cold. Halleck, in the northeastern section of the State, recorded a new low temperature when the mercury dropped to 46 deg. below zero.

Rivers and streams are frozen in the northern counties from bank to bank, and several towns are threatened with a water shortage due to freezing of supply flumes and ditches. Indians and white pioneers are gleefully pointing out they predicted the present winter would be one of the worst recorded in Nevada for many years, and forecast abundant snow in the mountain regions.

Stuart Robson's Actress Widow Dies of Stroke

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Stuart Robson, member of the cast of "Rain," died suddenly here late today. Death followed a paralytic stroke suffered Sunday night.

Mrs. Robson was born in Hamilton, Ont., November 1, 1868, and later went to Chicago with her parents.

She became a member of St. Paul's choir and later joined a "Pinafore" company under her maiden name of May Waldron. After her marriage to Stuart Robson, a producer, she played regularly in his leading roles until his death in 1903. A son, Stuart Robson, New York, survives.

HOLIDAYS MAY QUIET JINGOES

War Talk Expected to Die in Congress Recess

Hughes's Comment on Envoy Pleases Japanese

Failure Seen for Britten's White Parley Bill

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The adjournment of Congress for the Christmas holiday period is expected to bring a lull in the intensive effort to excite apprehension in this country over Japan's attitude toward the United States.

Whether this effort will be revived when Congress reassembles just prior to the new year is not known, but sentiment here indicates it will not gain headway and the administration will be able to overcome the temporary embarrassment arising from the drive to create feeling against the Japanese government on the score that active preparations for war are being undertaken by Japan.

An excellent impression has been produced in Japan by the public statement of Secretary Hughes felicitating the Japanese government on the appointment of Tsueno Matsudairaas Ambassador to the United States.

At the same time jingoistic interests have taken advantage of the opportunity afforded by the resolution of Representative Britten by requesting the President to call a conference of white nations on the Pacific.

EXCITES JAPAN

This resolution apparently has produced more excitement in Japan than it has in the United States. Among Senators and Representatives here, including most of those hostile to Japanese immigration, it is well understood that the Britten resolution has not the slightest chance of adoption. It is looked upon in official and Congressional circles as a mere gesture intended to give substance to Representative Britten's agitation in favor of increasing the American naval forces.

For a week or more the air of Washington has been filled with rumors, evidently designed to make it appear Japan had hostile designs toward this country. Information from the best possible sources shows the Coolidge administration has not the slightest feeling of apprehension. In the knowledge that relations between Japan and the United States are excellent, in fact, better than they have been for years, officials do not care to discuss these rumors seriously. The most hopeful phase of the situation attempted to be produced by the circulation of these reports is that the Japanese authorities understand they are not countenanced by the Coolidge administration.

DENY SUGGESTION

Although officials decline to make any quoted statement concerning the reported declaration of Premier Kato of Japan that the United States government suggested that the United States fleet, during its contemplated cruise in Pacific waters, should be invited to visit Japanese ports, and that the Japanese government had politely refused to accept the suggestion, it is asserted here that no suggestion was made. The administration prefers to let the incident end with the communique from the Japanese Foreign Office explaining that the Premier was grossly misunderstood.

It is realized, however, that disquieting statements emanating both from Japanese and American sources, although unauthorized, might lay the foundation for a resumption of the friction that existed between the two governments and which had virtually disappeared when the recent agitation was begun.

OFFICIALS CONFIDENT

Friends of the President insist no ground exists for the impression sought to be created that the Washington administration has reason to believe that Japan is active in warlike preparations. They say there is not the smallest warrant for any statement that the administration suspects that Japan is not living up to the letter and spirit of the Washington treaty for the limitation of naval armament.

On the contrary, the Japanese government is credited with meticulously observing the provisions of the treaty. More than that, officials are confident that Japan is as anxious as the United States to see that the treaty is carried out by all the nations concerned.

CHILD LABOR BILL HIT BY FARM CHIEF

"The proposal to amend the Constitution so that 'Congress shall have power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age' is a proposal to Federalize the children of the United States. Such a policy would be welcomed by the Communists and Reds. The amendment goes too far. It suggests a dangerous extreme. I believe the regulation of child labor should be left to the States individually."

This was the essence of an address delivered last night before the City Club by S. T. Johnstone, president of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau. His subject was "The Case Against the Federal Child-Labor Amendment."

Last Tuesday night Miss Helen Todd, State factory inspector for Illinois, spoke before the City Club in behalf of the proposition.

Mr. Johnstone's talk evoked considerable discussion at the open forum, both for and against the amendment.

In arraigning the proposition he asserted that its terms include 27 per cent of the entire population of the country, or 40,000,000 persons; that it will act unfairly to the damage of the farming industry and that it has been condemned by prominent clergymen of all faiths, by educators and by civic organizations.
